Dashing from class to class, gulping down lunch, racing to work, smashing through five sets of tennis — all of these contributed to the hectic pace of Trojan Life. The school year throbbed with a flurry of activity that raised TROJAN FEVER to a new degree.

Summer vacation has ended and only fond memories and sunburns linger. Old friends, new teachers, and minute lockers greet the students as they prepare for another exciting school year. Sophomores, dressed in their finest attire, pretend to know exactly where they stand. Juniors, dressed as magazine models, stand around and act nonchalant. Seniors over-sleep and slump in late. By the end of the year, sophomores actually know their way around, junior wardrobes have reduced to flaps and jeans, and seniors just don't show up.

Funky ... Webster's Dictionary does not define it correctly, but every Trojan knew exactly what it meant.

As school progressed, pressures increased. To release our anxieties we discovered the technique of acting Funky.

What does Funky mean to you?

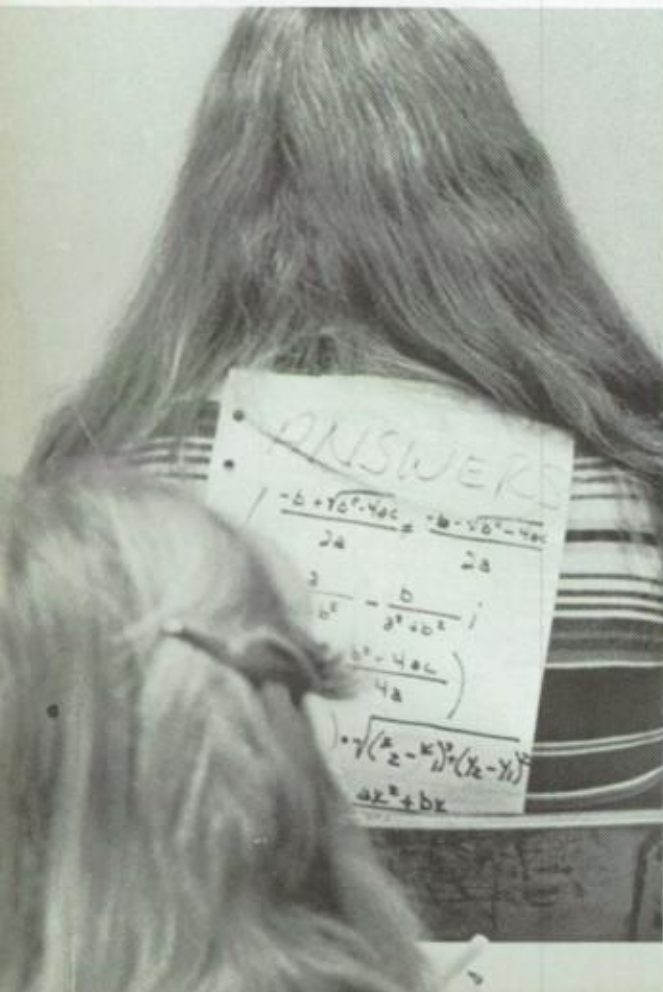

Everything has a beginning; everyone must start somewhere. The champion diver must take his first tentative steps off the high board before plunging into the unknown. Although our first experiences may fall short of our expectations, they serve as a part of growing and learning.

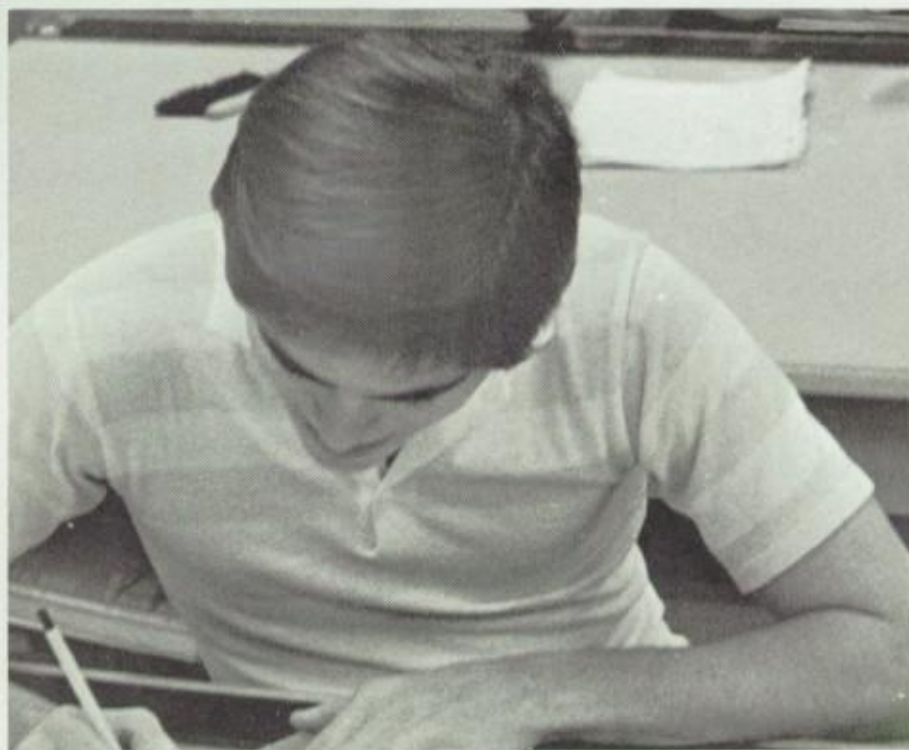

Studying three hours for a test, only to find it cancelled as the result of an assembly causes frustration. Some people handle this situation by not studying at all; others chalk it up to experience. Regardless of today's answers, tomorrow they will realize the importance of a high school education.

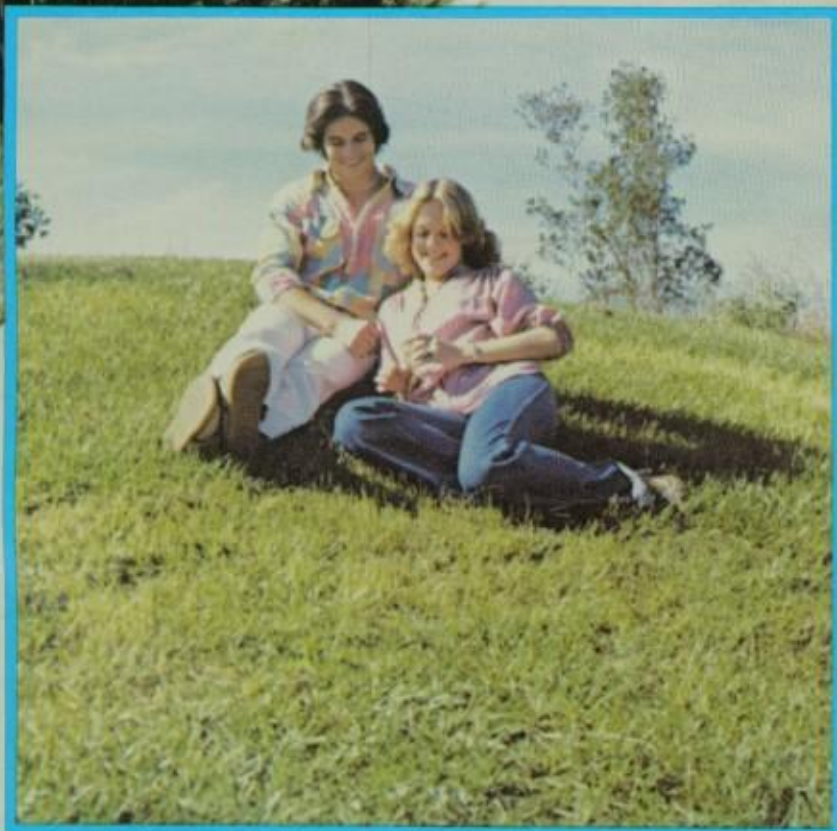

In preparing for the future, Evans' students combine courses and on-the-job training in order to gain experience for a career. Flipping hamburgers, popping popcorn, and selling balloons represent a few of the interesting and rewarding occupations available to the student who struggles to get ahead. ■

You meet, and something special happens. He can't get her out of his mind; she can't get him out of her heart. Adults call it puppy love. What do they know? This was made to last . . . forever.

o o o

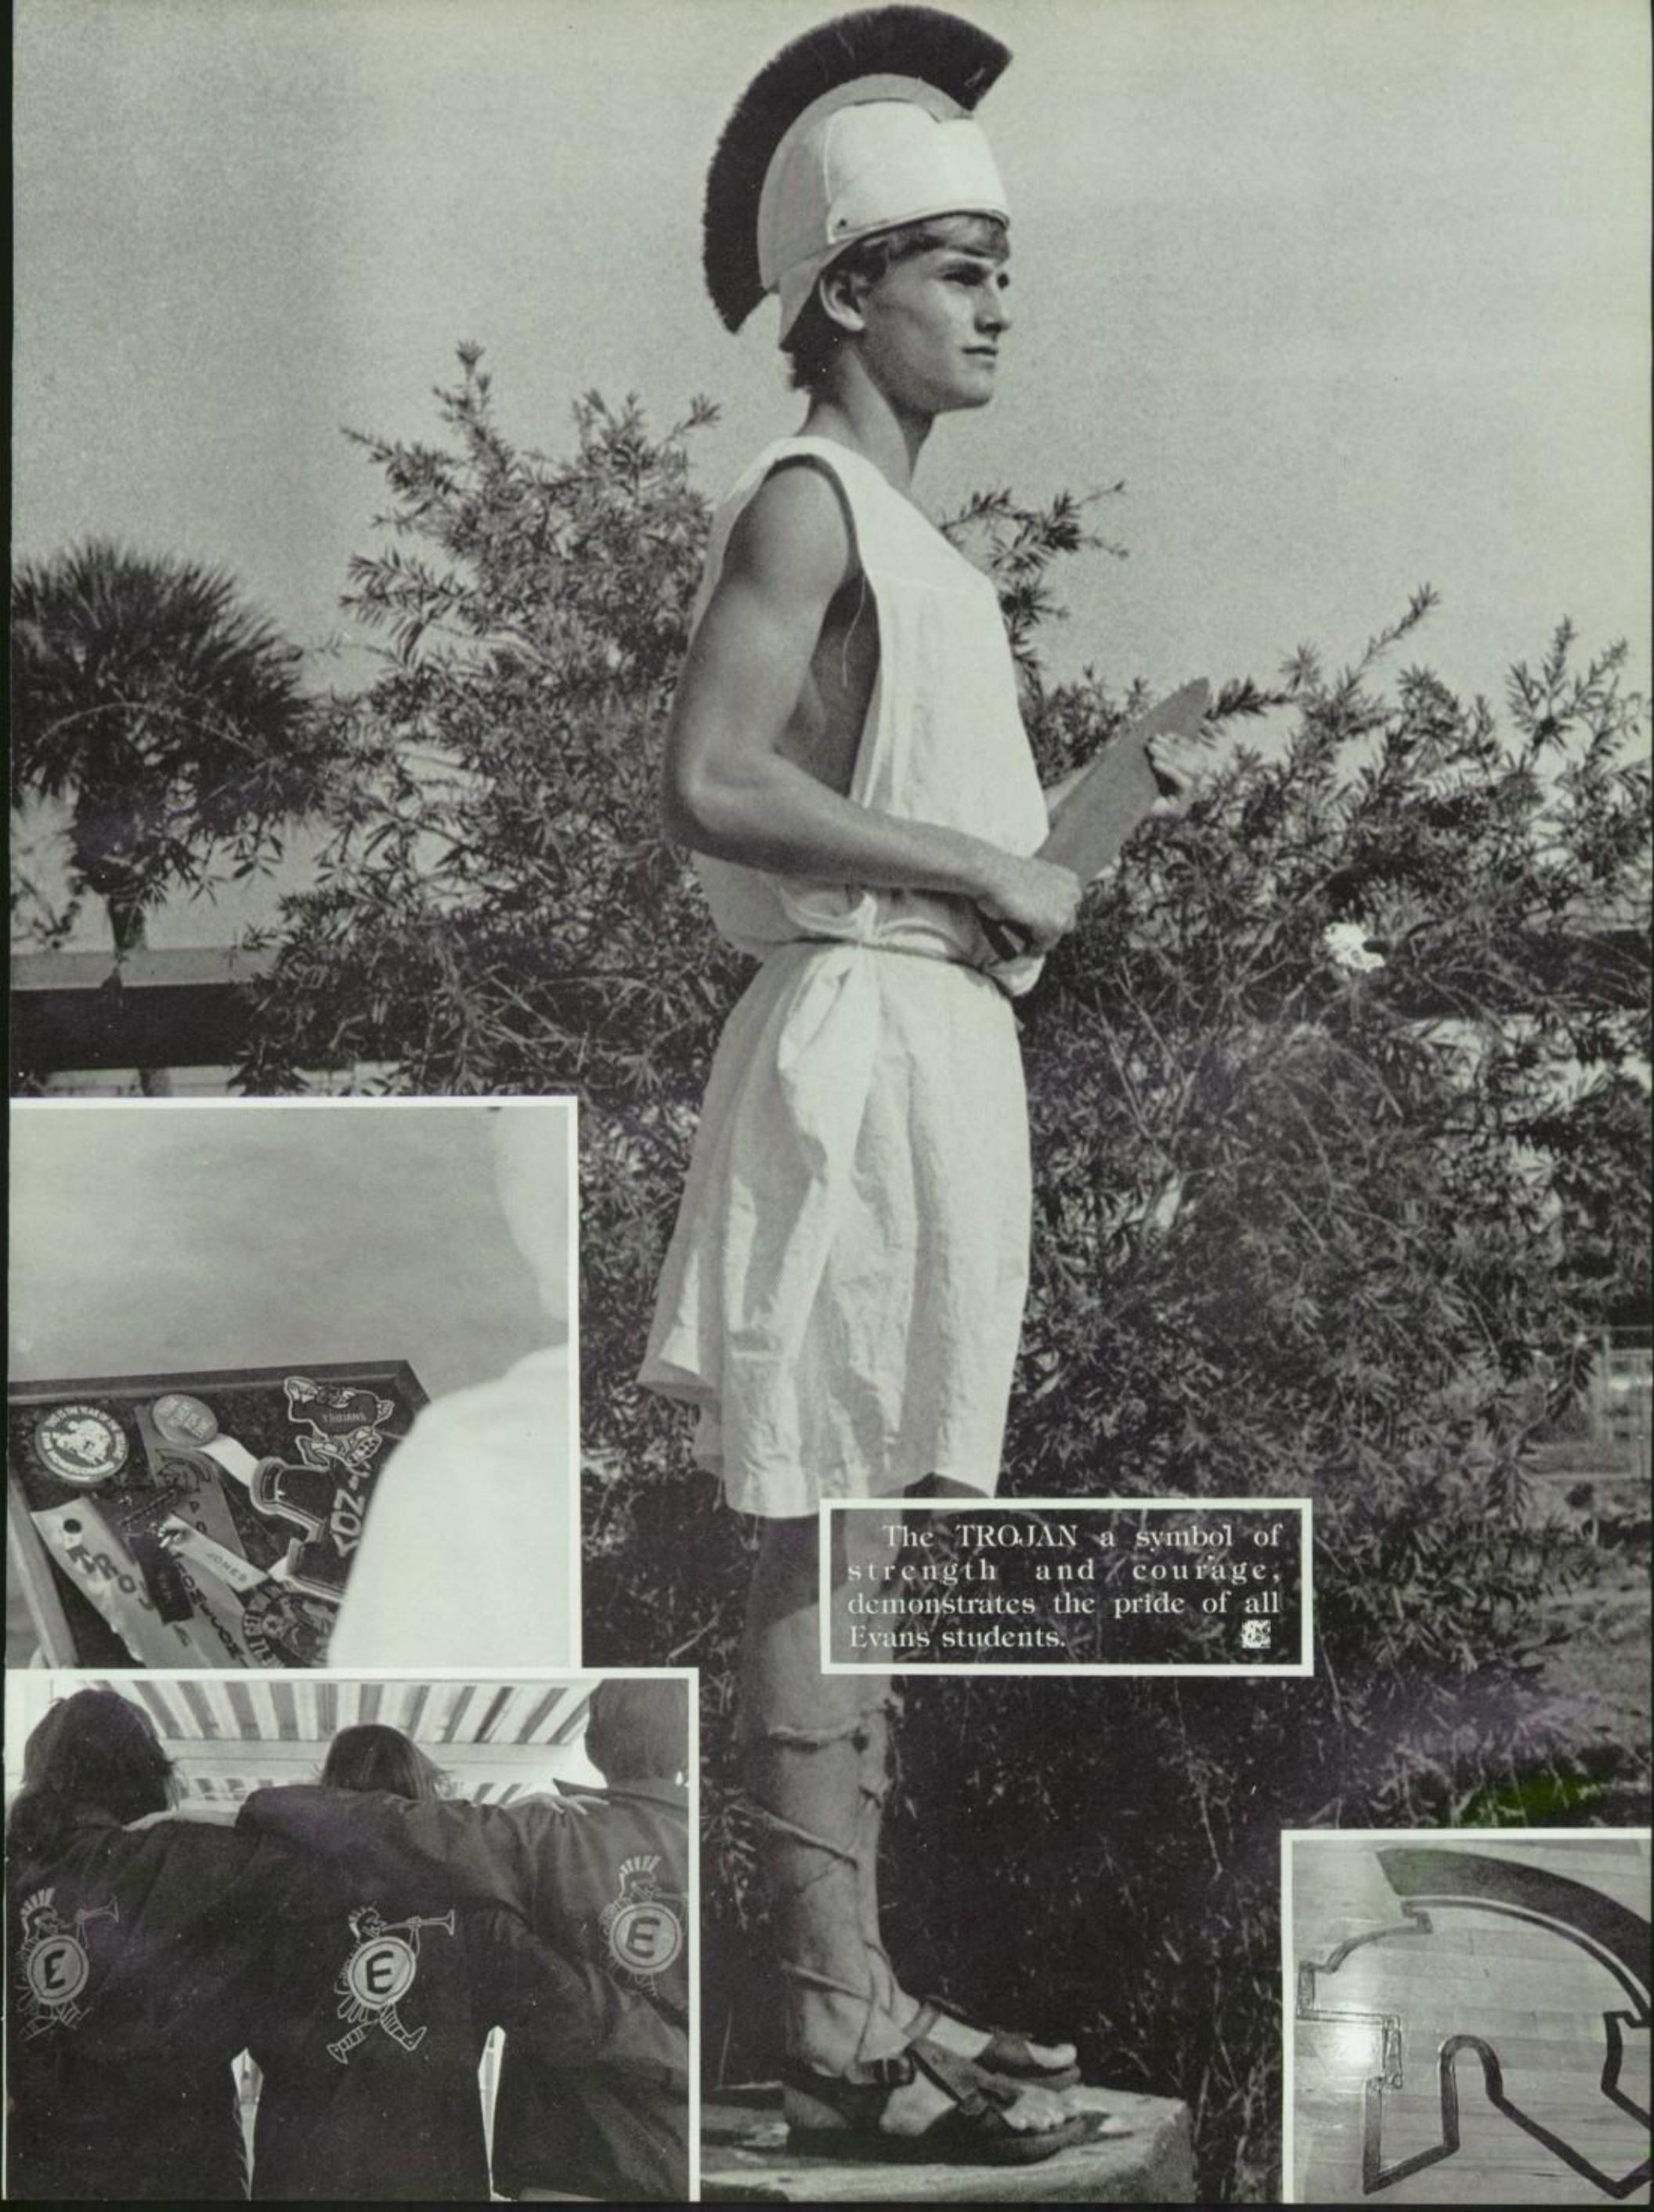

In a tough and always demanding world, dreams take you from your worries. You can relax and try to solve all the mysteries of the world. When you must return to reality, you can try to make your dreams come true.

Try twenty-two taste tempting treats to tantalize Trojan tastebuds.

The TROJAN a symbol of strength and courage, demonstrates the pride of all Evans students.

The lure of the unknown beckons us to embark on a series of mysterious adventures. The first steps may seem frightening but nonetheless call us forward. The sense of excitement draws us to the starting line. On your mark! Get set! Go!

Our beginnings shape the present and future. Whether our roots lie in the rural soil or a teeming city, we cannot deny their role in our lives. This heritage, no matter how humble, need not limit our horizons. It should lend incentive to our endeavors and credence to our aspirations for success and happiness.

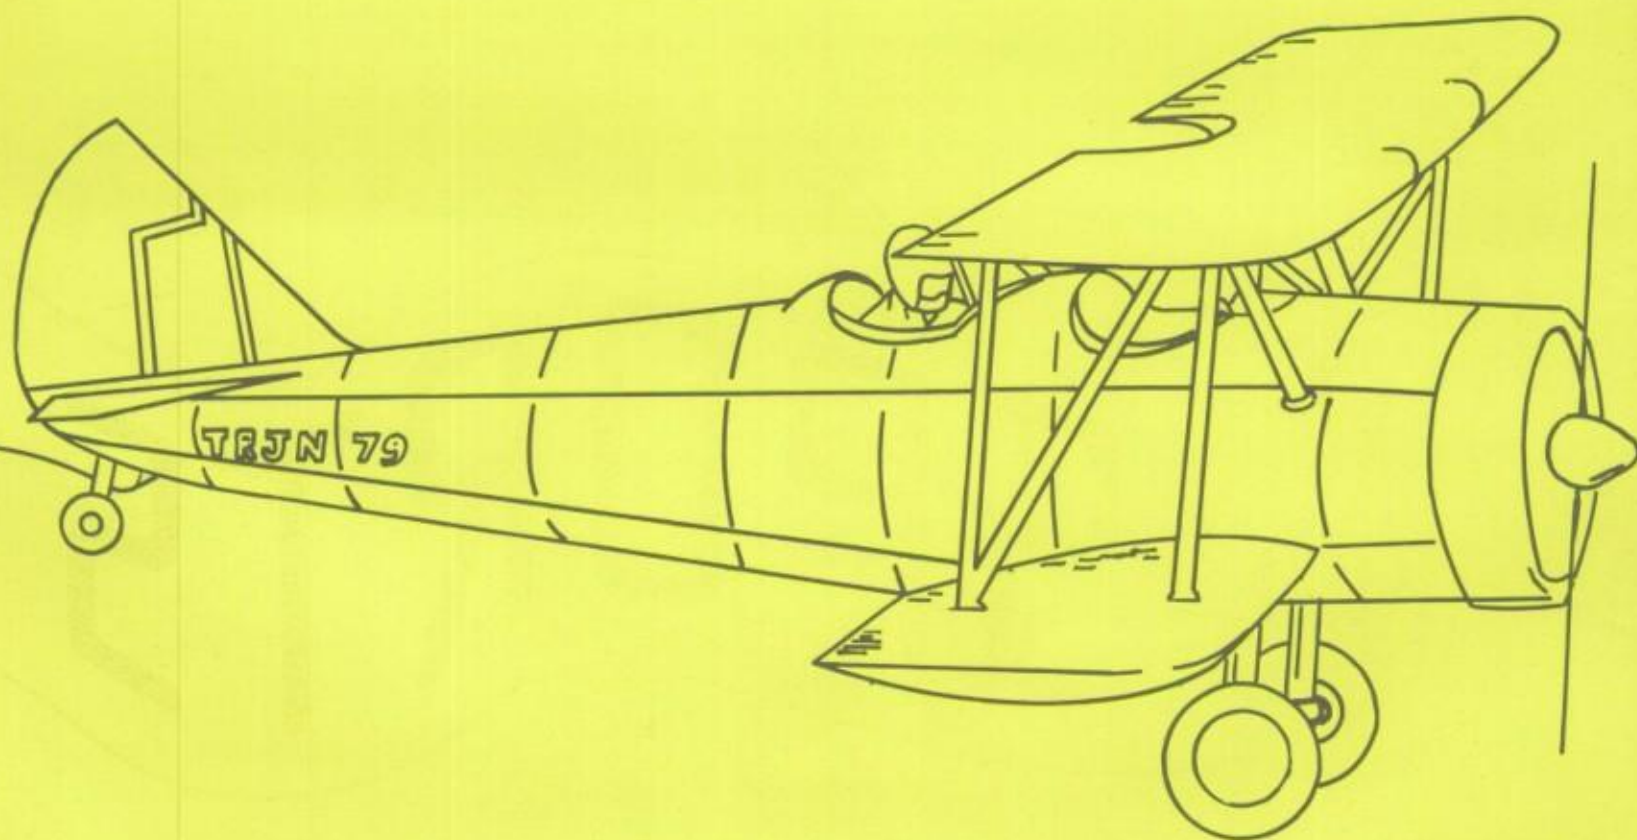

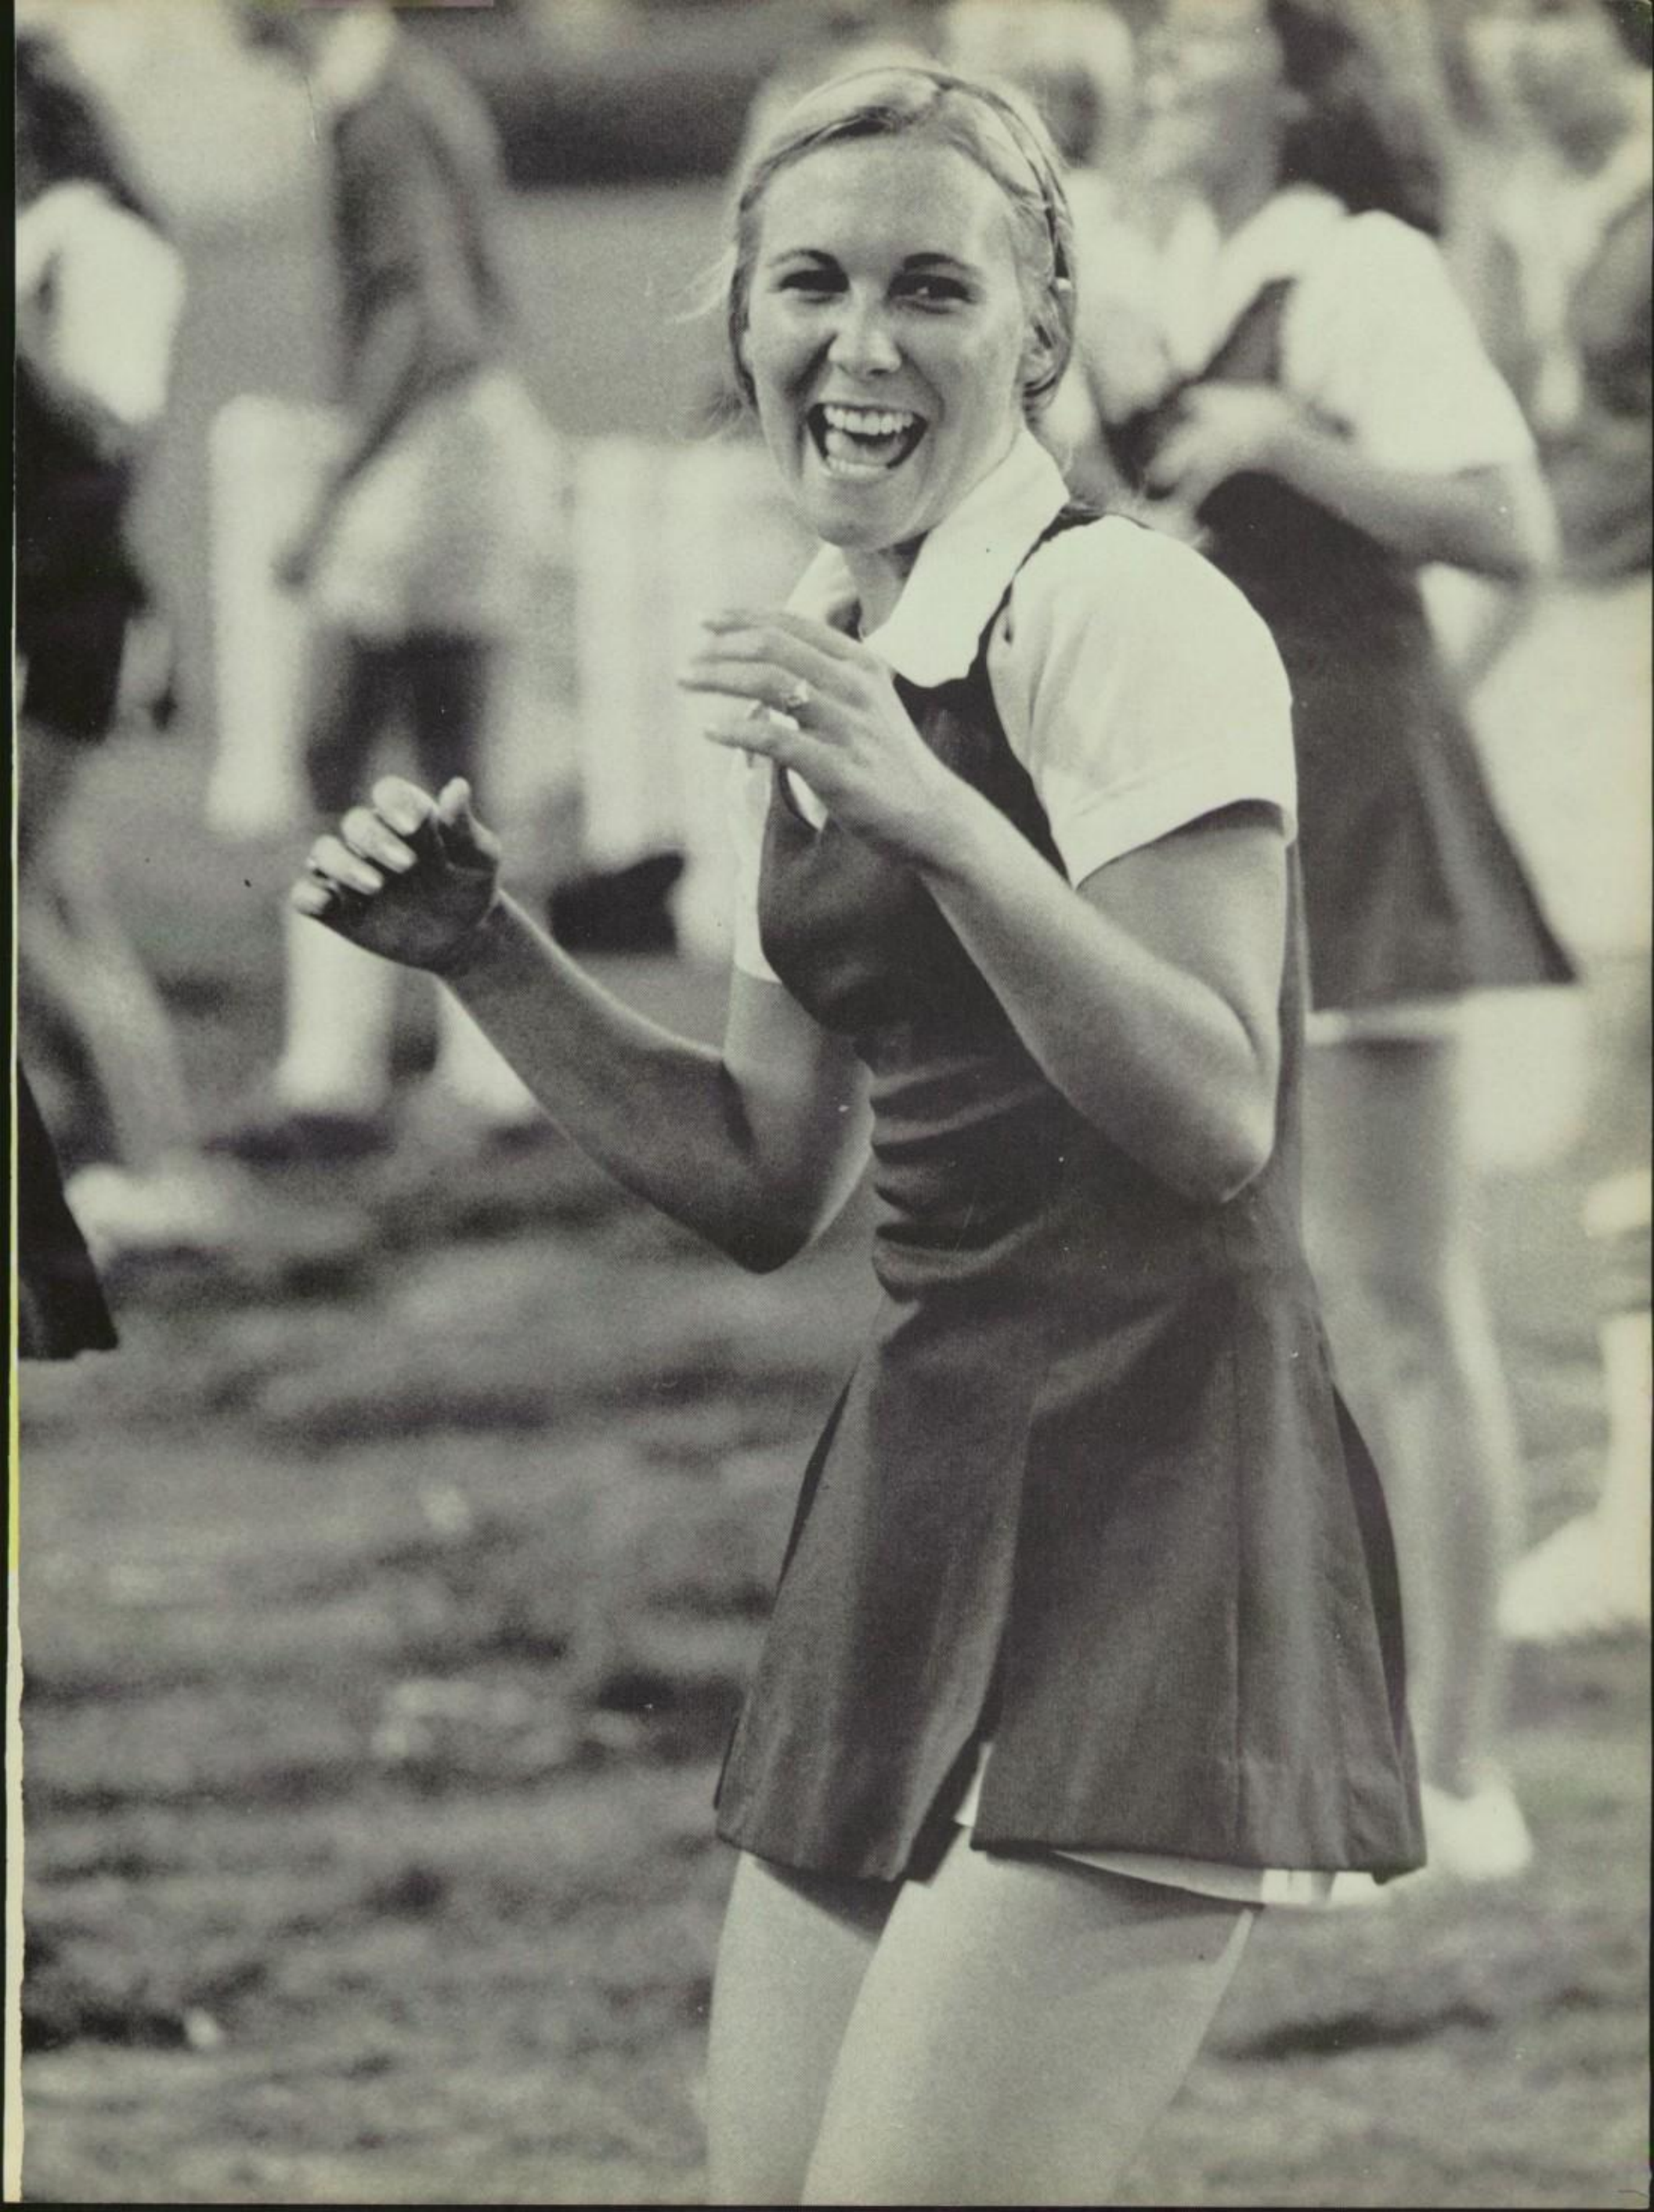

In these days of overnight sensations and quickly changing trends, some classics endure. The elegance of a cameo, the strains of soft music filling the air, speak of culture and beauty still evident in a society built on fads.

prepare for victory ...

Long before the crowds gather, dedicated Trojan athletes begin training in preparation for Metro competition. In the life of a high school athlete little glamour exists. Days consist of blood, sweat, and toil. Specialized skills require hours of repetitious practice for perfection. Many find reward in scholarships, others in the fellowship which accompanied close teamwork.

Cagers wreak Havoc on Opponents

The preseason poll of sportswriters rated the Evans BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM first in the state. The Trojans proved equal to their ranking by demolishing Metro opponents and establishing a spotless 12-0 conference record. Enroute to their regular season record of 27-1, the Trojans lost only to class III A power Cocoa. This included two victories over the state ranked Lakeland Dreadnaughts. Adding to their conquests, the Trojans captured the West Orlando Optimist Classic. Led by All-American Frank Poindexter the team set a school record for most wins during the regular season.

Evans girls ranked #1

For the first time in the history of the school, the GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL team held the number one position in the state for an entire season. They emerged undefeated, breaking a record set in 1968 for most consecutive wins for both boys' and girls' teams. Under the coaching expertise of Miss Dorothy Starbird, the girls ended the season twenty-eight wins and one loss.

Team members listen to strategies.

"I don't think the girls felt any pressure of being No. 1," said Starbird. "They didn't go around bragging. In the huddle before a game was the only time they said anything about it. They said, 'We're No. 1 and don't forget it.'"

Time spent playing on the GIRLS JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM prepared team members for future varsity play. Composed of nine sophomores and two juniors, the team ended their season with an outstanding record of 16-5. Daily Coach Cheryl Stark and the team worked on improving ball-handling skills and reviewing numerous plays. The majority of the replacements for the varsity team come from the J.V. team who already had experience in school competition.

Bowling league strikes again!

The thunderous crashing of pins shattered the silence at the local ParkWood Lanes every Wednesday as the mighty Trojan BOWLING LEAGUE developed their skills. Mrs. Barbara Schwentner aided the team in their perfection of the game. The team applied these skills in a variety of tournaments throughout the year. Runners Streak to Second in Regional ...

This year's BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY TEAM proved that a successful running season results from daily workouts, morning runs of five miles, and general determination. Coached by Richard Skelton, the junior varsity team completed the season with an undefeated record, led by K. Puckett, T. Sullivan, and A. Bouyer. Captains Wilson, Harp, and Puckett assisted the Varsity Cross Country team as they fought their way to second place in metro, regional and district competition. Overall, the Varsity Trojans rank fourteenth in the state this year.

Injuries Cripple Varsity Gridders

The crack of pads on a muggy summer afternoon signaled the beginning of the 1978-79 VARSITY FOOTBALL season. Trojans welcomed the return of head coach Gary Preisser and his staff Julius Gordon, Bill Gierke, and Bobby Hobby.

Although the varsity graduated forty-five of its members, the team practiced with a determination to regain its lost strength. Early injuries decimated the Trojan hopes for another winning season. The loss of Jeff Page handicapped the effectiveness of the offensive line. Other key personnel who suffered injuries during the course of the season were Ricky Shines, Doug Fulmer, Chris Christie, and Alfred "Boo Boo" Smith.

Trojans stumble in rebuilding year ...

Making the mistakes characteristic of an inexperienced team, the Trojans lost their first game to a superb, state-playoff bound, Edgewater team.

... In the second game, regulation time expired with the Trojans and Colonial's Grenadiers tied. The Trojans had victory wrestled from them in the overtime period.

... The Trojans retaliated with a resounding 34-0 victory over Boone.

... The team lost its fourth game to heavily favored Oak Ridge.

... Undefeated West Orange was next on the schedule; and after the smoke had cleared, the Warriors had squeaked out a 14-12 victory.

... The resilient Trojans regrouped and trounced Kissimmee for their second win of the season.

... After falling behind 22-0 to Winter Park, the Trojans battled back and just missed catching the Wildcats in game seven.

... Game eight saw the Trojans dominating in all statistics and yet falling to Winter Haven's opportunistic Blue Devils.

... The Jones Tigers spoiled the Trojans Homecoming in a bloody battle.

... Experiencing a letdown after the hard fought Jones game, the Trojans finished the year with a loss to Satellite.

The Trojans began the season winning thier first five in a row and outscoring their opponents 31-6. In the Sanford Christmas Tournament, they dropped a controversial match to Miami Killian, the eventual tournament runners-up. The TROJAN BOOTERS fell into a midseason slump as injuries to key personnel accumulated. Recovering their early season form, the Trojans ran off nine consecutive victories. BOYS' TRACK

Practicing two hours a day and some Saturdays, the BOY'S TRACK TEAM prepared for the '79 season. With 23 meets and five months together, Coach Richard Skelton predicted a very good season for the Trojans. The team depended on a balance with outstanding runners as well as skilled field personnel. Clark Harp ran the half-mile in 1:57.2, the fastest time in the state. The 440-yard relay team composed of Clyde Lovette, Jim Carter, Rick Mitchell, and Dan Harp, streaked to the fastest time in the state. In the shot-put, Jerry Weaver tossed the iron 55.6 feet, longest in the state.

Varsity spirits EHS Victory Train

Starting the year off right, the 1978-79 VARSITY CHEERLEADERS established a pattern of spirit and pride which prevailed throughout the year. Selling spirit tickets, holding car washes, and selling doughnuts on weekends combined to make up the necessary funds for the squad's new uniforms and camp. Under the sponsorship of Ms. Combs and Ms. Carducci, the squad led pep rallies and cheered through the halls promoting enthusiasm and sportsmanship among loyal Trojans. In addition to their many sports related activities, the cheerleaders kept an old tradition by sponsoring the annual Sweetheart contest.

Yearbook goes to press

After many long and boring hours of tedious but necessary work, the Chariot staff, once again, managed to produce another outstanding issue of the school yearbook. The 21st edition of the Chariot came as a result of a joint effort between editors, photographers, and staffers. Thanks to the dedication of the staff and sponsor Laureen "Dogmeat" Batchelor, the yearbook appeared as scheduled, missing no deadlines ... by much.

New sponsor leads Tribune

During her first year as sponsor of the Trojan Tribune, Mrs. Donna Phillips had her hands full. By working closely with editor Lynnsey Hackley, she helped produce another outstanding school publication. With the combined efforts of writers, artists, photographers, and advertisers, the Trojan Tribune proved both informative and entertaining.

Caution: Creative geniuses at work ic For the sixth year, imagination came in handy for the CREATIVE PUBLICATION CLASS, who, with the aid of Mrs. Sharon Blazier, coordinated the literary magazine, "Pieces of the Mind." Writings donated by the student body, along with the classes' own works were compiled into two editions. Members also participated in various contests, including the nationwide Scholastic competition. In an effort to stir up creative genius, the group went on a field trip to Sea World and ended the year with one last get together at Mrs. Blazier's home.

A student from Norway joined the ranks of the Evans Trojans this year, sponsored by the American Field Service. After intense screening, Helga Brun came here as one of the few students selected to stay in America for a period of one year to attend school. In an effort to share American customs with our friends, Mrs. Ellis DeWeese, consultant for the club, provided the members with a Christmas party.

Torch sparks new projects

The Torch Society, consisting of sophomore honor students, made its mark as an outstanding service club.

Not only did the club continue the traditional services, but they created new projects in order to better the school and to aid the community.

They began a teacher appreciation project, supplying refreshments to different departments each week. Again this year, they presented Easter baskets to Sunland and painted the garbage cans in order to beautify our campus.

For St. Valentine's Day, club members expressed their appreciation toward teachers by giving them heart-shaped greeting cards. Halloween and Easter parties given by the club to Sunland patients, helped fulfill the club's promise of community service.

Interested in learning the Spanish cultures, students joined the Spanish Club sponsored by Mrs. Judy Brown and Ms. Jo Ellen Marshall. Their school service projects included putting up the marquee and decorating the cafeteria during Valentine's Day. Among its many activities, the club sponsored a needy family during Christmas and visited a retirement home. The club raised money by selling ski hats and by sponsoring a skating party. At the end of the year, members spent the day in St. Augustine visiting the shops and the museums.

German Club profits much

Candy advent calendars made their debut on campus when the German Club sold them during Christmas. The German chocolate figures within the calendars sold almost as quickly as the traditional fund-raising product — gummy bears. Club members used the money accumulated to pay for expenses incurred at the annual convention in May. Drama Club goes to school

The plight of the inner-city schools emerged on the stage with the production of "Up the Down Staircase". Using the stage as an outlet for their theatrical talents, members of the cast put in many long hours of hard work and dedication. As Mrs. Gignac's first attempt at directing, "Staircase" thrilled audiences and brought rave reviews.

"Dogmeat."

Wow, I can't believe it's really over! You know what's even more unbelievable? I think I'm gonna miss you... Despite the heck you put us through in yearbook! Looks like all of those late night work sessions paid off, huh? Remember cooking dinner for us sick with that rare house? Your kids were mad to stay home spitting virus and you really made us work, but I guess we did get you back. Remember when the photographers almost got arrested? Of course, you can't forget the penny-toss, the desk-stacking contest, the yearbook pyramid, or the flying witch (no matter how much you'd like to). I guess our biggest prank was when we prepared a dummy sheet to go in the yearbook and then switched it for another without you knowing it! Still you ^{almost} always emerged with a smile - everything was just "Ducky." Well, I'm gonna end it here, so you can go check your mail! La-illa-ho-illa-Allah and bottoms up!

FEVER!

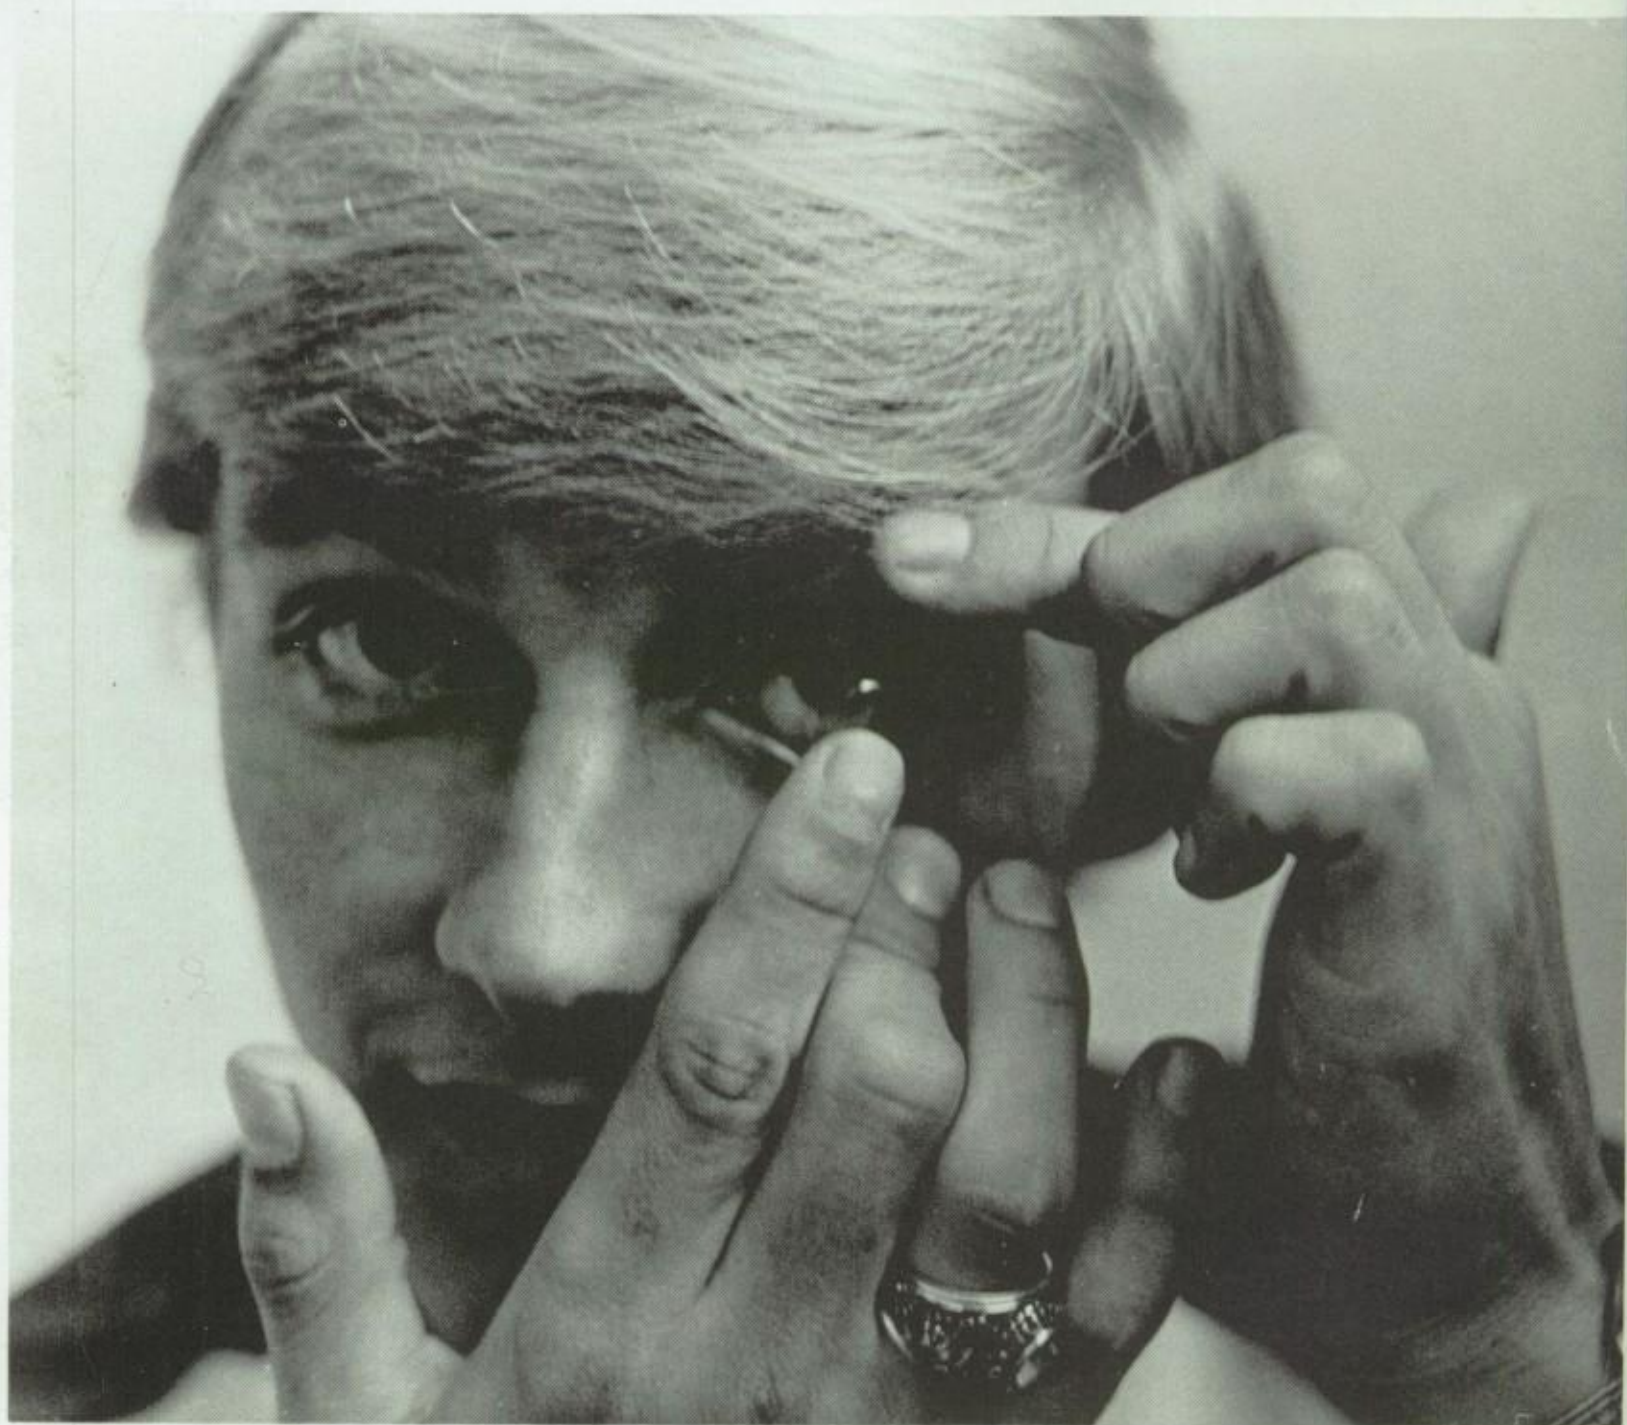

A hand-drawn banner with a wavy, ribbon-like shape. The word "FEVER!" is written in a bold, blocky, sans-serif font across the center of the banner. The banner has a small loop on the left side and a pointed end on the right.

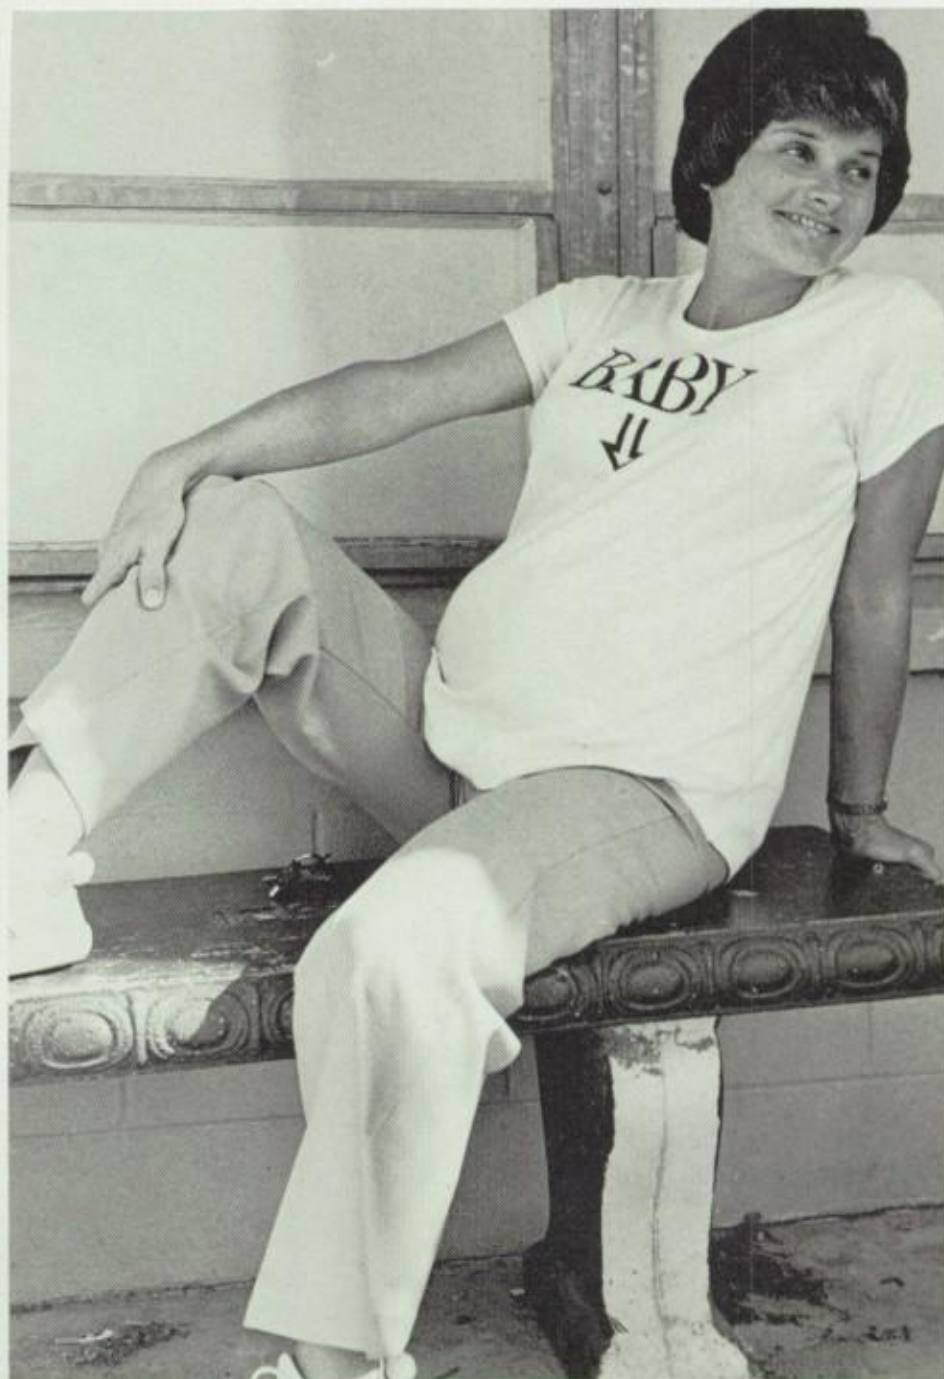

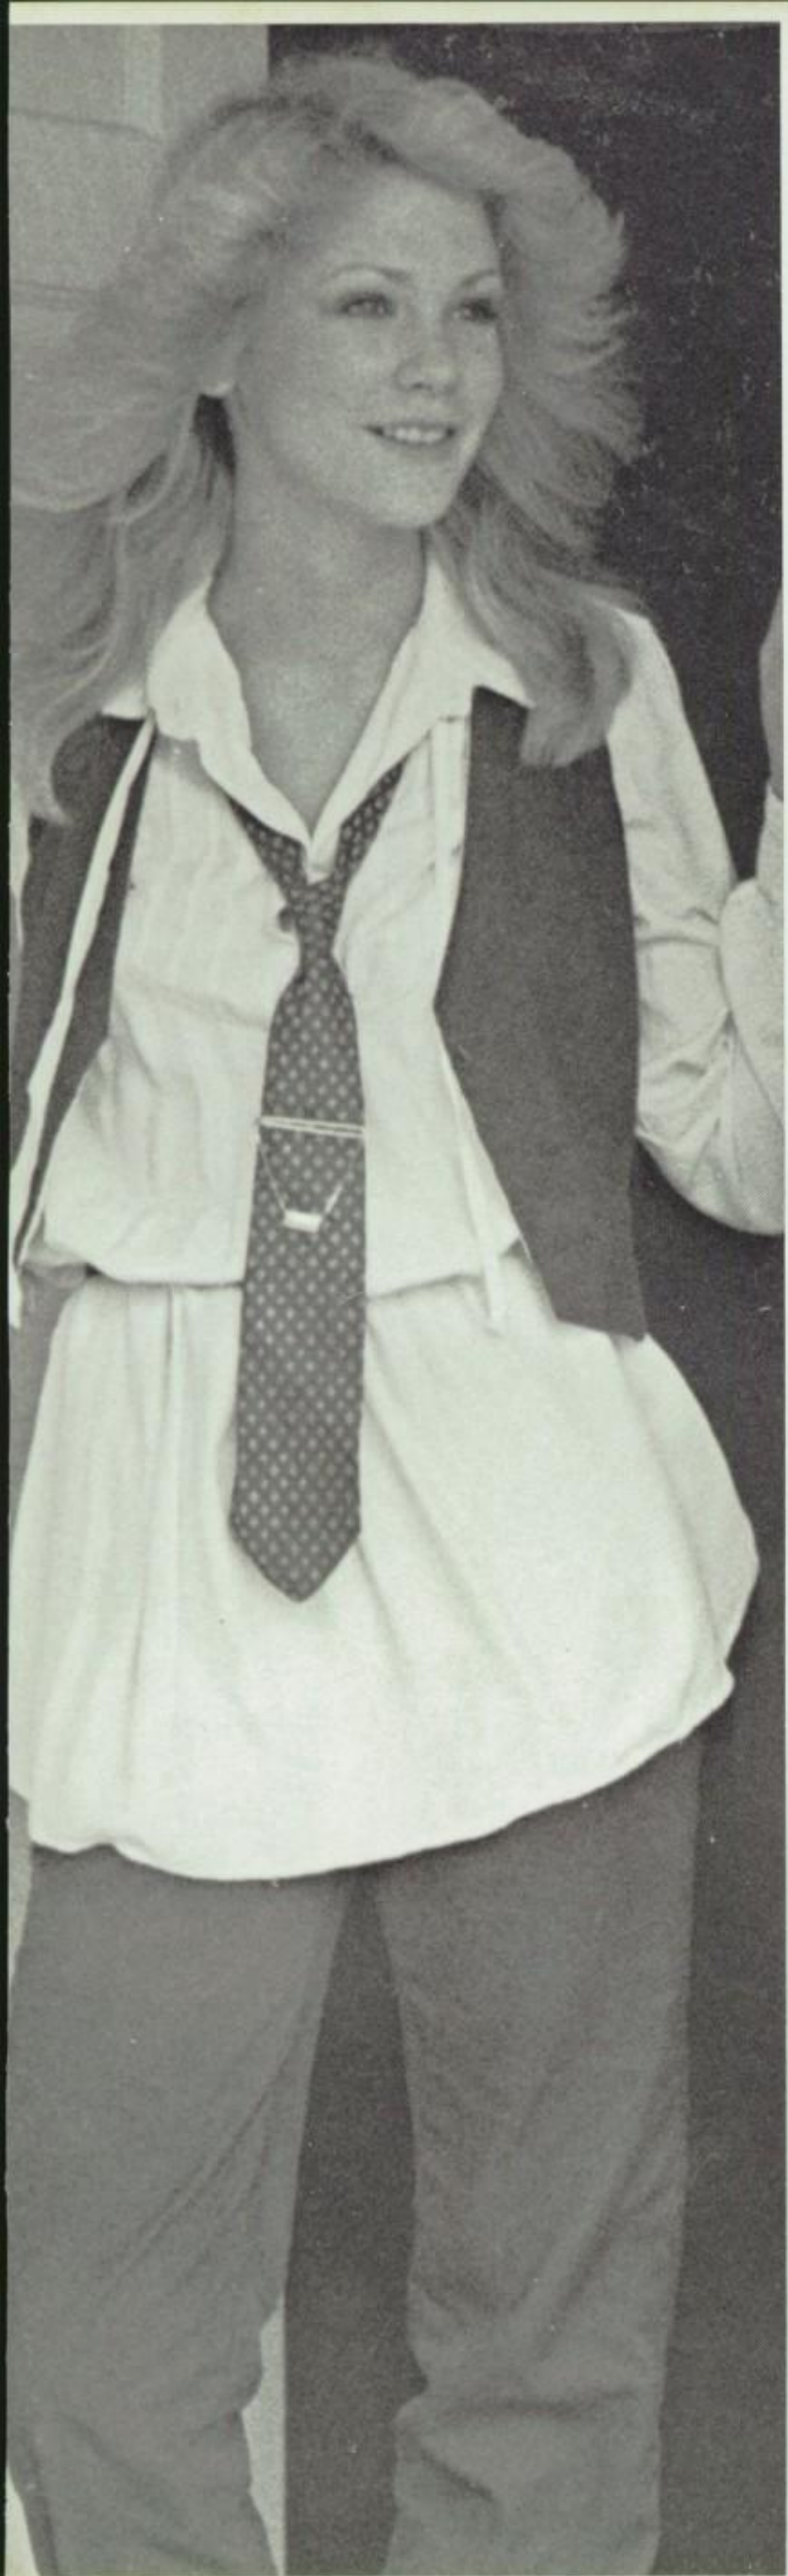

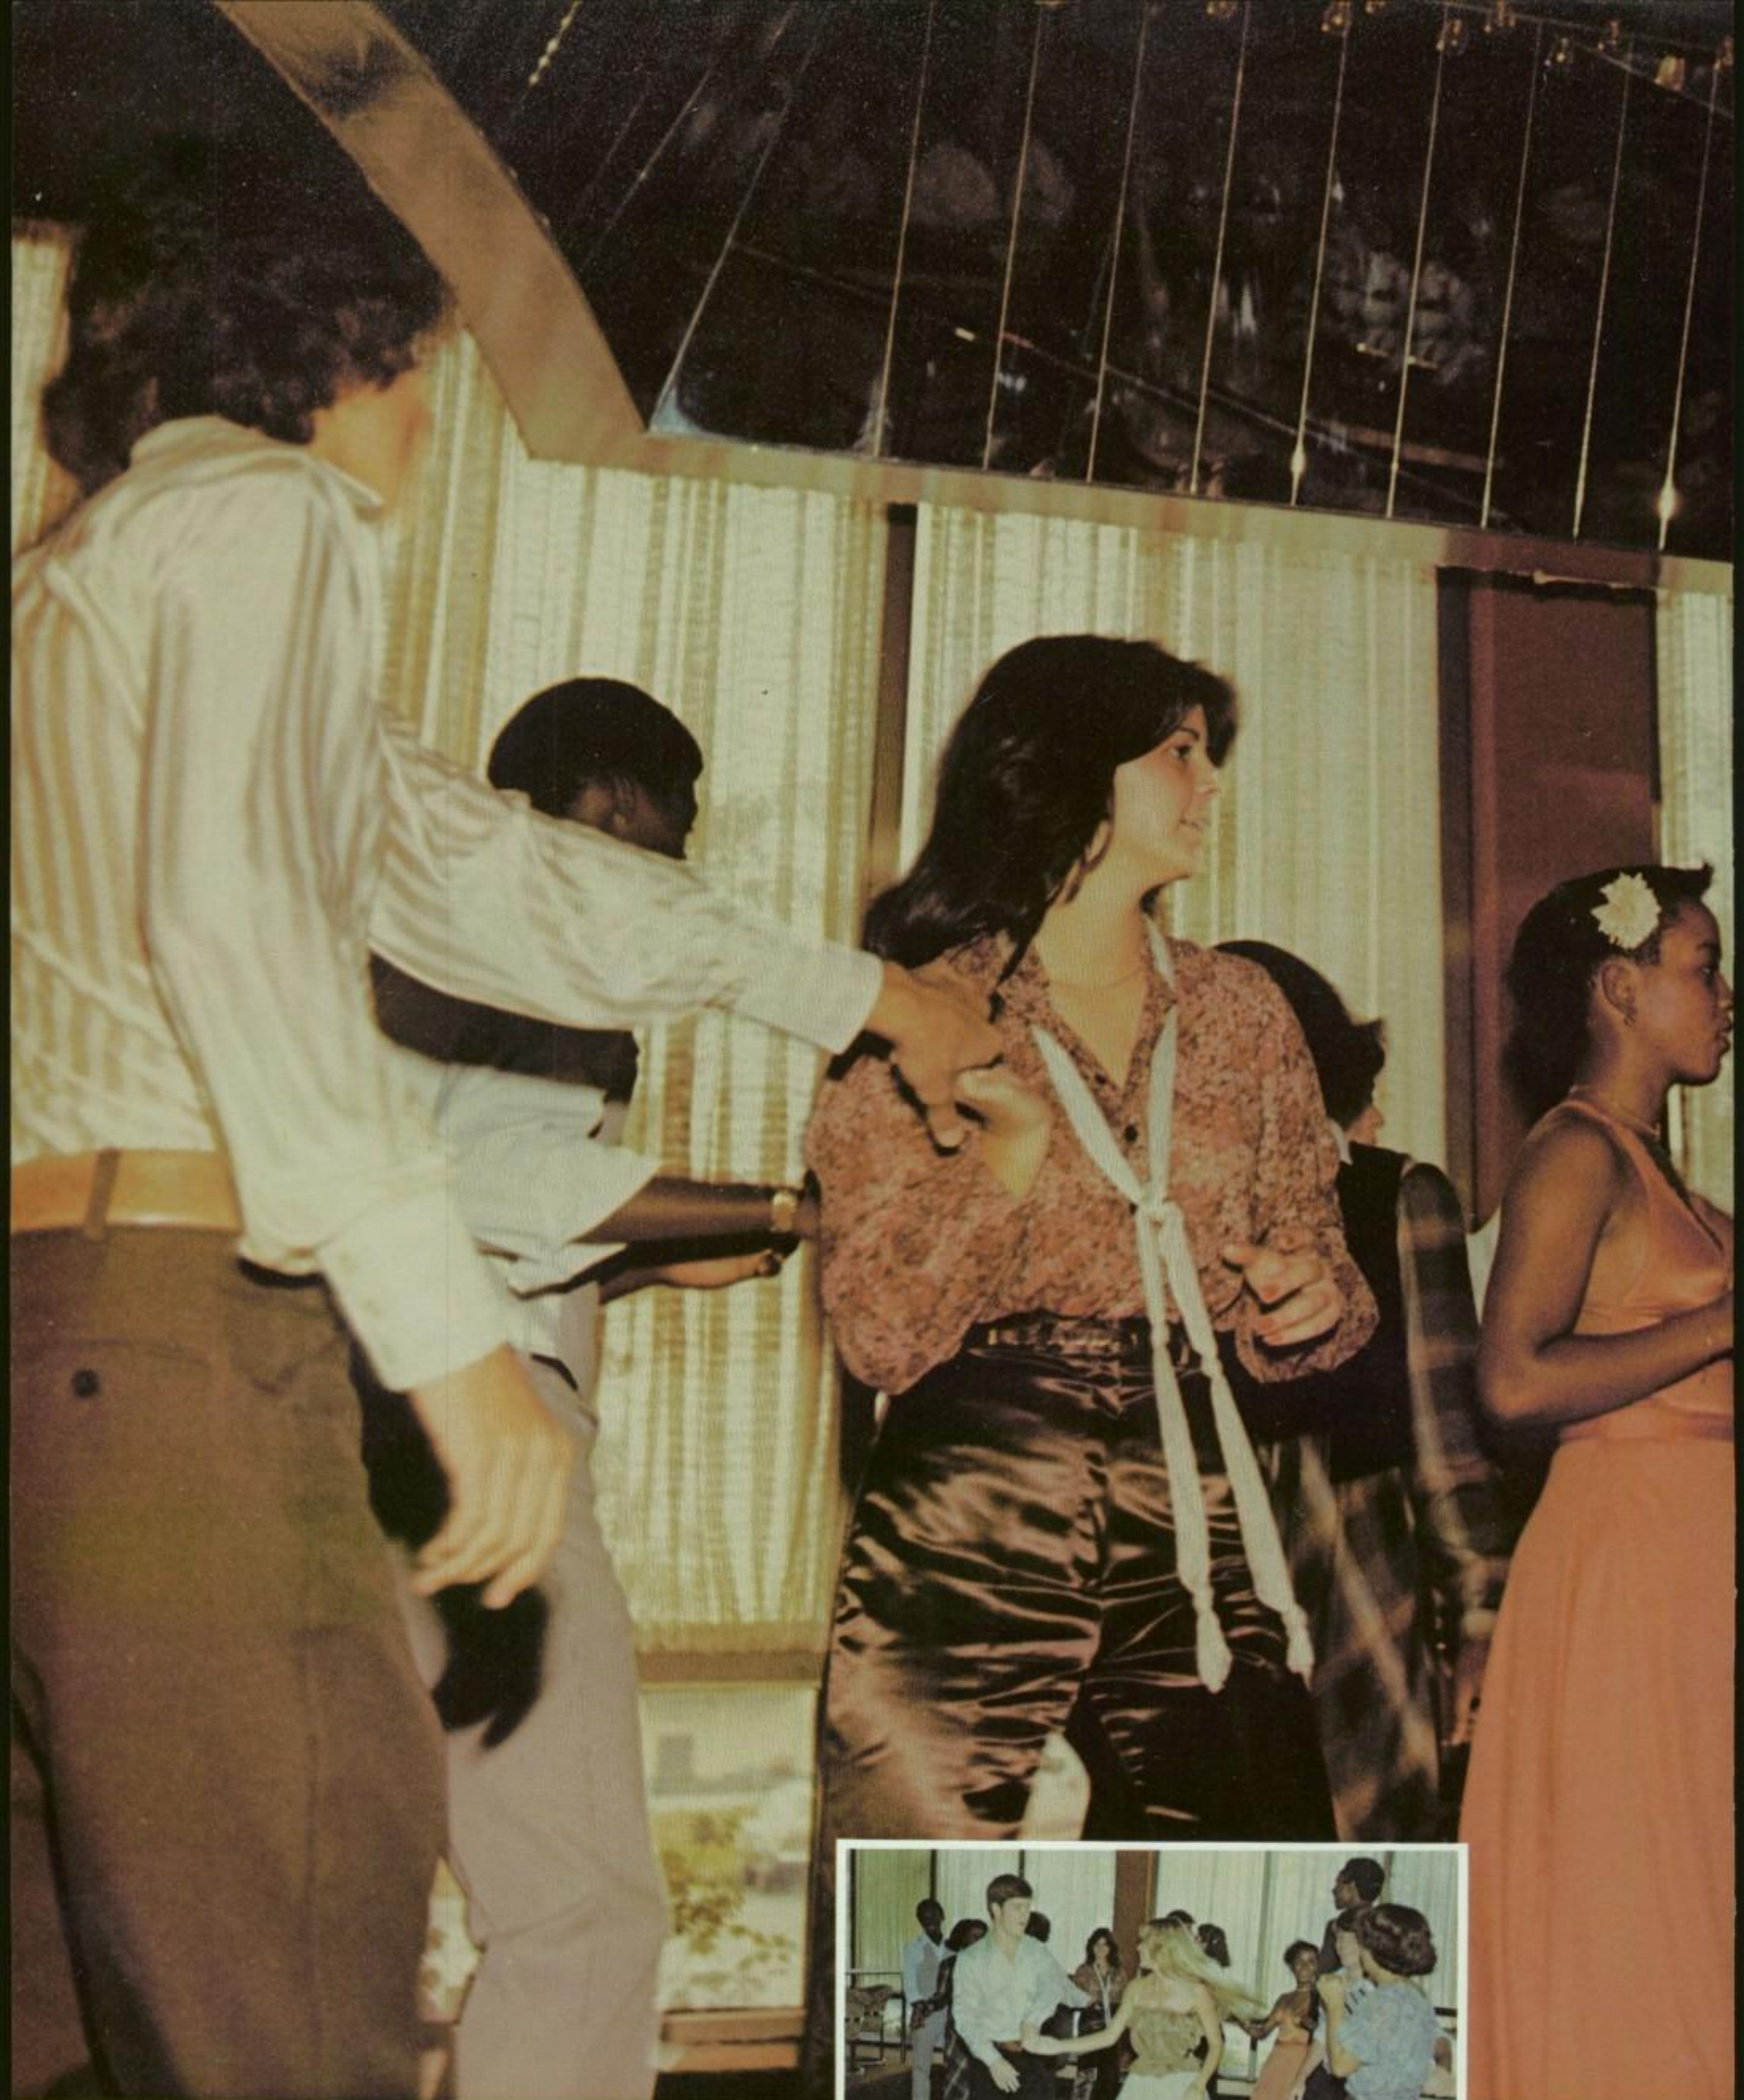

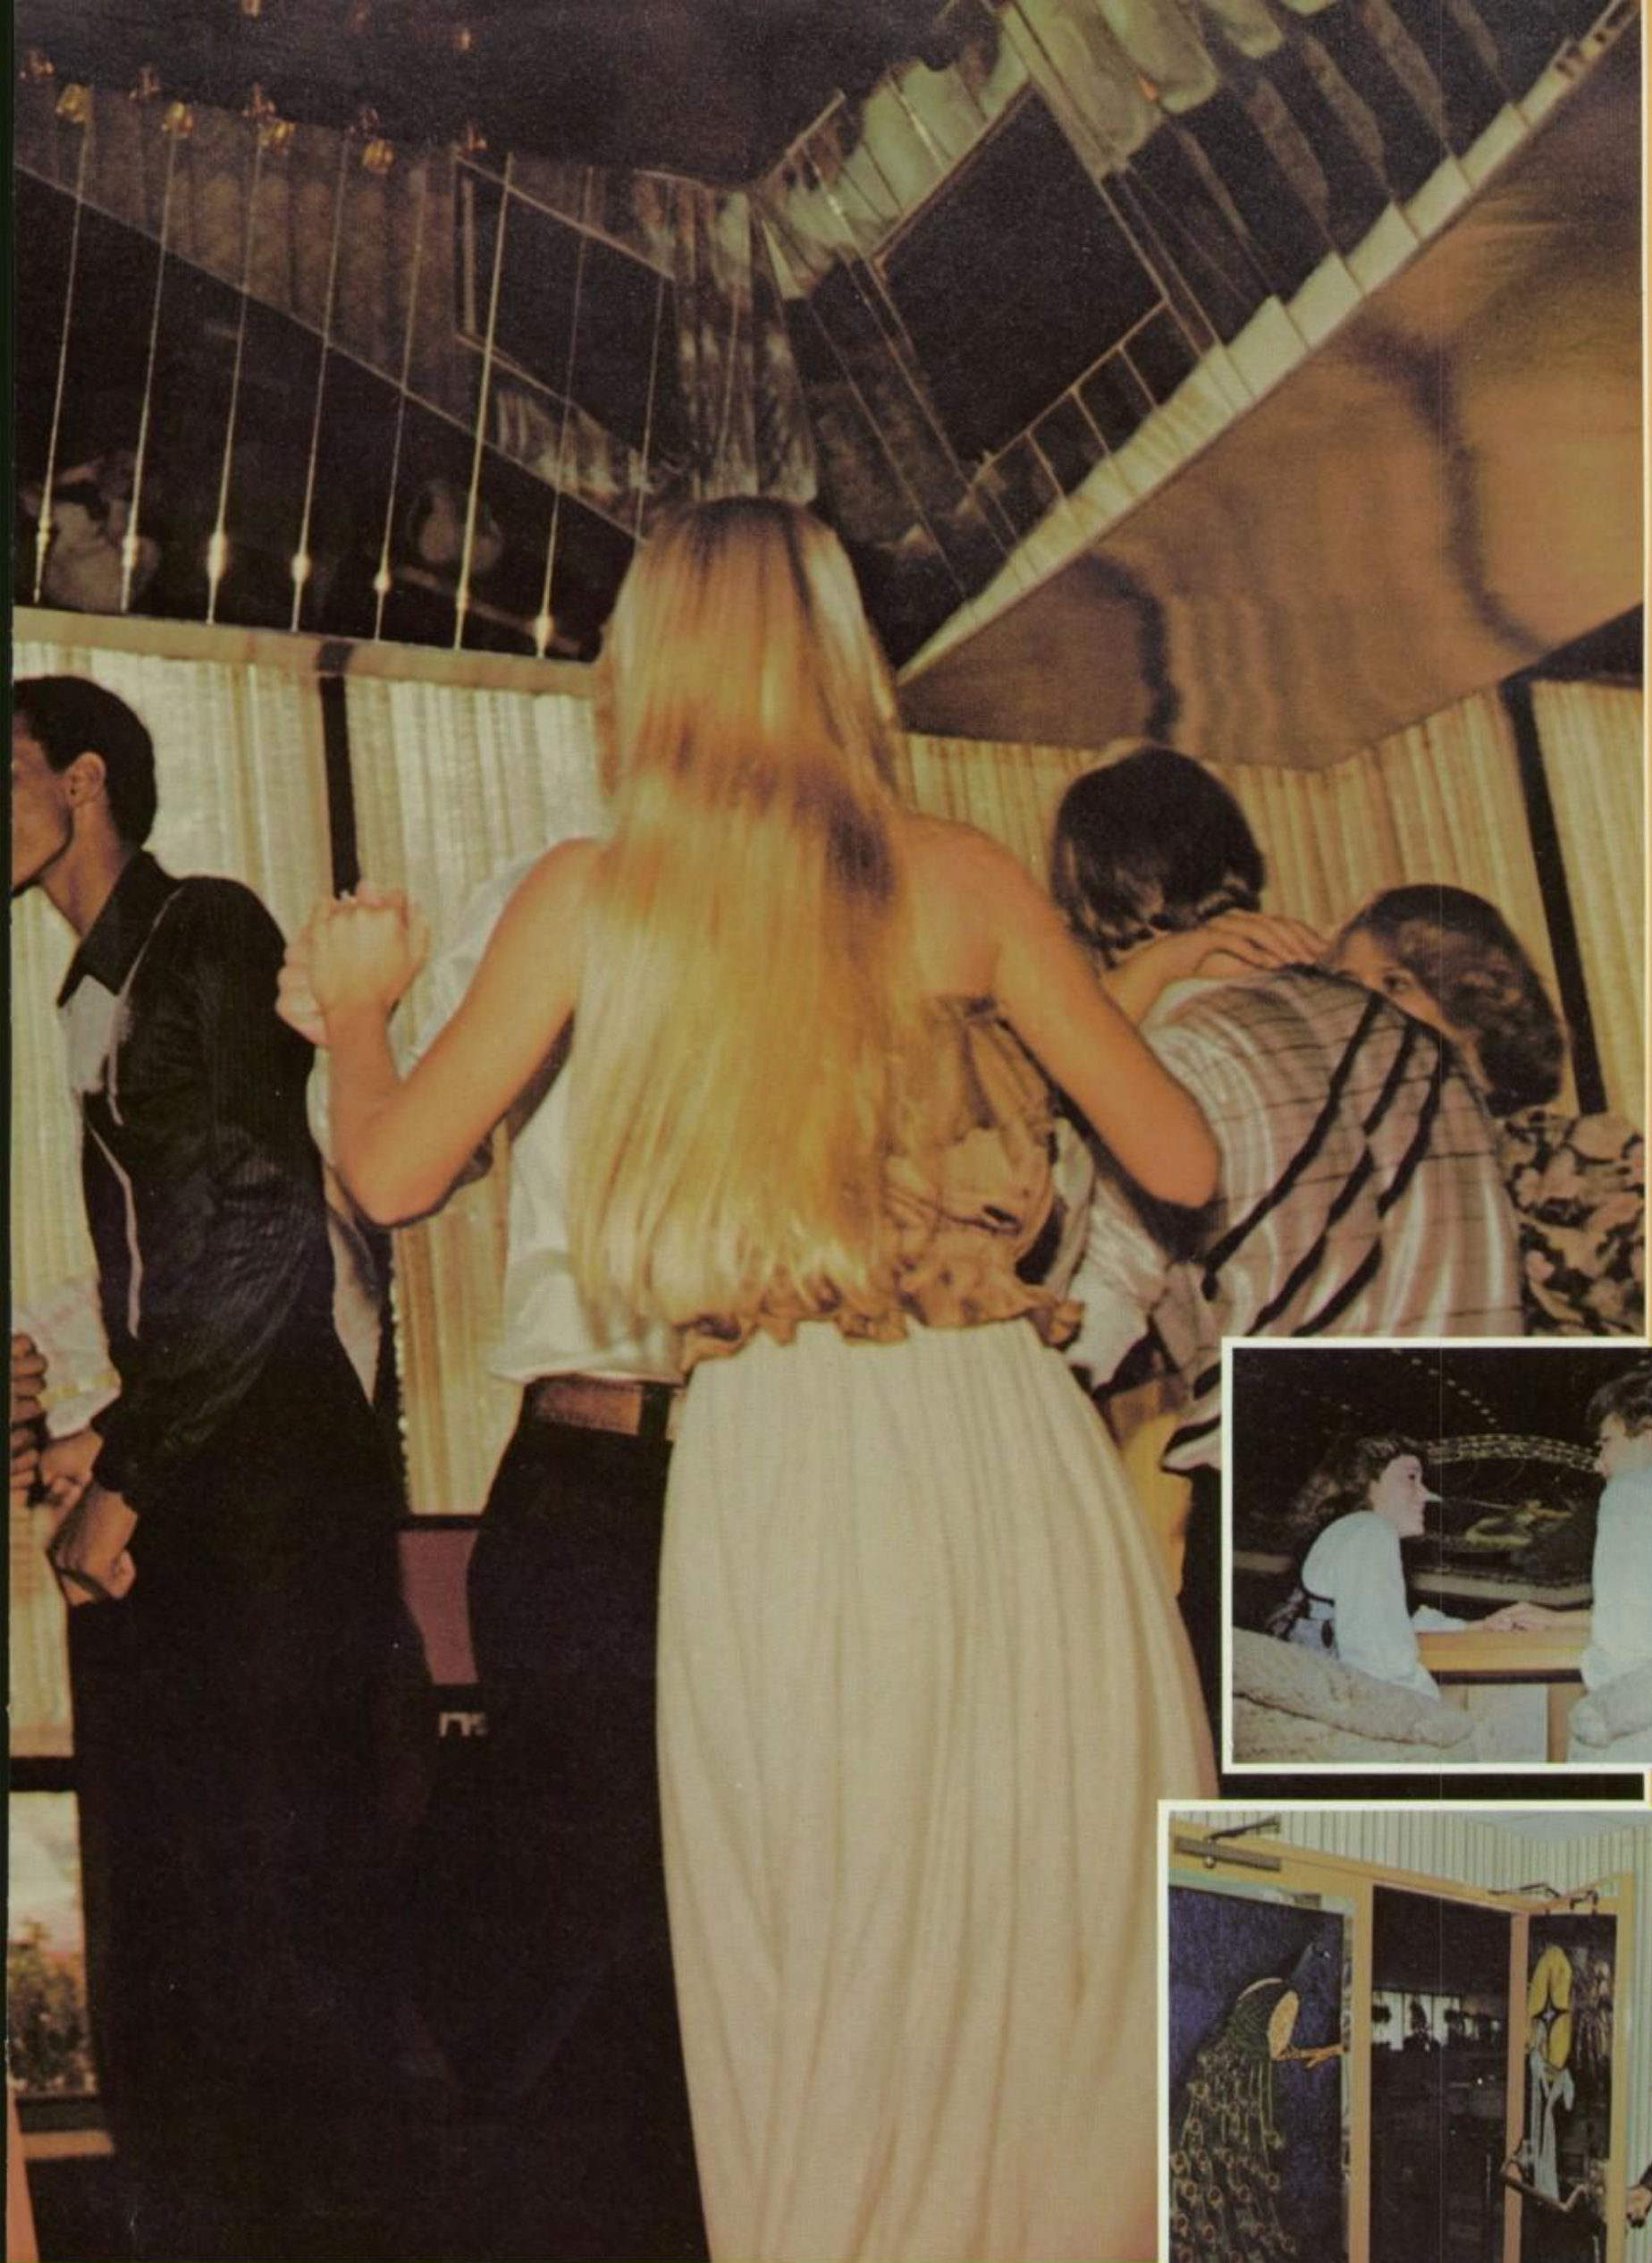

Trojans take to the beach on weekends to wash the hassles of tests and homework away in the tides. The sun and sand lure us to solitude or companionship.

Following fads kept the Trojans busy. School started with the Annie Hall look and straight legged jeans. Danskins and disco provided Saturday night entertainment.

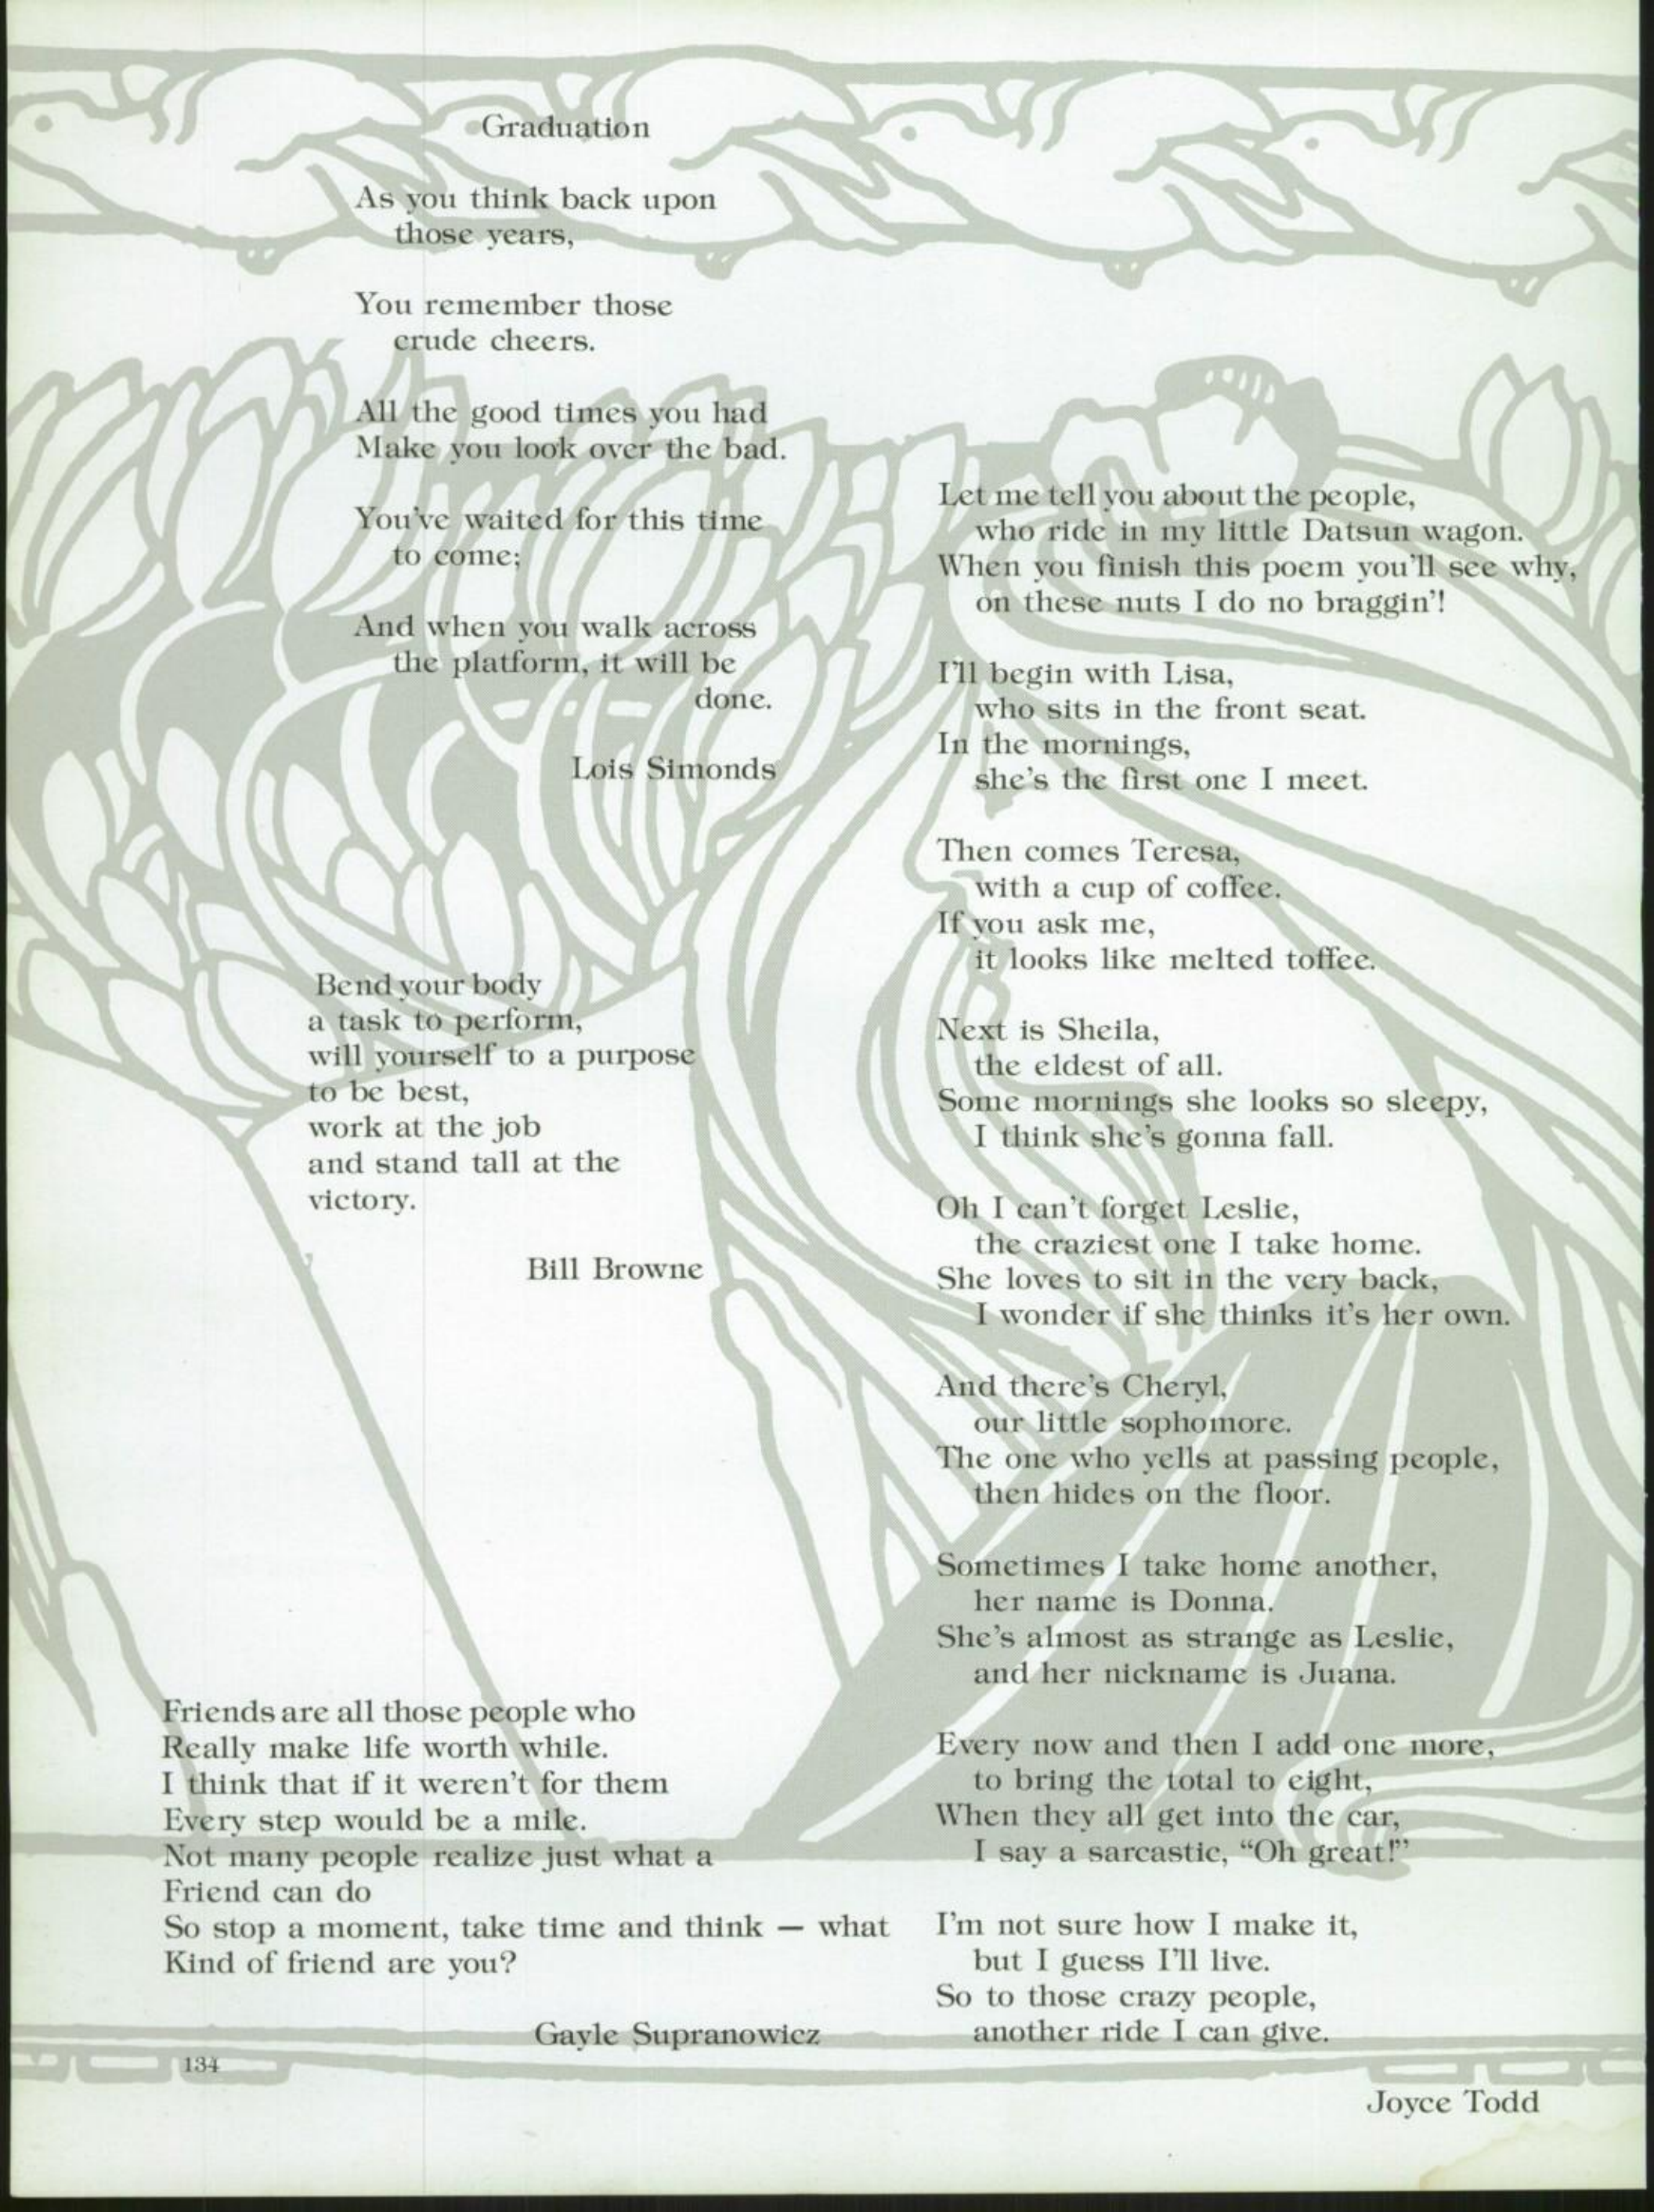

caught the FEVER!

Graduation

As you think back upon
those years,

You remember those crude cheers.

All the good times you had
Make you look over the bad.

You've waited for this time
to come;

And when you walk across the platform, it will be done.

Lois Simonds

Bend your body
a task to perform,
will yourself to a purpose
to be best,
work at the job
and stand tall at the victory.

Bill Browne

Friends are all those people who Really make life worth while.
I think that if it weren't for them
Every step would be a mile.
Not many people realize just what a Friend can do
So stop a moment, take time and think — what Kind of friend are you?

Gayle Supranowicz

Let me tell you about the people,
who ride in my little Datsun wagon.
When you finish this poem you'll see why,
on these nuts I do no braggin'!

I'll begin with Lisa,
who sits in the front seat.
In the mornings,
she's the first one I meet.

Then comes Teresa,
with a cup of coffee.
If you ask me,
it looks like melted toffee.

Next is Sheila,
the eldest of all.
Some mornings she looks so sleepy,
I think she's gonna fall.

Oh I can't forget Leslie,
the craziest one I take home.
She loves to sit in the very back,
I wonder if she thinks it's her own.

And there's Cheryl,
our little sophomore.
The one who yells at passing people,
then hides on the floor.

Sometimes I take home another,
her name is Donna.
She's almost as strange as Leslie,
and her nickname is Juana.

Every now and then I add one more,
to bring the total to eight,
When they all get into the car,
I say a sarcastic, "Oh great!"

I'm not sure how I make it,
but I guess I'll live.
So to those crazy people,
another ride I can give.

Joyce Todd

The time has come to say good-bye.
The memories were many and sweet.
Sometimes I really have to ask, "why?"
Why do we have to part from the friends we meet?

Don't get me wrong the time was spent wisely,
Sr. trip, Grad nite but mostly graduation.
But the time has come so let's bow out nicely
Saying see ya later or even good-bye to that great infatuation.

Maybe one day we'll meet again
But for now it's good-bye.
Some of us will stay in touch
And some will leave with just a sigh.

So class of nineteen seventy-nine
Look upward to the sky.
May God hold you in his tender arms
When you graduate from Maynard Evans High.

Tina L. Newcomb

Tradition again repeats itself,
all books are returned to the shelf.
Another year has come and gone
and many more kids face the world alone.
In the future that grows ever high
Harbor sweet, fond memories of Maynard Evans High.

Think of the friends that loved you so,
and stay close at heart wherever you go.
Think of the night you stayed out late,
and had so much fun with your friend as a date.
Think of the girl you thought so sweet,
and her smile that knocked you off your feet.

But when these things do cross your mind
The tears will be of a special kind,
Tears of happiness, of great friendship
let not a frown pass over your lips.
Be proud, stand tall Trojans of "79"
You compose a class that's mighty fine!

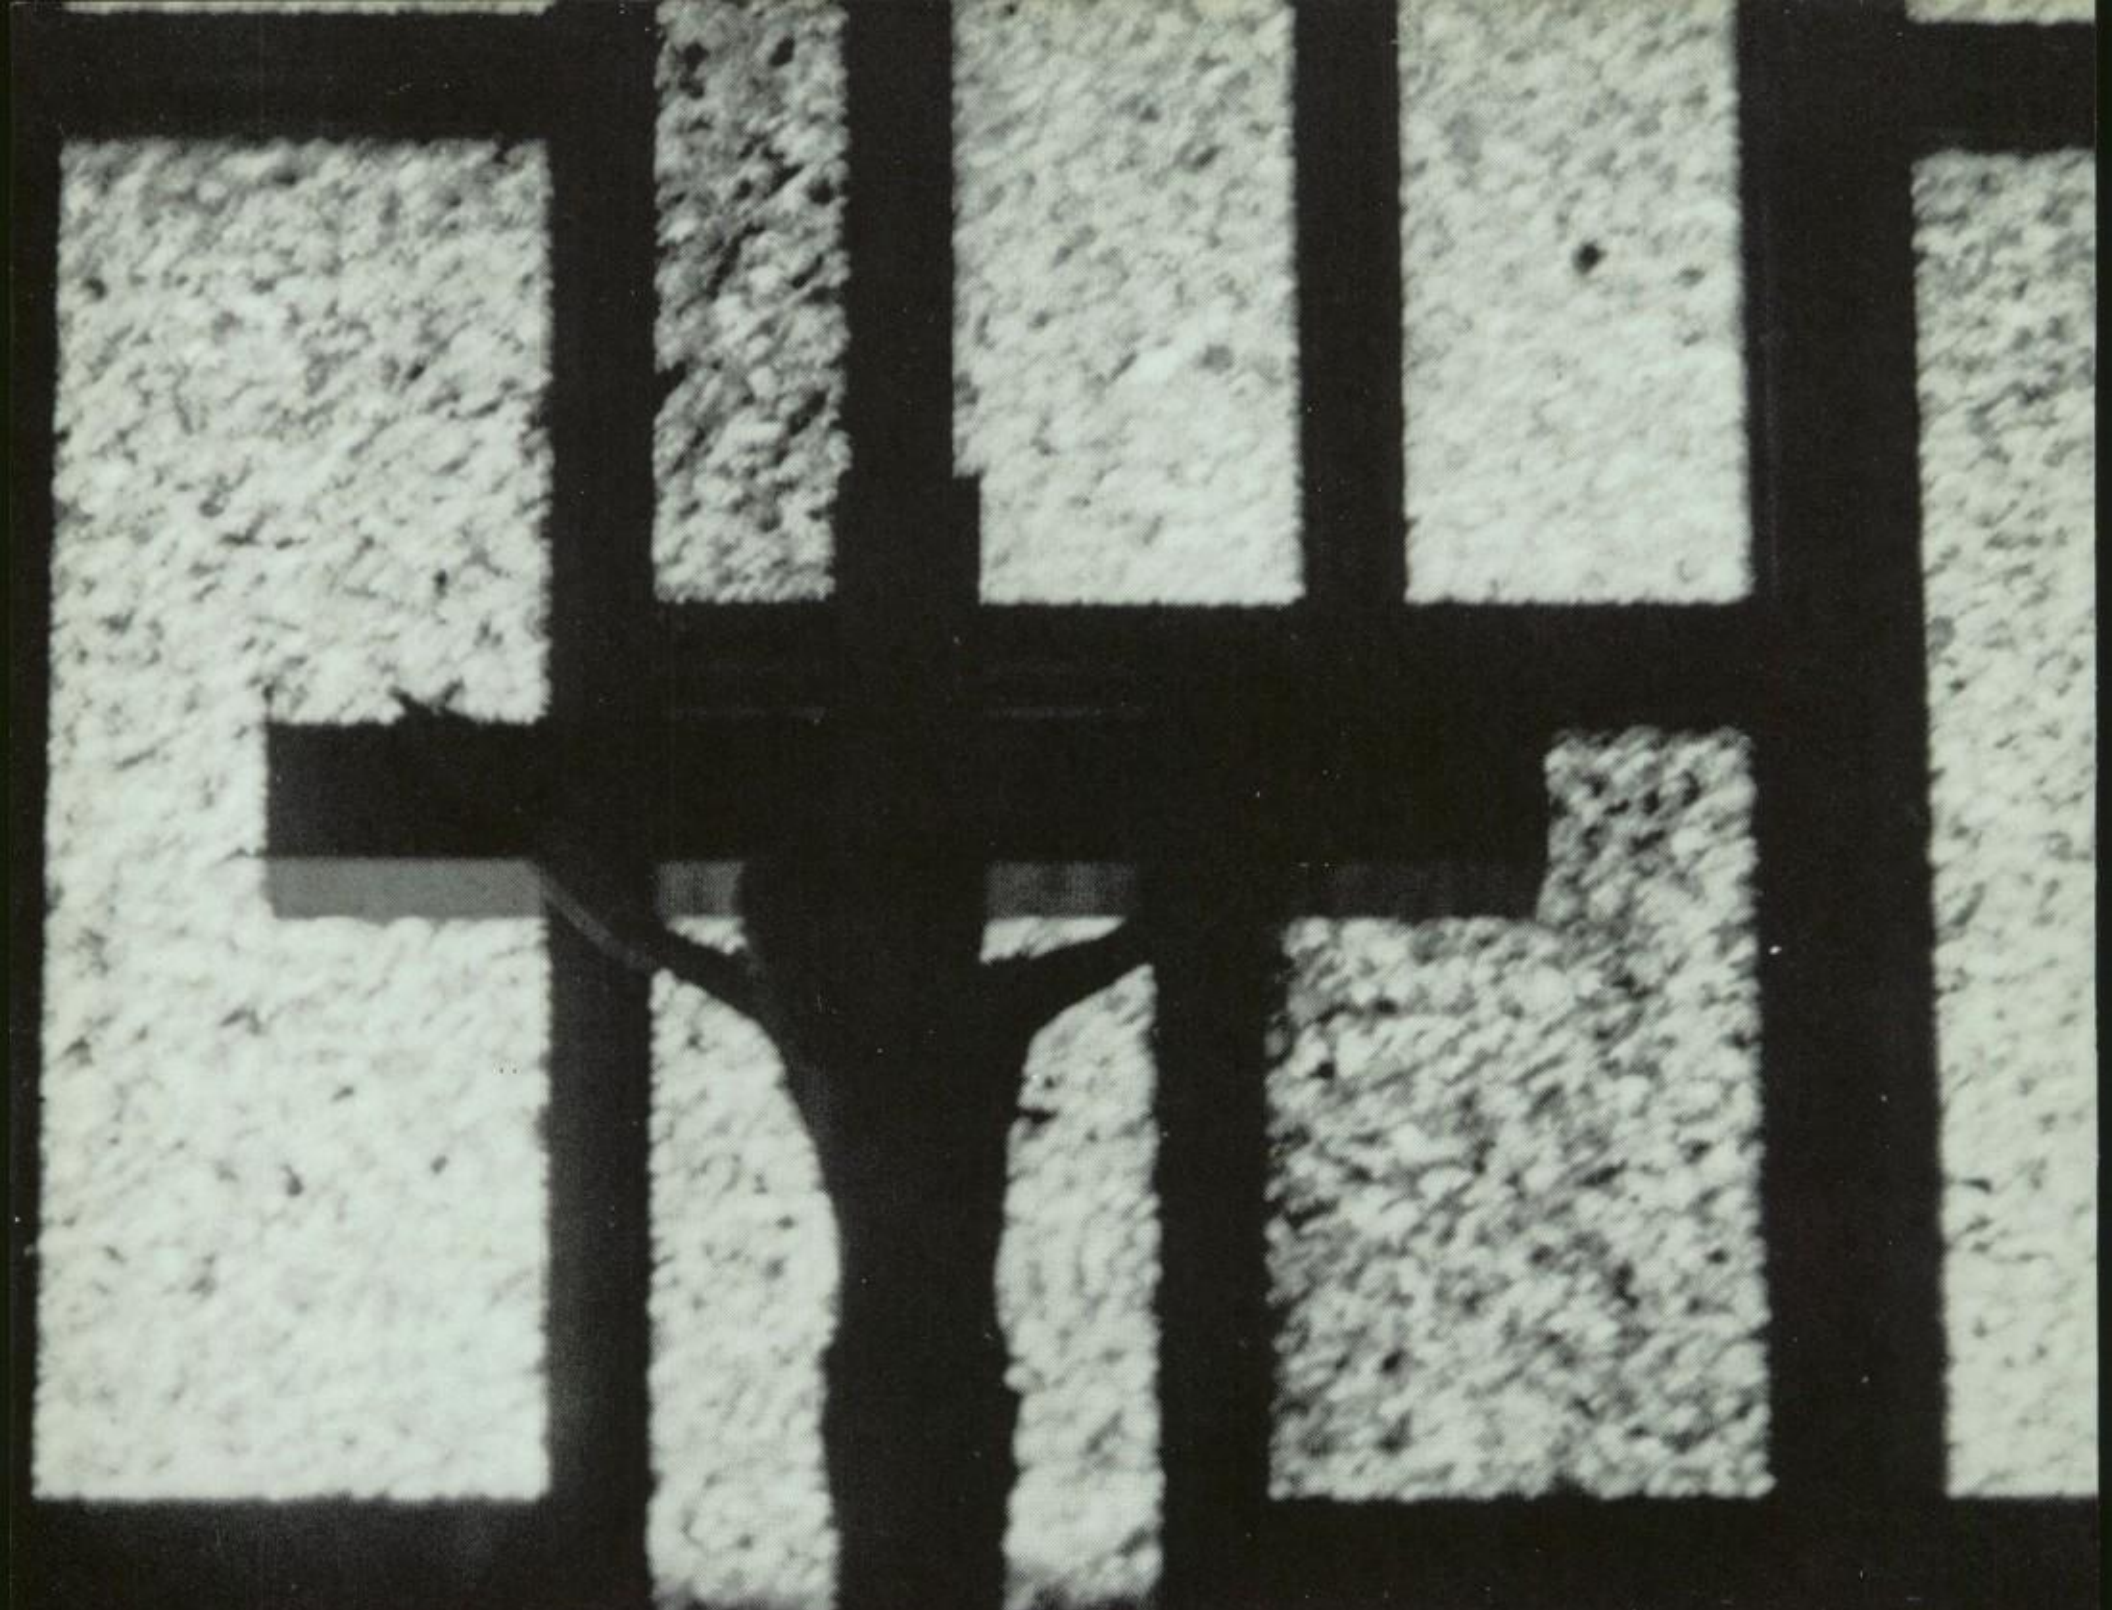

Anita L. Foster

The Time

The Time has come
to say goodbye;
and as I do,
I shed no tears.
Down the hallways
memories flow
from room to room.
I close each door.
As I leave,
there's nothing left behind.
Instead I reach out
for more.

A reawakening of religious fervor has replaced the decadence of the sixties. The young people of this era find solace in retreats and church services. Songs praising the existence of a Supreme Being characterize gatherings of Trojans. Even those who hold tight to their skepticism rejoice in the wholesomeness of the attitudes which accompany this religious renaissance.

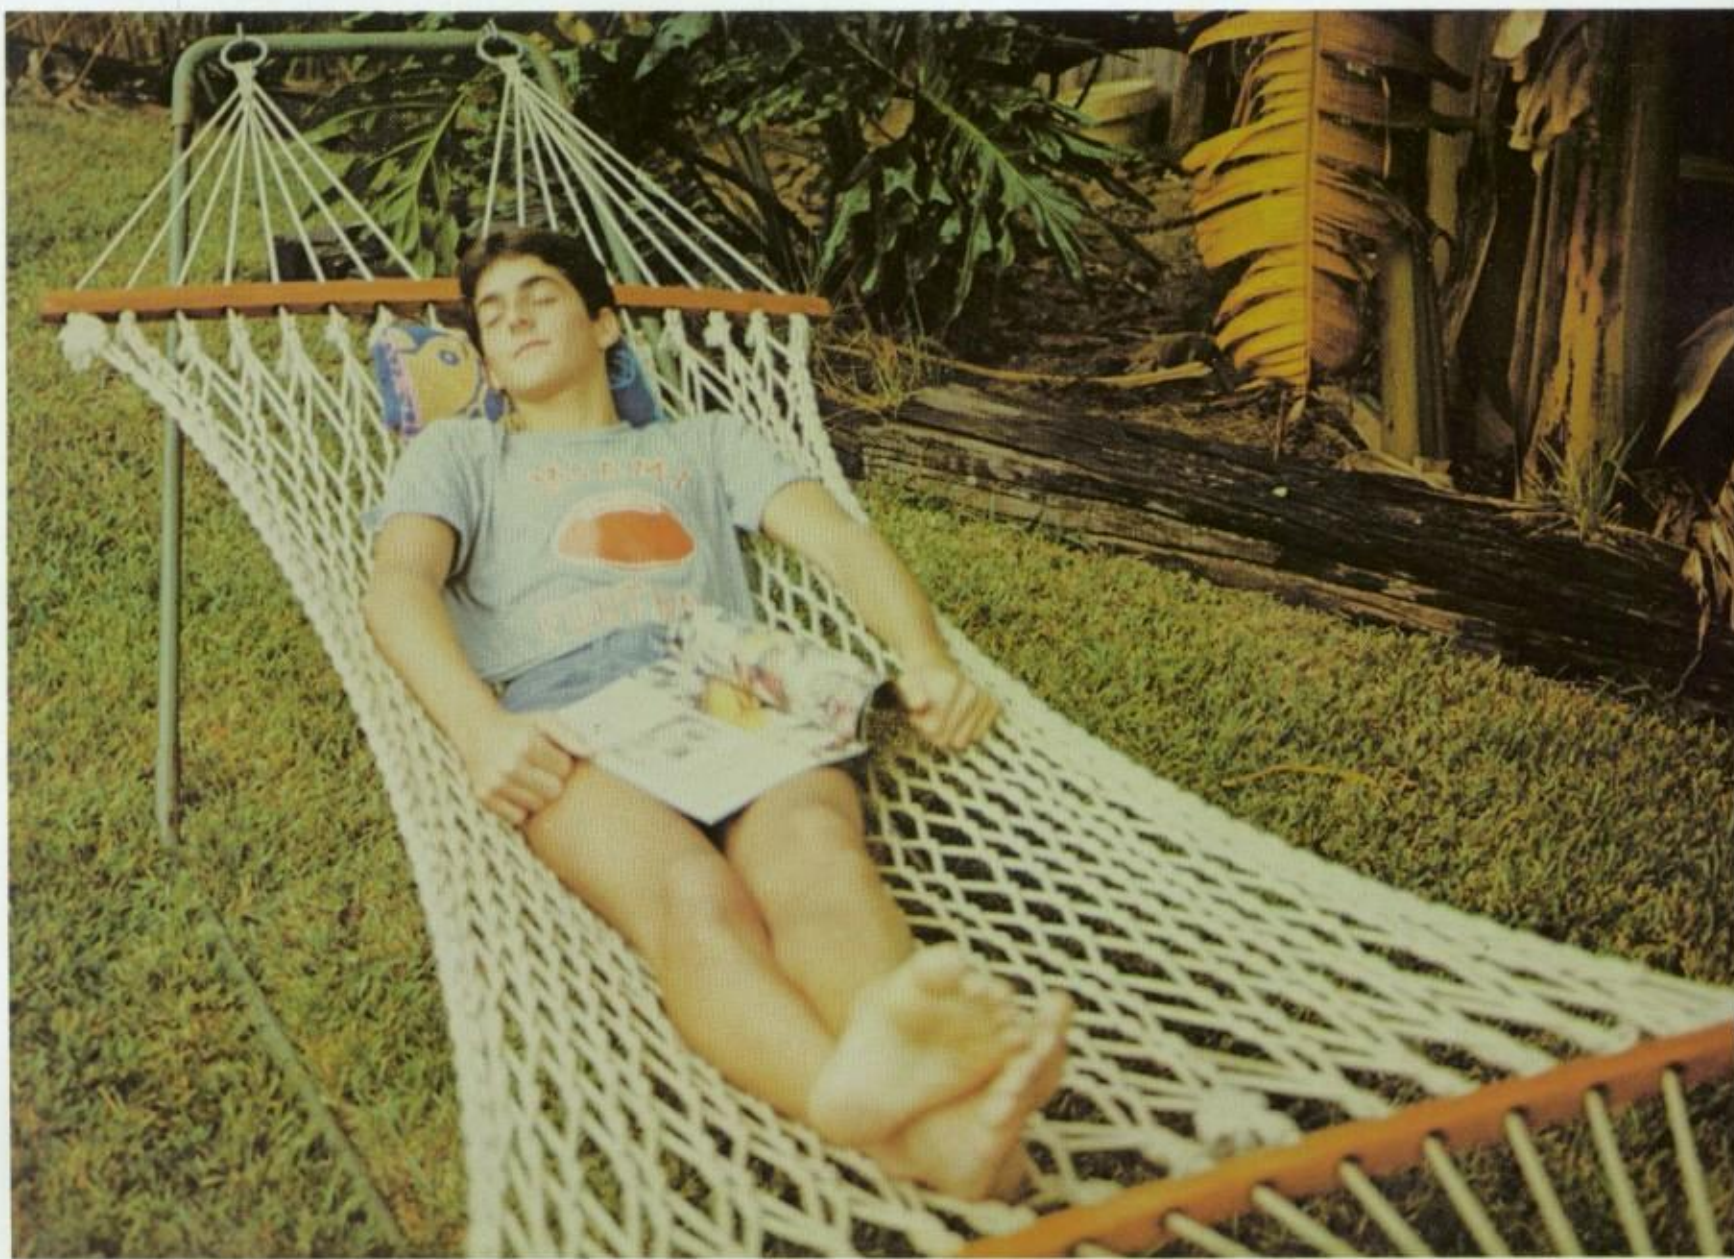

Friendships form out of a love of one person for another. In order for such a relationship to flourish, it must include other elements such as a joint caring, respect, and understanding. Close friends relate, discuss, and share the highlights as well as the disappointments of their lifetimes.

Hobbies play an important part in our everyday lives; they serve not only as a method of relaxation, but as a source of entertainment as well. Ranging from pinball to water polo, wasting time constructively has won its way into the hearts of many. Here at Evans, favorite hobbies include such things as playing cards, weekend football games, and other creative endeavors. In these pages, the Chariot has attempted to capture the "hobby" and the "hobbyer" in action.

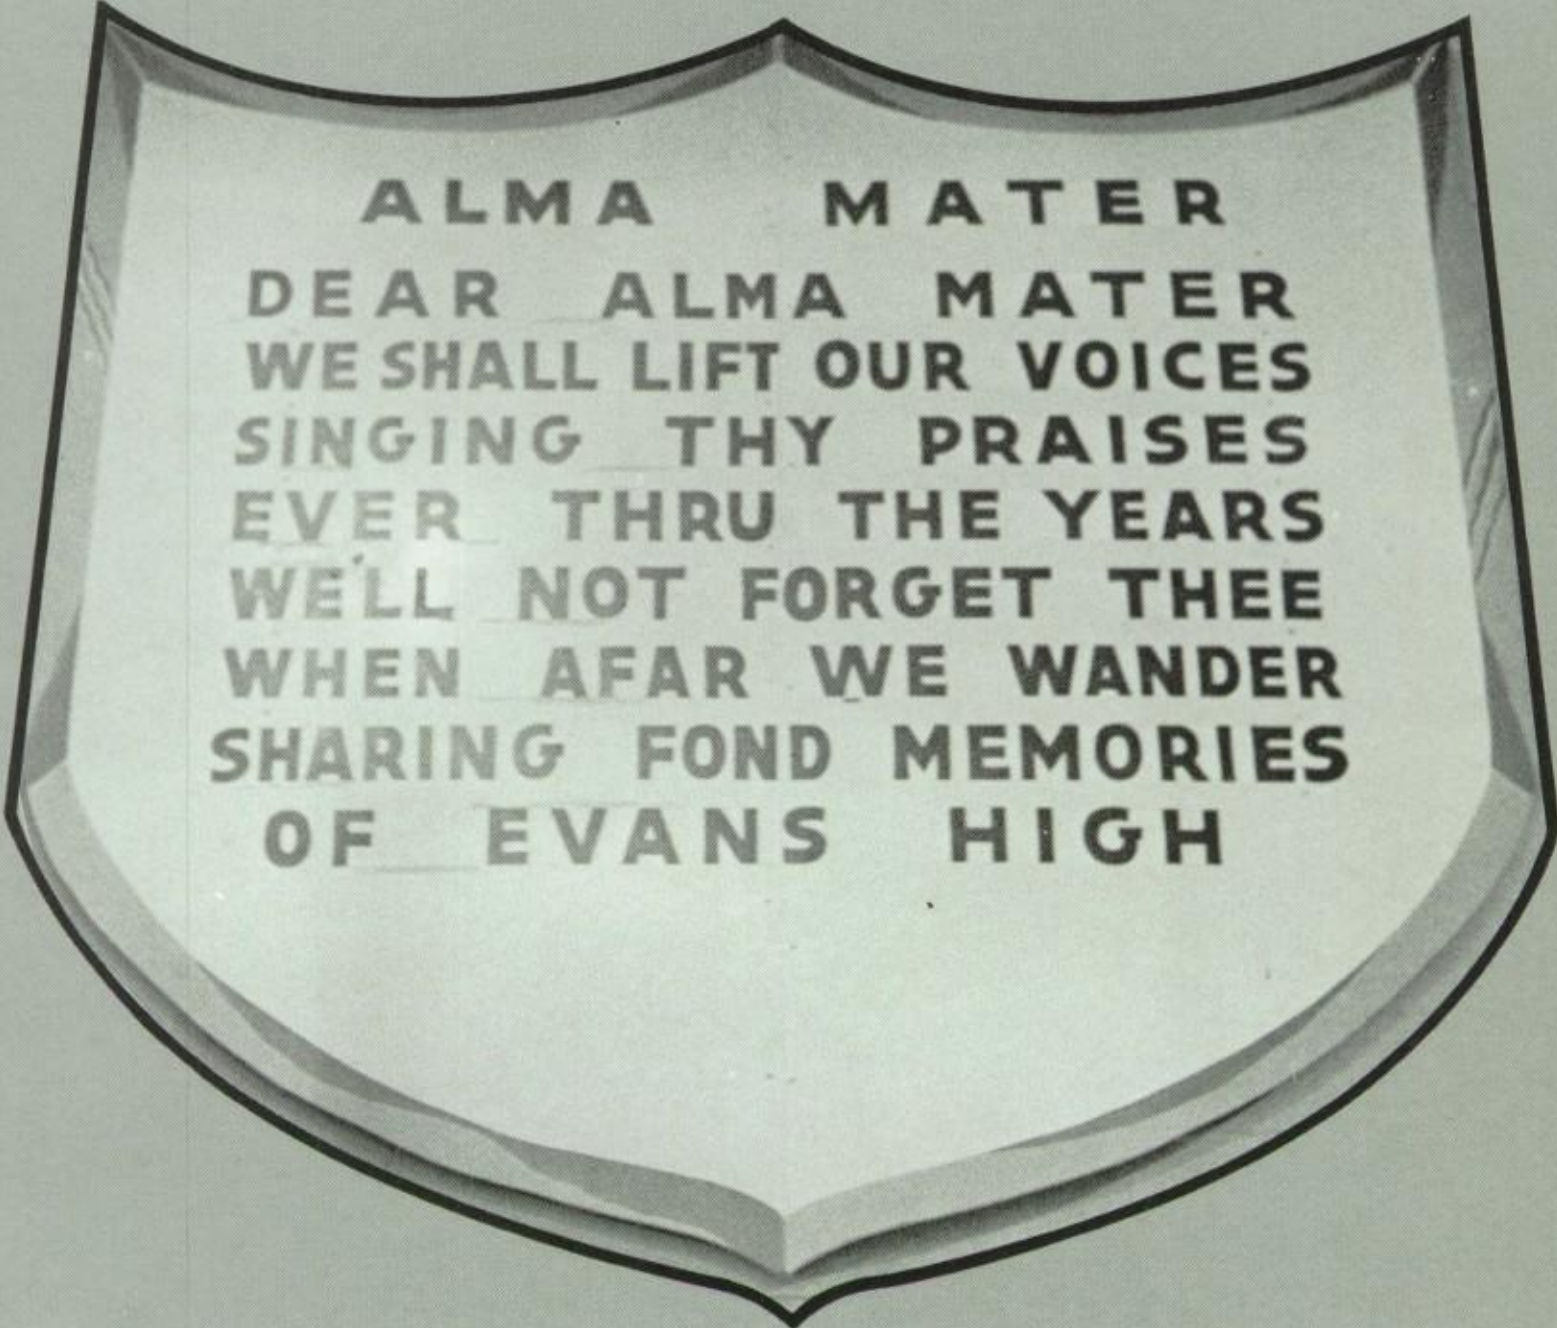

Each student has his own special way of enjoying his leisure time.

As a child is born, we recognize the first of many special OCCASIONS. Christmas festivities take place in Christian homes in celebration of the birth of Christ. Hanukkah, the celebration of lights, reminds us of the diversity of American cultures. Holidays, whether joyous or solemn, involve mass celebration and an exchange of gifts and of love. 🕯

SENIOR

We finally made it! (Well, most of us anyway.) After surviving Bahamas cruises, graduation preparations, and homecoming parades, we have completed our ultimate goal — graduating. Now we join the ranks of former Evans graduates in the cold cruel world.

Although the FEVER has temporarily diminished, it will return again in its full intensity as we recall fond memories of our cherished high school years through the pages of the CHARIOT.

This year we have experienced a sort of torn feeling between our allegiance to the past and our loyalty to the future. Suddenly, we must force ourselves away from the old to face the new.

Our lives compare to that of a mountain climber. For twelve years, we have scaled the mountain of education, accumulating knowledge every step of the way. At first, we climbed in anticipation of what the future might bring. As we neared the peak, our pace slackened, and we strove to see what awaited us. Doubt chilled us. Suddenly those behind us seemingly pushed us to the cliff's edge. While some plunged eagerly into the uncertainty of the futures, others faltered with indecision. Graduation, that had once loomed so far in the distance, sprang up as one of the biggest steps we encounter in our lives.

Now, we must begin rebuilding our lives. We must set new goals and strive to reach them.

Never again will our lives resemble what we had here at Maynard Evans High, but we will always have our memories to cherish forever.

JUNIORS

As JUNIORS, we underwent many changes during the span of this one year. Despite prom pressures and class ring costs, most of us survived without a single scratch. This stage in our lives represented an important transition from Sophomore to Senior. Next year, the CLASS OF '80 WILL RULE!!

SOPHOMORES

Misery usually follows a Sophomore through his first year at Evans. Between having to find his new classes, meeting new teachers and upper classmen, and learning the ways of Evans, new challenges meet him at every turn. The Class of '81 learned to cope by keeping themselves busy with a variety of activities.

The Student Government Association launched another successful Homecoming celebration, using themes used in previous school history. Each club or organization chose the one they wished to portray in the float competition. After a week of dressing to such motifs as Farmer Day, Baby Day, Grease Day, and Spirit Day, students appeared at the Trojan stadium to cheer their team onto victory and to witness the crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen, Frank Poin-dexter and Toni Russell.

ST. LIFE

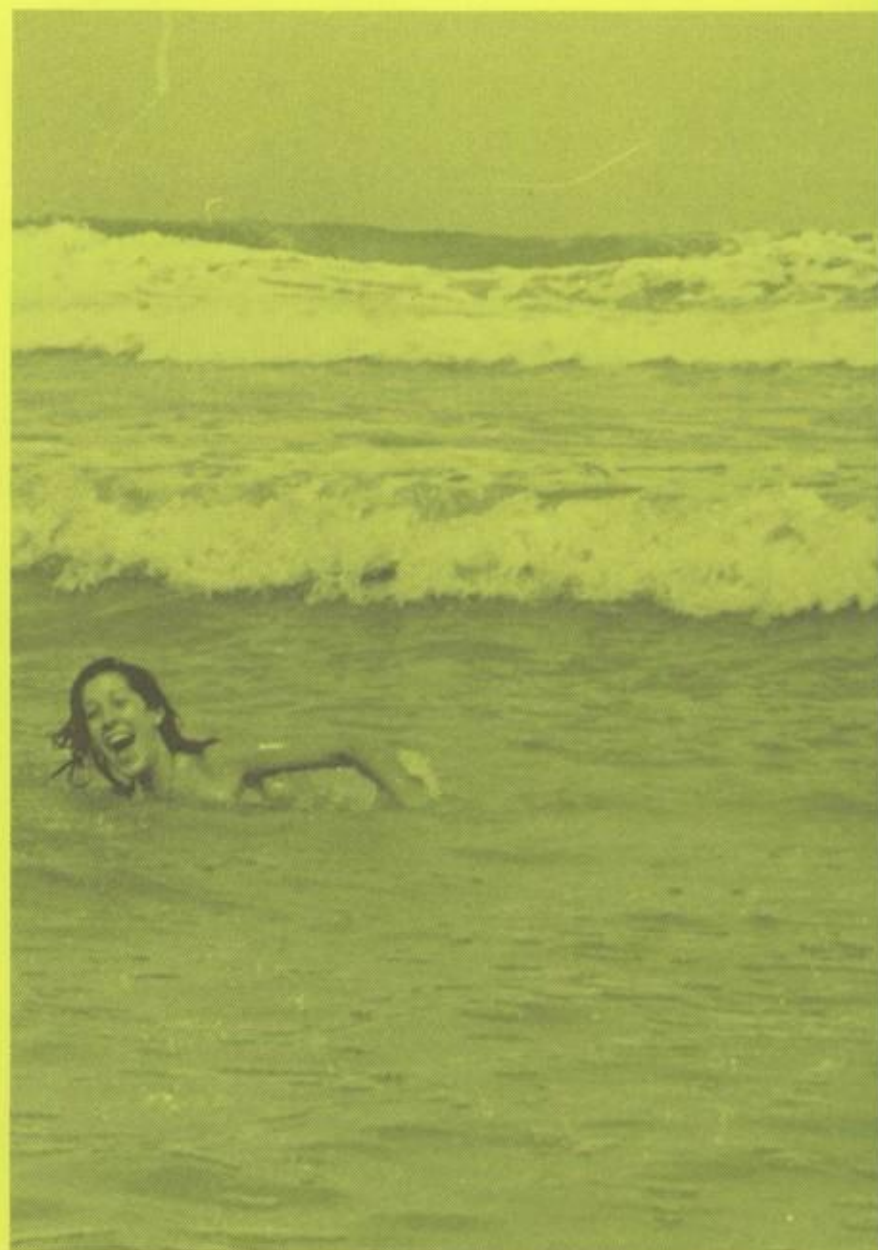

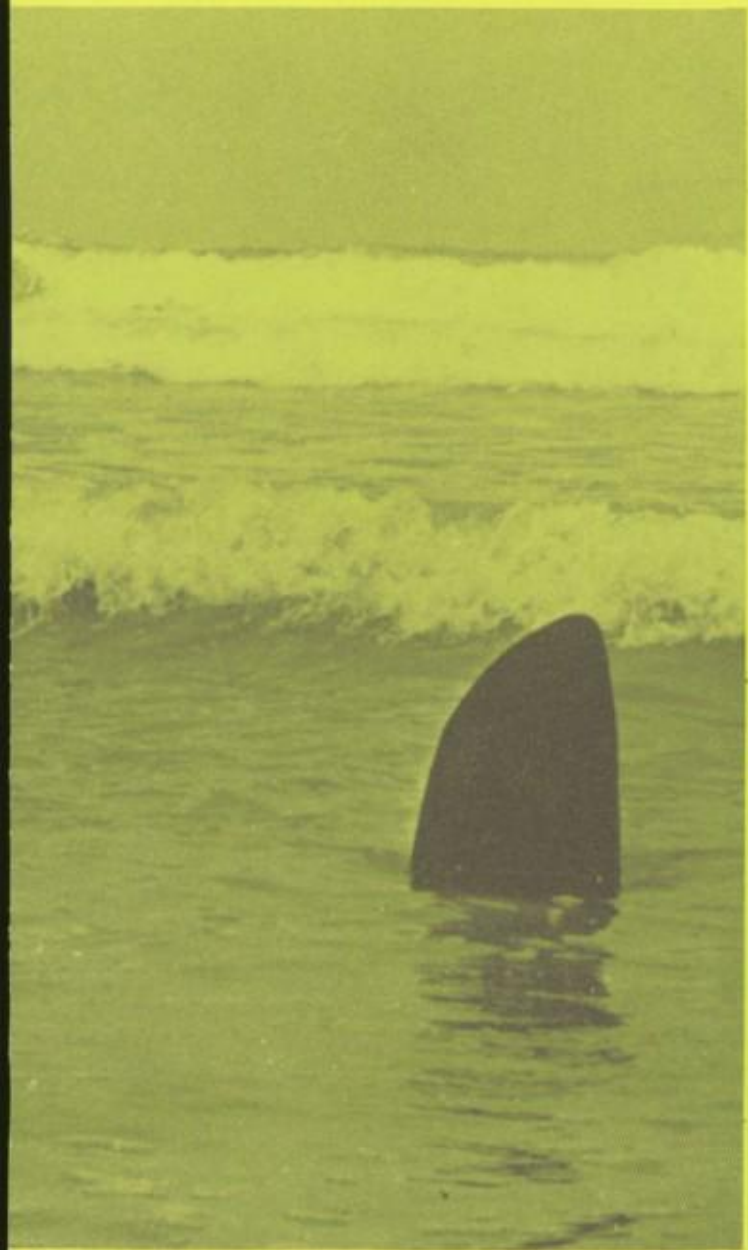

School makes up only a minute portion of Student Life. Friends, family, and fun combine to create well rounded people. Activities on campus as well as off add to our already crowded memories until securely buried in the deep recesses of our minds to return at a moment's notice. Through entertainment we seek to escape our compounding problems, even if only temporarily. In this section of Student Life, we seek to capture some of these "mini-escapes" for permanent display.

The beach offered a place of entertainment and relaxation again this year to school-weary students. Some days seemed just too beautiful to spend at school, resulting in major traffic jams on I-4. Caravans of students invaded the surrounding beaches to enjoy a day of fun in the sun and of being together. As the sun set, the day's activities ceased; and the students returned home to assume their proper roles as Evans Trojans.

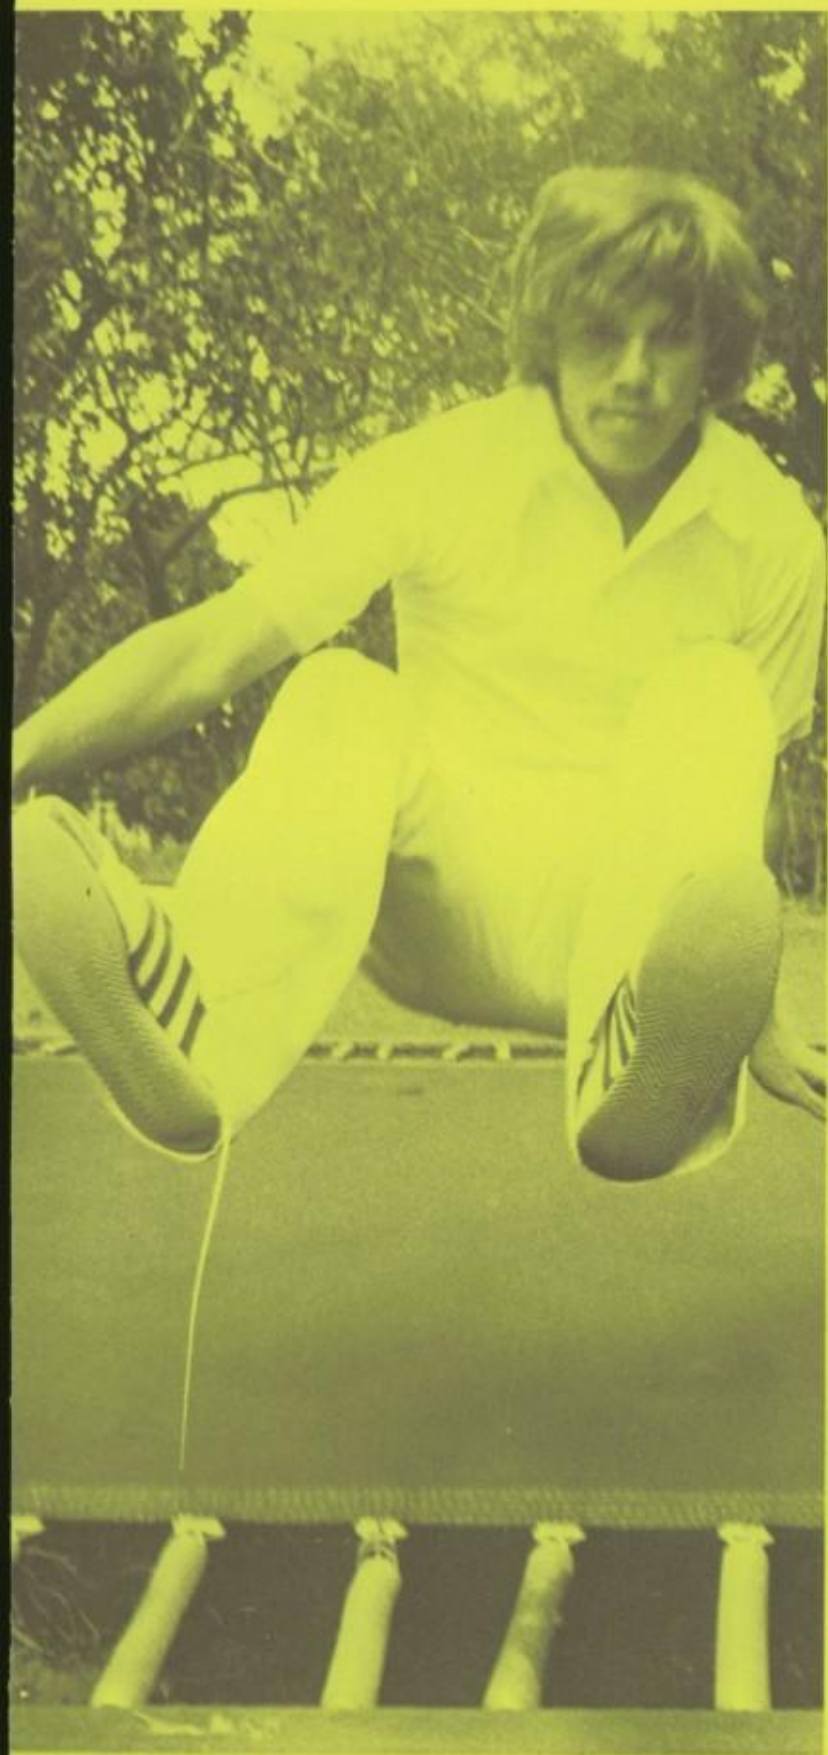

By shrilly shrieking at Halloween and exchanging gifts at Christmas, we each participated in the festivities of the holiday season. Holidays invite closeness and companionship into our homes. Friends and family unite to share a special time of their lives with the ones they love.

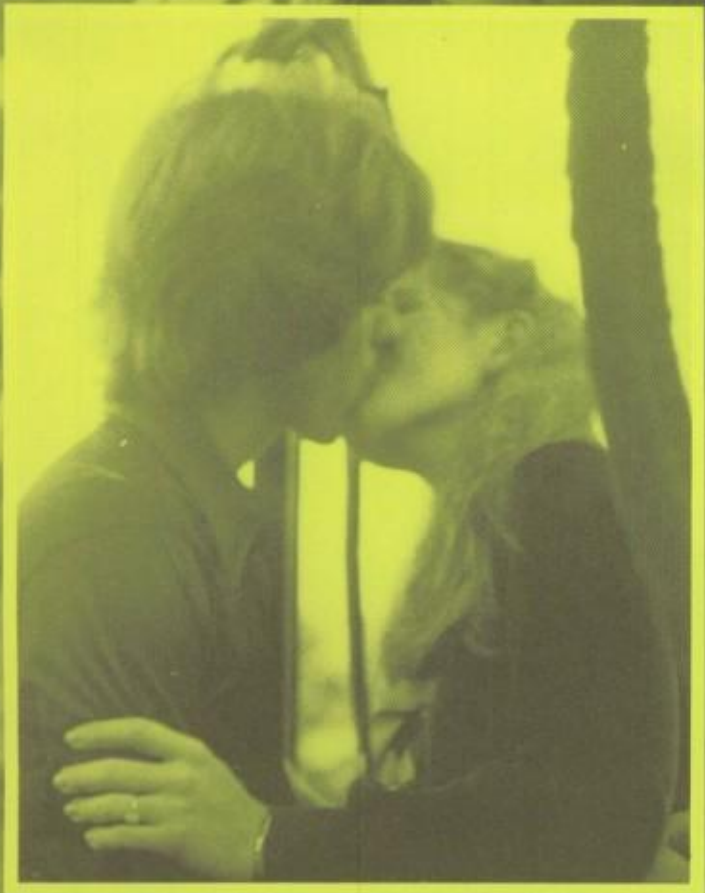

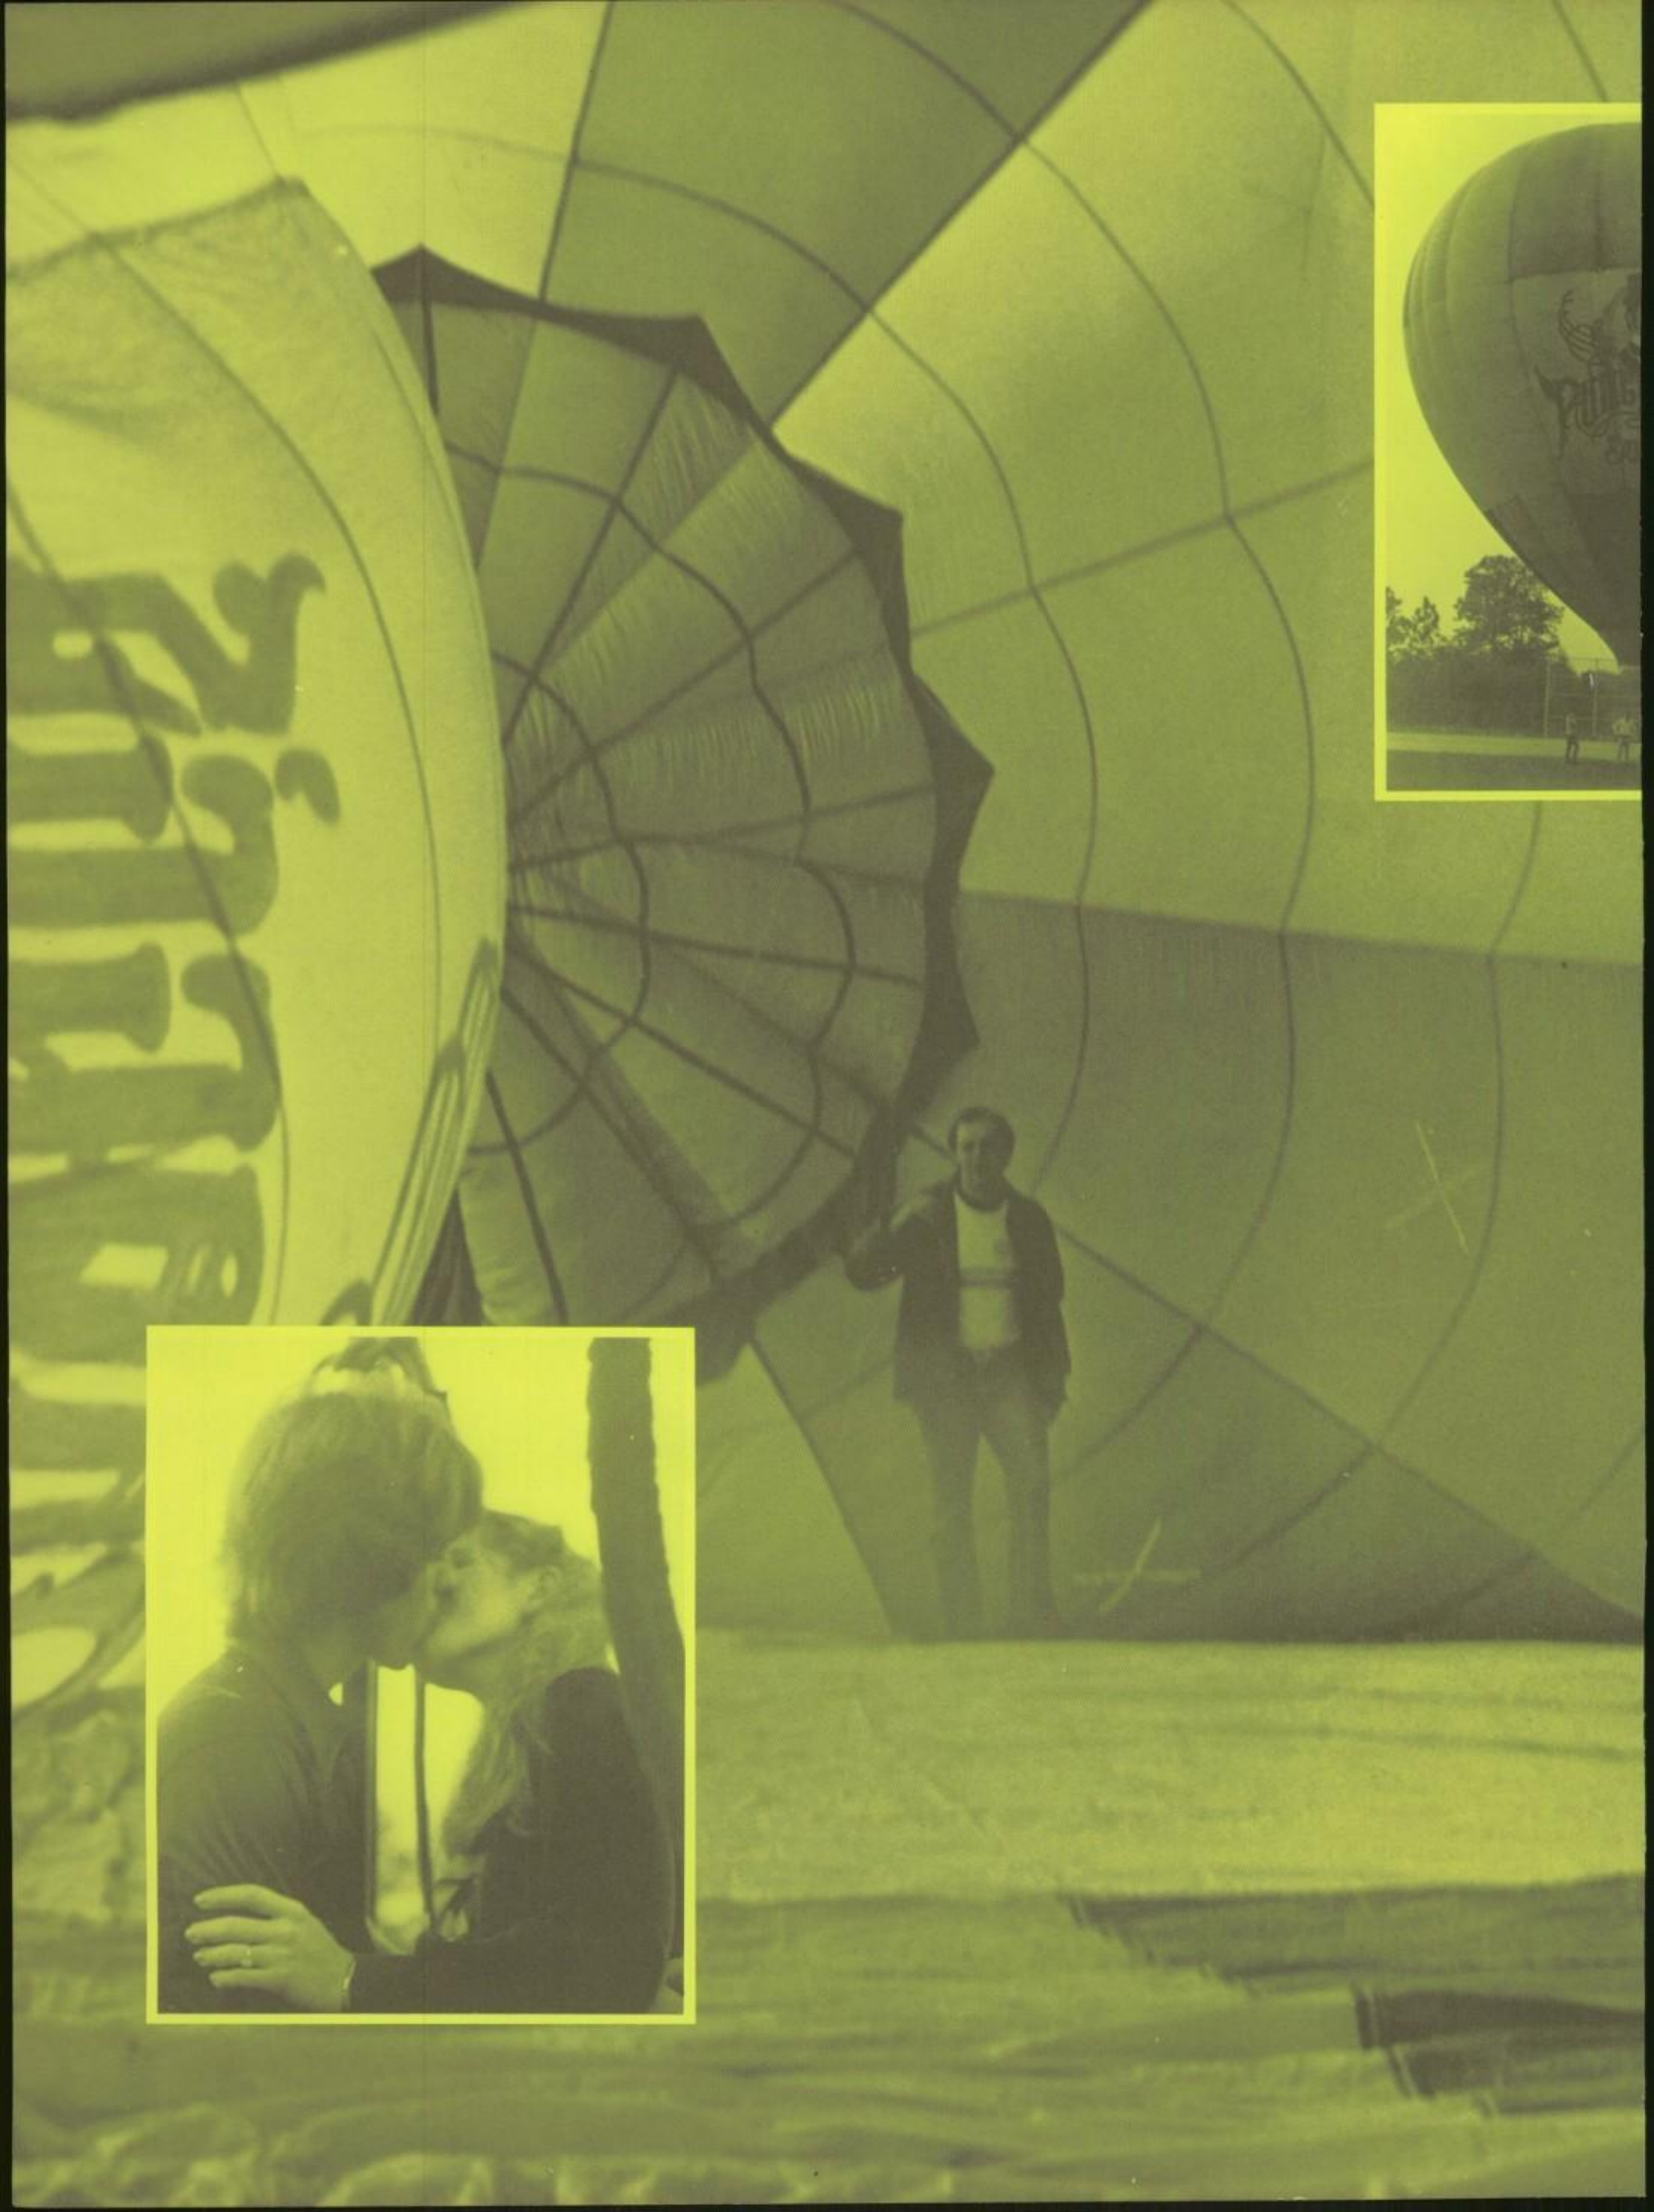

Each student has his own way of enjoying himself during his leisure time.

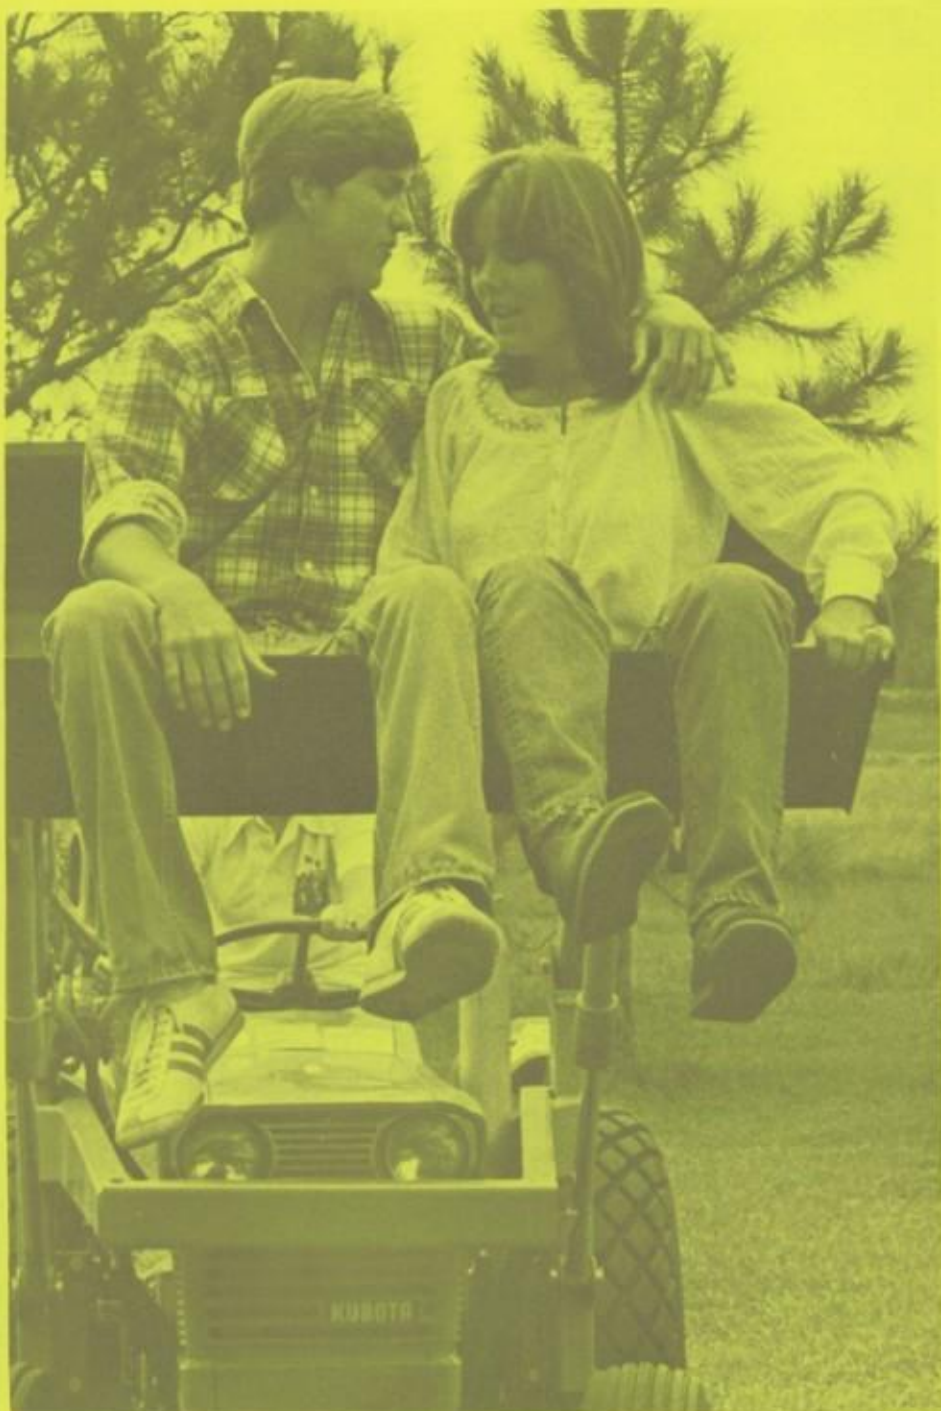

Relationships between friends have grown stronger as we progress toward graduation. Perhaps the fact that graduation will sever these friendships permanently has brought us closer together. Although we will attempt to "keep in touch", we will never have a time together again just to laugh, talk, or share feelings as we have had here at Maynard Evans High.

Dating has always played an important part in the lives of high school students. During these final school years, much thought goes into the making of future plans. Marriage, families, and careers must have deep consideration before the first steps in the real world can begin. Although many go separate ways, some high school couples eventually marry, and what began as a good friendship develops into a lasting, loving, relationship. ■

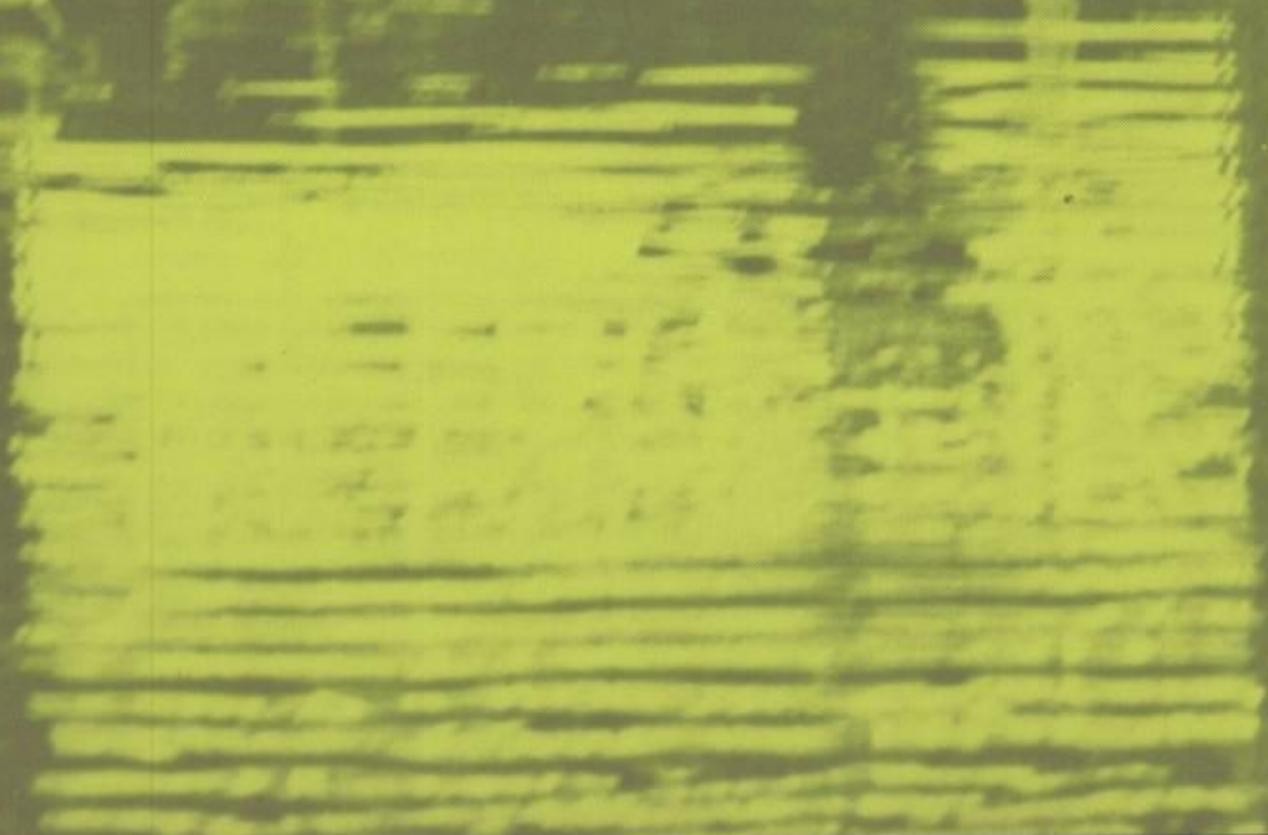

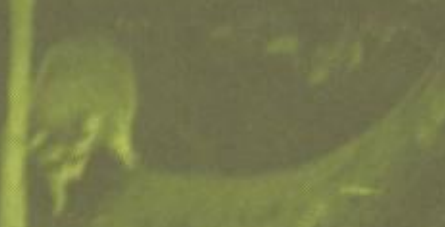

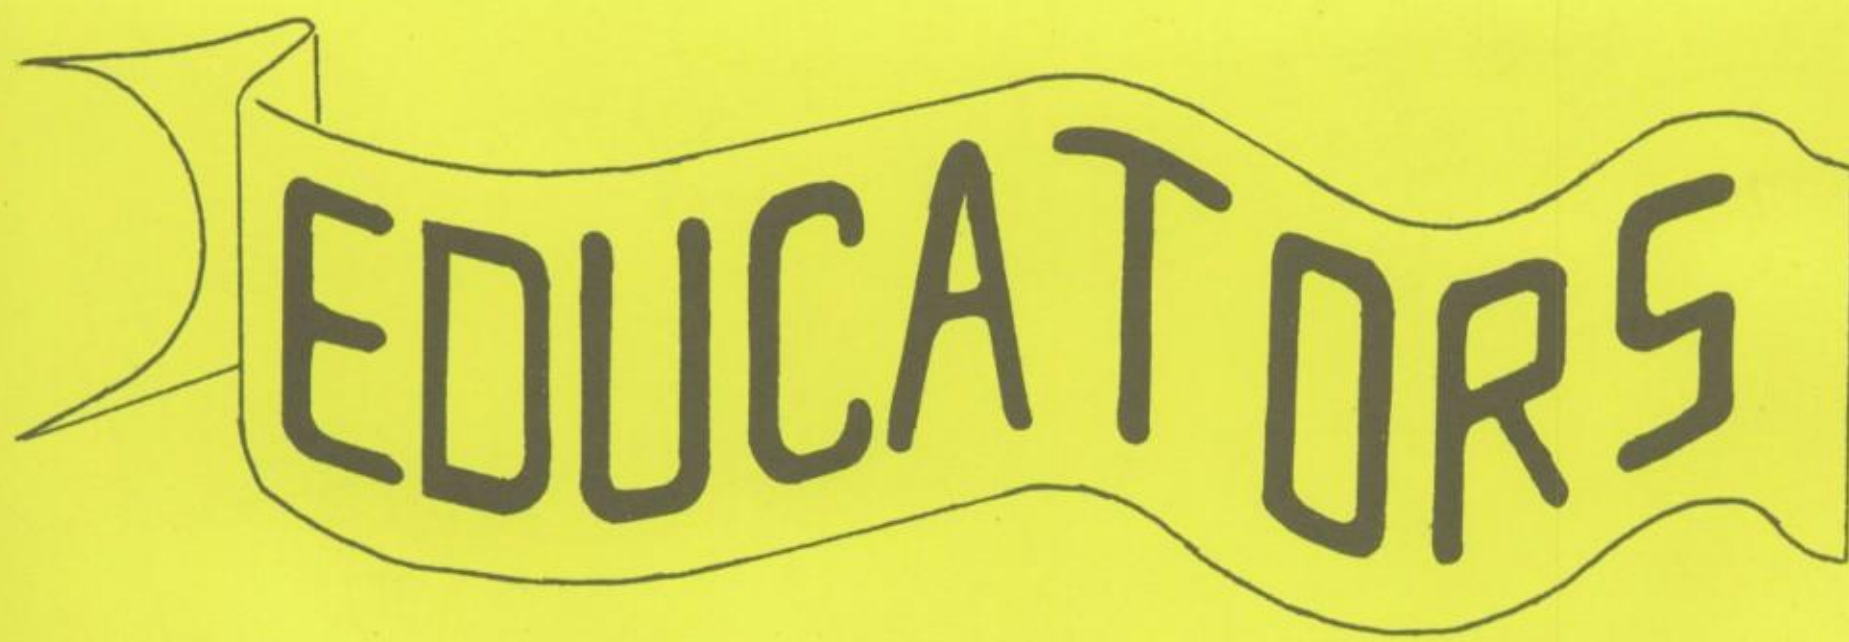

Spirit Week caused a great deal of confusion. Rowdy students participated in the best pep rally in the school's history. Even the administrators took part in the festivities. From farmers to fifties, people urged a Trojan victory. The homecoming parade, the bon-fire, and strong student support made Spirit Week a smashing success.

CONGRATULATIONS, "TROJANS"!

I would like to express my very special thanks to each student for helping make 1978-79 a successful school year.

Our teachers deserve a very special thanks for the good job of teaching they do and for the work they have done that goes far beyond the required effort.

I am proud of the scholarship that has been demonstrated during this school year. "Trojan" students are accepted by every major college and university and our Seniors have earned a goodly share of scholarships. Other "Trojan" students have successfully entered the job market and the "world of work."

Our clubs and class organizations have participated effectively in the life of our school. Extra-curricular activities have enhanced and complimented our school programs and made the school day more interesting and exciting.

Our parent groups have contributed significantly to our school and have proven that high school parents can, and do, get involved.

My hat is off to all who have joined together to make Maynard Evans #1 in every important way.

Communication keyed success ..

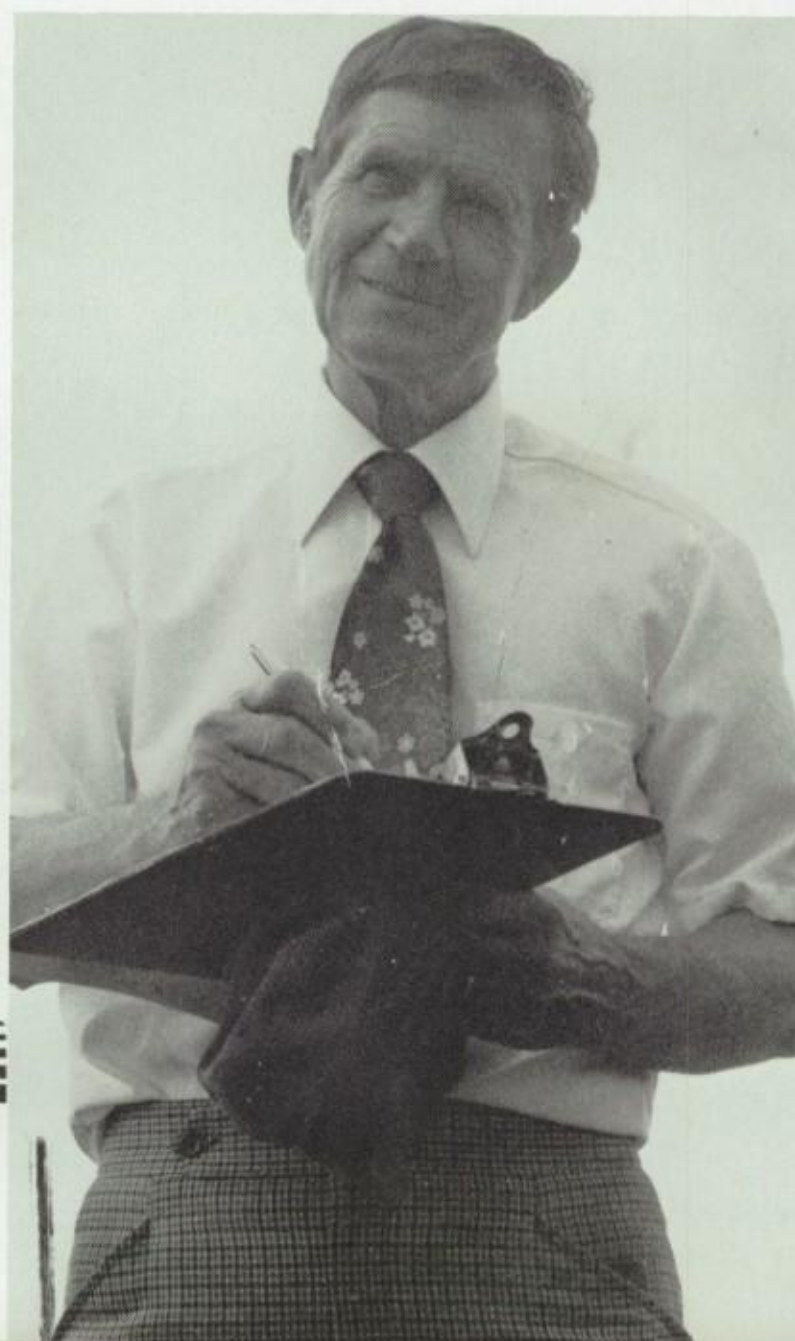

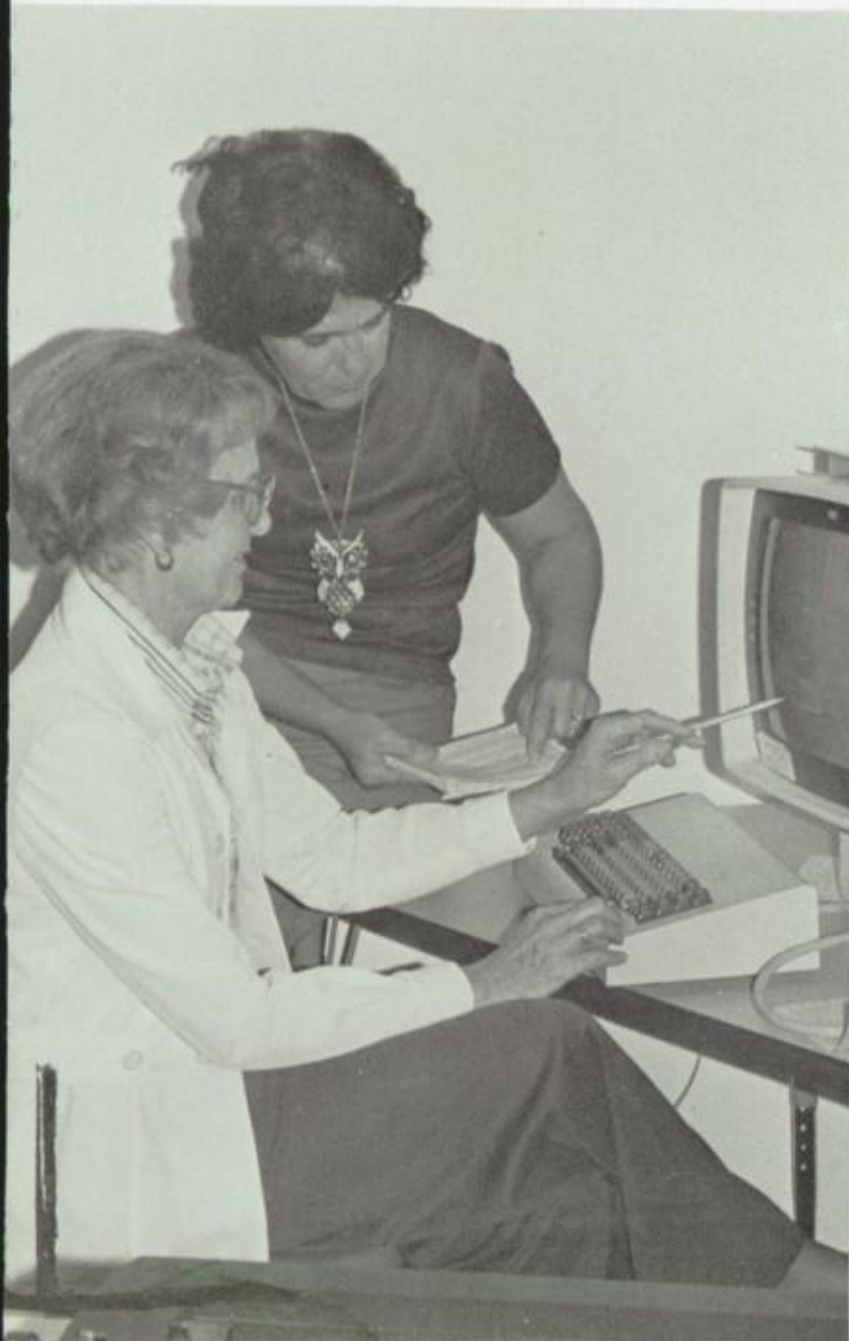

The administration accomplished the tasks of running the school efficiently by creating a better educational atmosphere for the student body and faculty. The ADMINISTRATORS, under the supervision of principal John C. Pitts, kept in close contact with students, communicating and relating problems and suggesting possible solutions. Thanks to the dedication of these people, Trojans enjoyed a more relaxed atmosphere at MEHS.

Agriculture department beautifies campus

The landscaping of campus surroundings fulfilled the goals set by the AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT. Those students interested in horticulture found that agriculture classes suited their needs. Mr. William Fluitt, the department chairman, with the assistance of Mr. Alvin Davis and Mr. Tom Bland helped organize the students in their efforts to beautify Evans' campus.

Thoughts turn into masterpieces

The smell of oil paint, the crackling of the kiln, the snap of camera shutters enticed many Trojans into art classes to express themselves creatively in the courses offered by the ART DEPARTMENT. Some turned lumps of clay into glazed figurines while others worked with pastels and oils to create landscapes, still lifes and portraits. Still other Trojans roamed the campus checking light meters, distances, and focuses before zooming in to snap the perfect picture. As more students developed an interest in art, more courses expanded from the beginning level to a more advanced level, providing further training in art techniques.

Business education prepares future ...

Business Education, more than any other subject, registered applicable not only to the students who planned to enter the world of business but also for those who planned to enter college. The BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT, headed by Miss Aileen Kuhn, recommended courses designed for specific careers such as accounting and business law, and shorthand and typing for practical use. For the most part, students acquired skills that would benefit them in any path they might chose to follow in later years.

Jobs introduce new experiences . . .

Mrs. Jackie Moore

Providing jobs and on-the-job experiences for students occupied the time and resources of the CAREER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM. Mrs. Bernadine Ford, Career Development Specialist, worked with students helping them find jobs that coincided with their career interests. The EBCE program, guided by Mrs. Jackie Moore, provided the students with information about careers, career entrance skills, decision-making, and planning. In addition, students developed skills such as problem solving, interpersonal relationships, and economic and consumer competency. The students gained experience, information, and direction toward career goals.

Trojans hit and run

Amid the screech of tires and the thud of cones, the DRIVER EDUCATION teachers, Mr. Webb, Mr. Skelton, and Mr. Kessler, kept calm. Students learned basic driving skills such as the figure-eight, parallel parking, and the three-point turn. While in the classroom, the students studied safety techniques and the importance of defensive driving. State law no longer requires minors to take driver education, however, it retained its status as one of the most popular courses on the Trojan campus.

English courses retain their Trojan appeal ...

While walking through the halls of the English Department, one may hear many different things. Whether it be "Out, out, damned spot!" or the screams from the Salem Witch Trails, one can be sure that the ENGLISH DEPARTMENT at Evans, headed by Miss Cheryl Stark assisted by Miss Laura Kirkland retains its status of popularity among Trojans.

This year, the English department went through many changes. After two years' absence, Honors English returned, taught by Miss Wana Senter. The English department offered a new course, Sports and Entertainment Literature while expanding Bible Literature and Vocabulary from two quins to four. For the college-bound student, the English department also offered courses such as Senior Language and Composition, Humanities and British Literature. In addition, the English classes helped students prepare for the State Assessment Test.

Foreign languages introduced students to world cultures ...

Under the new chairperson, Mrs. Judith Brown, THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT instructed students in six languages—French, German, Italian, Latin, Spanish, and for the first year, Russian. Students learned the customs of their language from the cultural experiences held in class. Trojans also participated in competitions on the county, district, and state levels throughout the year. Evans language students brought home many honors and awards for their efforts.

The sound of whirring sewing machines, the joyful noises of toddlers running around the room, and savory aromas greeted the senses of those who entered the home economics department. Under the direction of Mrs. Subbs, the HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT offered students classes in sewing, modeling, child development, child care and foods.

We get by with a little help ...

The clicking of typewriters, the shuffling of schedules and the questioning of students created sounds of confusion in the GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT. Under this controlled chaos, the counselors worked to help each student pass through the maze of course offerings, college choices, and vocational opportunities to reach graduation. Each counselor directed a special area of guidance, giving students information to help them determine their futures.

Drafting creates artists . . .

Artistic talents hidden within many students surfaced in industrial arts class. Classes ranged from working with wood and plastics to engineering drawing. Skills in basic math allowed students to register for courses offered by the INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT, headed by Mr. Richard Slater. These classes provided good background for many job opportunities, such as architecture and carpentry.

Reading opens door to success

As students' interest in careers, colleges, and pleasure reading increased, the Career Center, started in 1975, also increased and expanded. The LIBRARY, headed by Ms. Connie Stevens, expanded the Career Center and remodeled the student lounge area for the comfort of the students. The librarians hope to encourage more young people to read and to enjoy the many aspects of reading.

Mathematics adds up ...

Great things happened in the Evans High MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT. The 1978-79 school year offered a variety of classes from which to select. Popularity increased in geometry, algebra, trigonometry, basic math skills, and computer math courses. Juniors and seniors capitalized on the basic math classes, which gave the students extra guidance and supplemental work needed for the State Assessment Test. The Math Department, chaired by Mr. Gerald Baumeister, efficiently worked to meet the needs of each and every student. ■

Music makes memories ...

The staccato tapping of an instructor's baton, a trumpet tuning up, and a group harmonizing brought delightful sounds to the ears of those who entered the music hall. Mr. Knepper, choral director, and Mr. Herron, band director, combined their efforts forming the MUSIC DEPARTMENT. Their classes offered the music-interested student the opportunity to broaden his horizons with complete courses and public performances. When students found themselves asking what pep rallies and assemblies would seem like without the rhythm and music of the band and chorus, their answers did not prove surprising. They felt that these two groups, aided by their instructors, should keep on performing to keep on pleasing.

Special services provided for the handicapped students fulfilled the goals of the EXCEPTIONAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT. The clicking of combinations and the banging of lockers could be heard as students rushed to change into green and white Trojan uniforms, then dashed out to the various playing areas. There they participated in many different recreational activities including the three newest, swimming, roller skating, and weight lifting. While students participated in these activities they learned recreational qualities such as sportsmanship, style, and team work.

With four trimesters of science required, most students chose biology for their credit. In addition, the SCIENCE DEPARTMENT, headed by Mr. Larry Hunt, offered a variety of courses for the interested student. Besides the ever-popular biology, students opted for ecology, physical science, genetics, and chemistry.

Science courses challenged students of all levels. One student expressed her dismay by describing chemistry as the most difficult class taken in all her school years.

Science challenges students ...

Another constantly burns the midnight oil preparing for major chemistry exams. Several students viewed the experiments by two extremes, from fun to dangerous. Julie Hunter summarized her thoughts as follows: "Taking a chemistry class is both challenging and disappointing grade-wise."

These mind-boggling courses played an important part in the curriculum because of the role of science in this technological society. The fundamentals taught by the science department opened doors to possibilities of a challenging future.

Office specialists contribute services ...

Searching through files, typing letters, answering telephones, making appointments, assisting the administrators, teachers, and students kept the OFFICE PERSONNEL busy. Always ready to help and to answer questions, these people made life easier for everyone at Evans. The many jobs done by the personnel kept the school running smoothly.

Workers keep school going

The lunchroom staff, comprising one half of the supporting staff, cooked nutritious, balanced meals which helped keep the Trojans in top shape. The sweeping and the cleaning done by the custodians, the other half of the SUPPORTING STAFF, kept the Trojan campus in top shape. Every afternoon and night, the custodians labored to keep the Green Machine's campus clean and green.

A Touch of Class

A school can only exist through the spirit, the leadership, and the dedication of the students who attend it. People must work together to make their school successful. Unfortunately, the Chariot could not acknowledge each and every individual's achievements, so we have chosen to recognize a small portion of the outstanding seniors of '79.

As president of the Student Government Association, DAN EIFERT stayed busy planning activities sponsored by the organization. Much of his activities during the first half of the year centered around preparation for the Homecoming festivities.

Dan devoted the first part of his day making the morning announcements over the school's intercom. His popularity spread quickly as he

The always-smiling president of the National Honor Society, SHERRI KOVALSKI, worked hard towards making the club an asset to community as well as school by providing various services and projects. Sherri's list of accomplishments includes such honors as membership in the Math and Spanish Honor Societies and nomination to Who's Who in American High Schools.

The women's chapter of the V.F.W. selected Sherri as the outstanding young lady to represent them in Tallahassee during a meeting of the state legislature.

"It's really hard for me to briefly say exactly what I'll remember the most about Evans, because I will miss everyone and everything. The teachers, sponsors, and friends I've had for all these years will be gone, living their own lives, and this school where I've felt so at home for all of these years will belong to someone else. Mostly, I guess, I'll miss that feeling of security I developed here in the safety of all of my friends.

gained the most widely recognized voice in the school.

Scholastically, Dan did an outstanding job as he maintained a better than 3.5 grade point average making him a member of N.H.S. and vice president of M.A.T.

"I'll always remember the students and faculty at Evans High as the people who have helped me to grow so much. I will be eternally grateful."

As one of the few returning starters on the Volleyball team, KRISTI BAETZMAN played a valuable role as team captain.

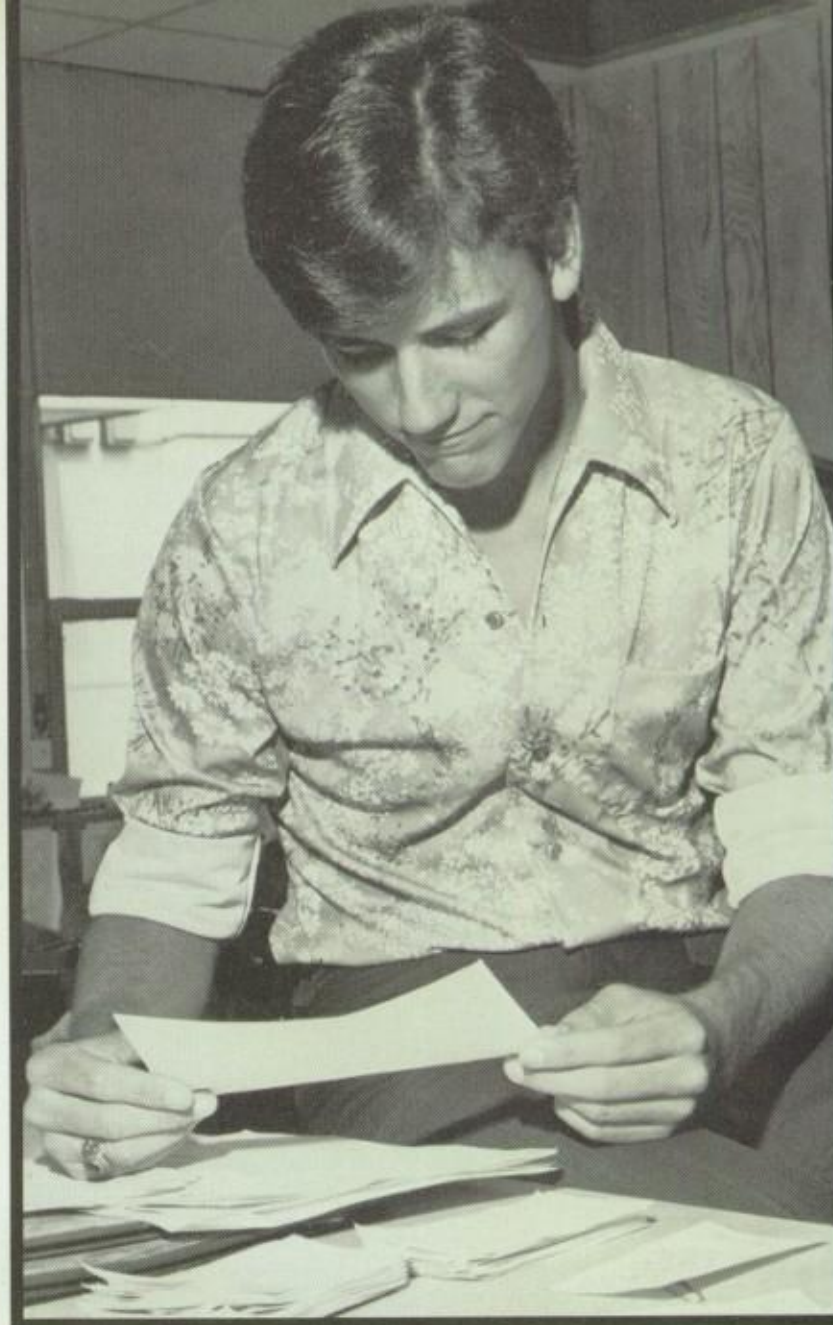

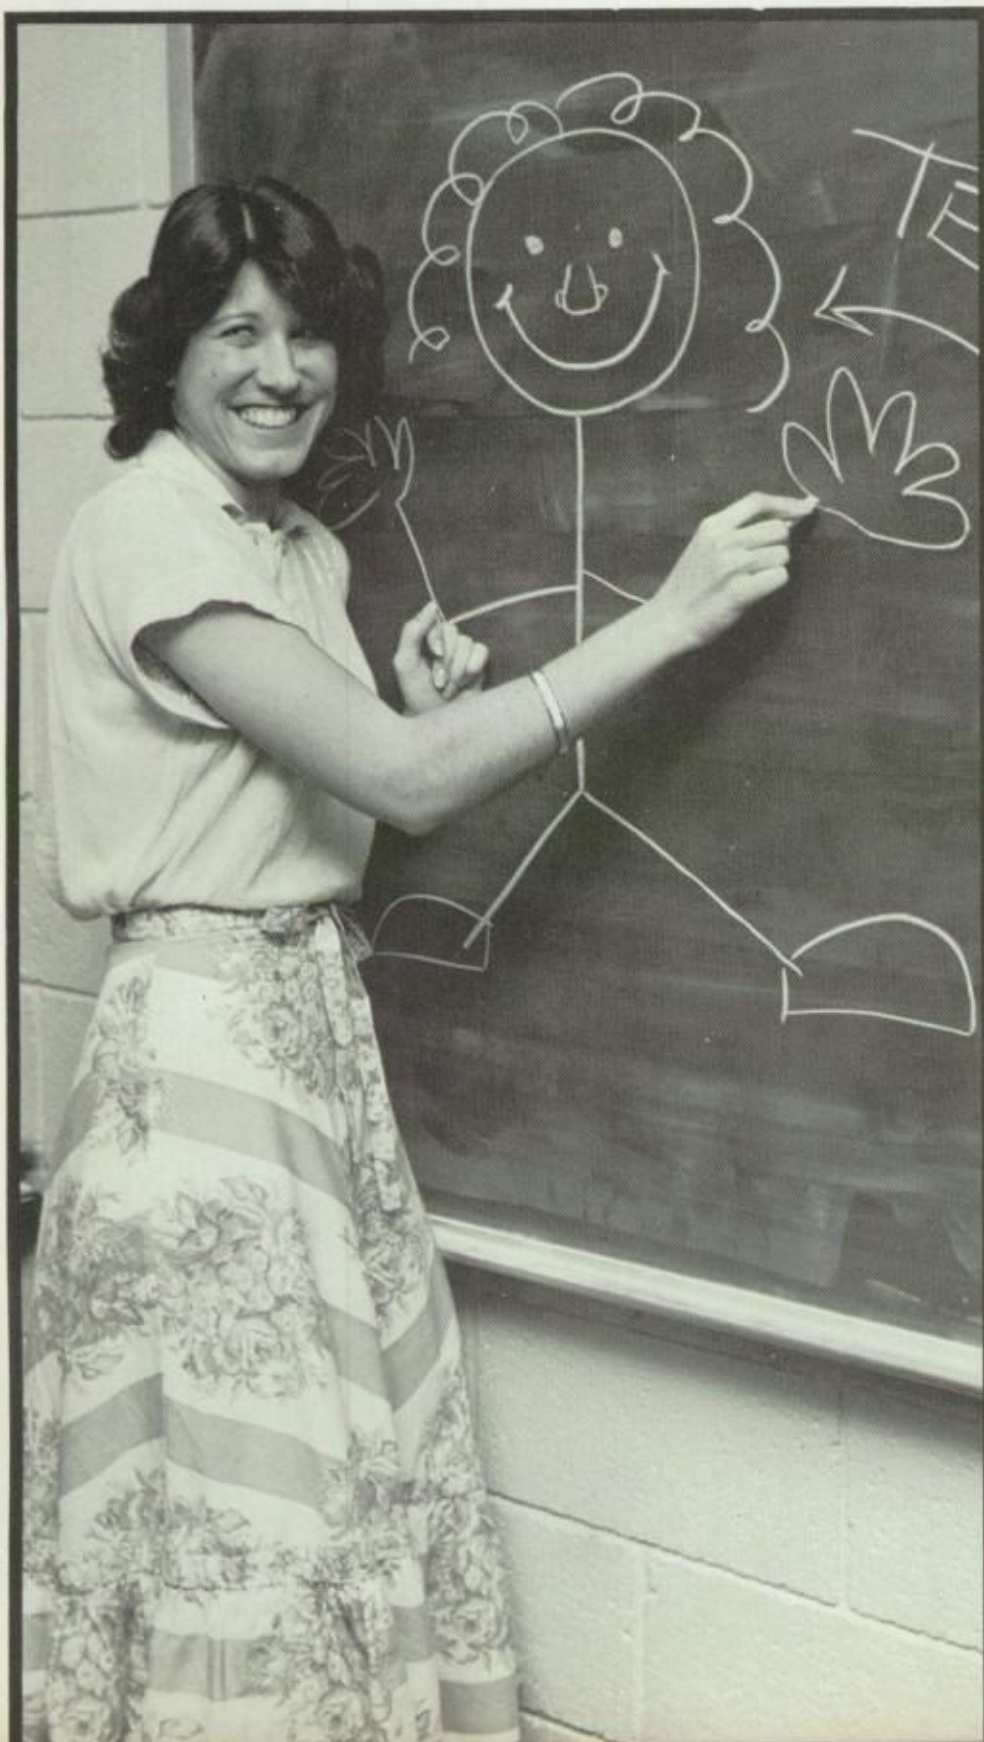

When she did not have games or practices, Kristi worked diligently towards meeting yearbook deadlines.

Her second year on the Chariot, she joined the ranks of the editorial staff.

Kristi also actively participated in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes organization on campus, acting as Publicity Coordinator.

At her own church, Saint Paul's Presbyterian, Kristi served as a deacon, an honor bestowed upon the few qualified members of the congregation.

"My most memorable times at Evans were the ones shared with the Batchelor and Dunagin families. Poor Mrs. Batchelor having to put up with me for three classes a day and after school until all hours to meet yearbook deadlines. Like always Mr. and Mrs. Dunagin were there backing and supporting not just me, but the class of '79; be it for a school project or just a get together at their home. I'll sincerely miss all of them.

Another outstanding scholar-athlete, JON GRIESHABER, held a membership in the N.H.S. and played for the Varsity Baseball team. Jon practiced pitching six days a week, after school and on Saturday. At night, he kept up with his studies and attended weekly meetings of the F.C.A.

As part of his school service, Jon wrote sports articles for the "Trojan Tribune".

"The thing I will miss the most is the warmth and friendly atmosphere exhibited by the students and teachers of Evans High."

Basketball and FRANK POINDEXTER just go together, but basketball occupies only part of his time. After appointed to the All-American High School Basketball team, he had another title bestowed upon him. Frank added another victory to his long list of accomplishments at Homecoming when named King of Troy. Other organizations Frank participated in included Student Government and Senior Class Council.

"I'll miss my friends and teachers, of course; but I think I'll miss the Basketball team the most, because it was an important part of my life."

Among the offices she held, CINDY WEBER controlled the funds of the N.H.S. as acting treasurer. Cindy also involved herself in school politics by joining the Student Government Association as a representative. As a council member, she represented the senior class, as well.

As for her athletic ability, Cindy swam for the school swim team and captained the team her senior year.

"I will definitely miss Evans, my teachers, my friends, but especially the swim team and coaches."

One of our top women athletes took the form of JANICE CROUD, but her athletic ability accounted for only part of her role at Evans. She participated in a variety of sports including basketball, volleyball, and softball. While busy on the court or field, she still managed to keep her grade point average at a high enough standard to get inducted into the N.H.S. and to get elected as President of M.A.T. Janice's activities did not restrict themselves to only school service either. On weekends, she played ball with Girls' Club or City League teams and often helped coach younger, less-experienced members.

"I will miss the casualness and freedom of the student life here at Evans."

"Go ahead, vote Red" rang out through the halls last Spring as members of the Class of '79 set out to cast their ballots. They did vote Red, and TERRY DUNAGIN emerged as Senior Class President. Terry's sense of humor and quick wit characterized not only her candid campaign style but also her career in a wide range of Evans activities.

As copy editor for the yearbook staff, Terry soon made herself indispensable to her fellow Charloteers. Her skill with words aided her further in her life as a reporter for the Trojan Tribune, in creative pub, and in NCTE writing competition.

In addition to her more scholarly pursuits Terry played on the Trojan's championship Softball Team. Her many contributions to the Evans scene did not escape notice. Area Exchange clubs named her outstanding student of the month. She received further honors when nominated to Who's Who Among Students in American High Schools.

"I'll never forget all of the hassles and help I've gotten from my friends and teachers. We've all become so close to each other and developed many special relationships. But wouldn't you know it! Just as I had finally gotten to where I feel at home, I've got to leave. I'll miss it all, but I'll be back ... AND THAT'S A THREAT!"

As editor-in-chief of the school newspaper The Trojan Tribune, LYNNSEY HACKLEY had to carefully divide her time between newspaper deadlines and tennis tournaments. What time she didn't spend supervising page layouts, she spent volleying with team members or traveling to tennis matches. Even with her extra-curricular involvement, Lynnsey's grades stayed at a high enough average for the National Honor Society.

"I think I'll remember all of the miles I covered on the tennis court, the shoes I've worn out, and the closeness I've developed with my team mates."

Marching, writing, and working made up most of JONATHON PINDER'S senior year. During football season, Jonathon marched with the band in half-time intermissions. When the season ended, he continued writing for the newspaper and began working for money to go to college.

Jonathon's highest honor occurred when he attended Boys' State as one of the honored juniors selected to go to Tallahassee and witness the State Legislature in action.

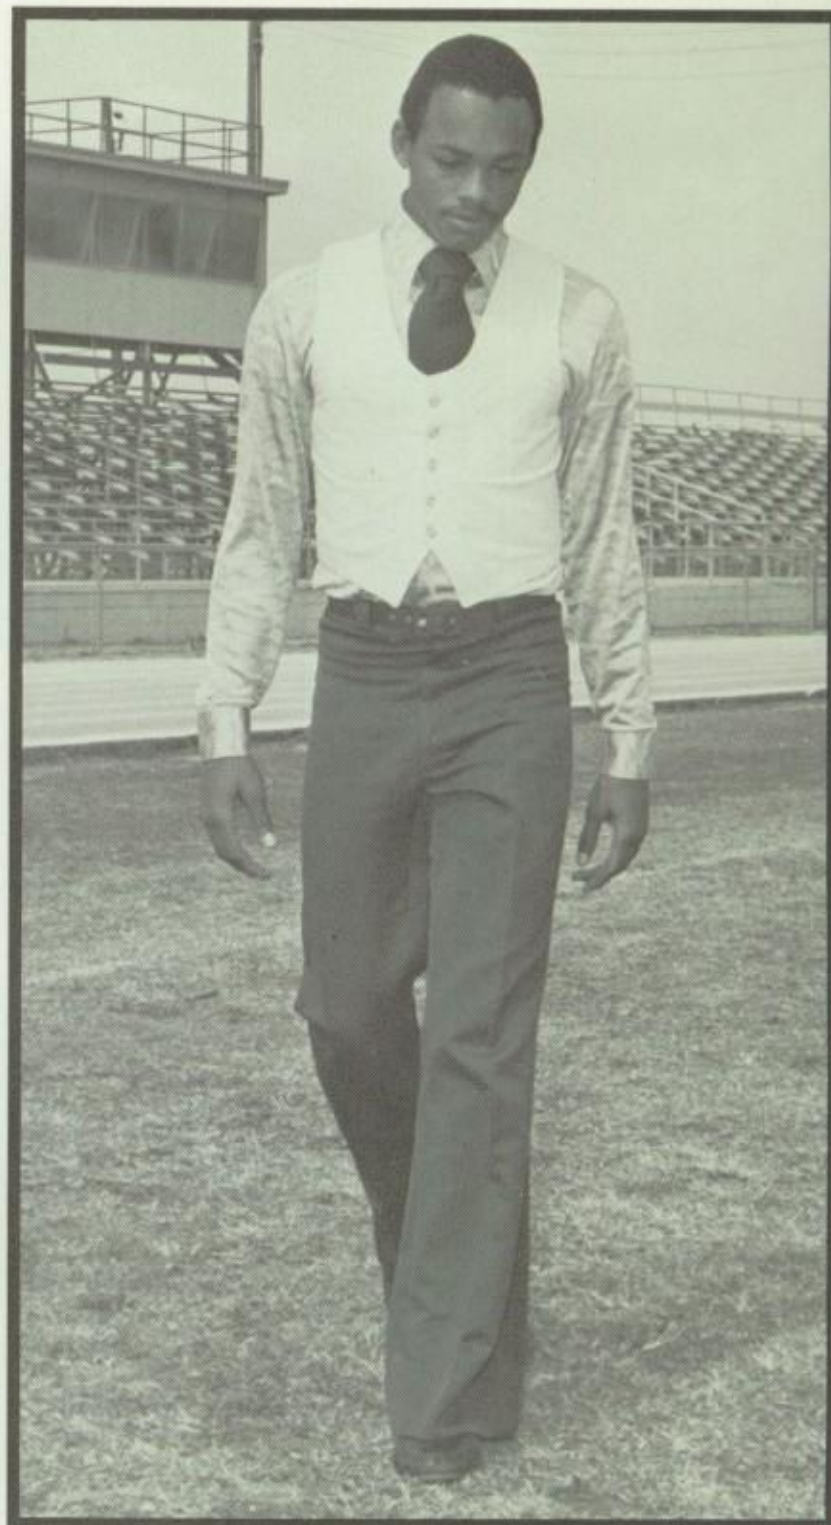

"All I can suggest to under-classmen is for them to endeavor to achieve and they'll go far. For too long, too few people have actually cared enough to get involved in their school and that same apathy is transferred into society and soon, nobody cares about anyone or anything."

One of her many jobs as Vice-President of the N.H.S. included taking charge of the induction of new members. ROCKI COLLINS managed the event with little trouble, and the new members joined the club in February.

An excellent writer, Rocki received school recognition when one of her works went to national competition for the NCTE. She also wrote editorials for the school newspaper and edited the paper as well.

"I'm going to miss the close relationships that I have developed with my teachers, and the unique, carefree existence of being a senior. At the same time I'm looking forward to conquering my 'unchartered horizons'."

Although quite a contrasting combination, Spencer Barnes participated in both football and chorus. While Spencer gained yardage as a receiver for the Trojan football team, he sang in the Trojan Jazz Ensemble. Because of his outstanding ability in physical and vocal performances Spencer denotes a well rounded individual.

"High school was a chance for me to expand and explore many of the different areas I was interested in. In college, you have to commit yourself and concentrate on what you will probably do for the rest of your life."

After twelve years of hard work, THERESA SCHILLING'S studies finally paid off. Theresa ranked at the top of her class and still managed to involve herself in several clubs. She actively participated in both the National Honor Society and the Math Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta.

"I'll always remember my senior year, my teachers, and the N.H.S. float."

Never at a loss for words, National Forensics League President ZEDDIE EVANS managed to express himself in a very different manner. Initially, Zed joined the newspaper staff as an editorialist, however, his talents soon spread to such an extent that he transferred to advertising and used his easy speaking ability to convince area merchants to advertise in the Trojan Tribune.

Even though he often accompanied the Forensics group to out-of-county meets, Zeddied's grades never suffered, and he participated in various events sponsored by the National Honor Society.

In his spare time, Zeddied worked with his father on construction sites, experimented in disco dancing, and played backgammon.

"Of all the experiences I've had at Evans, I'll remember the 'in-between-times' I shared with people at speech tournaments, at club conventions, and in everyday life."

Enjoy your Trojan heritage. Never let the FEVER die.

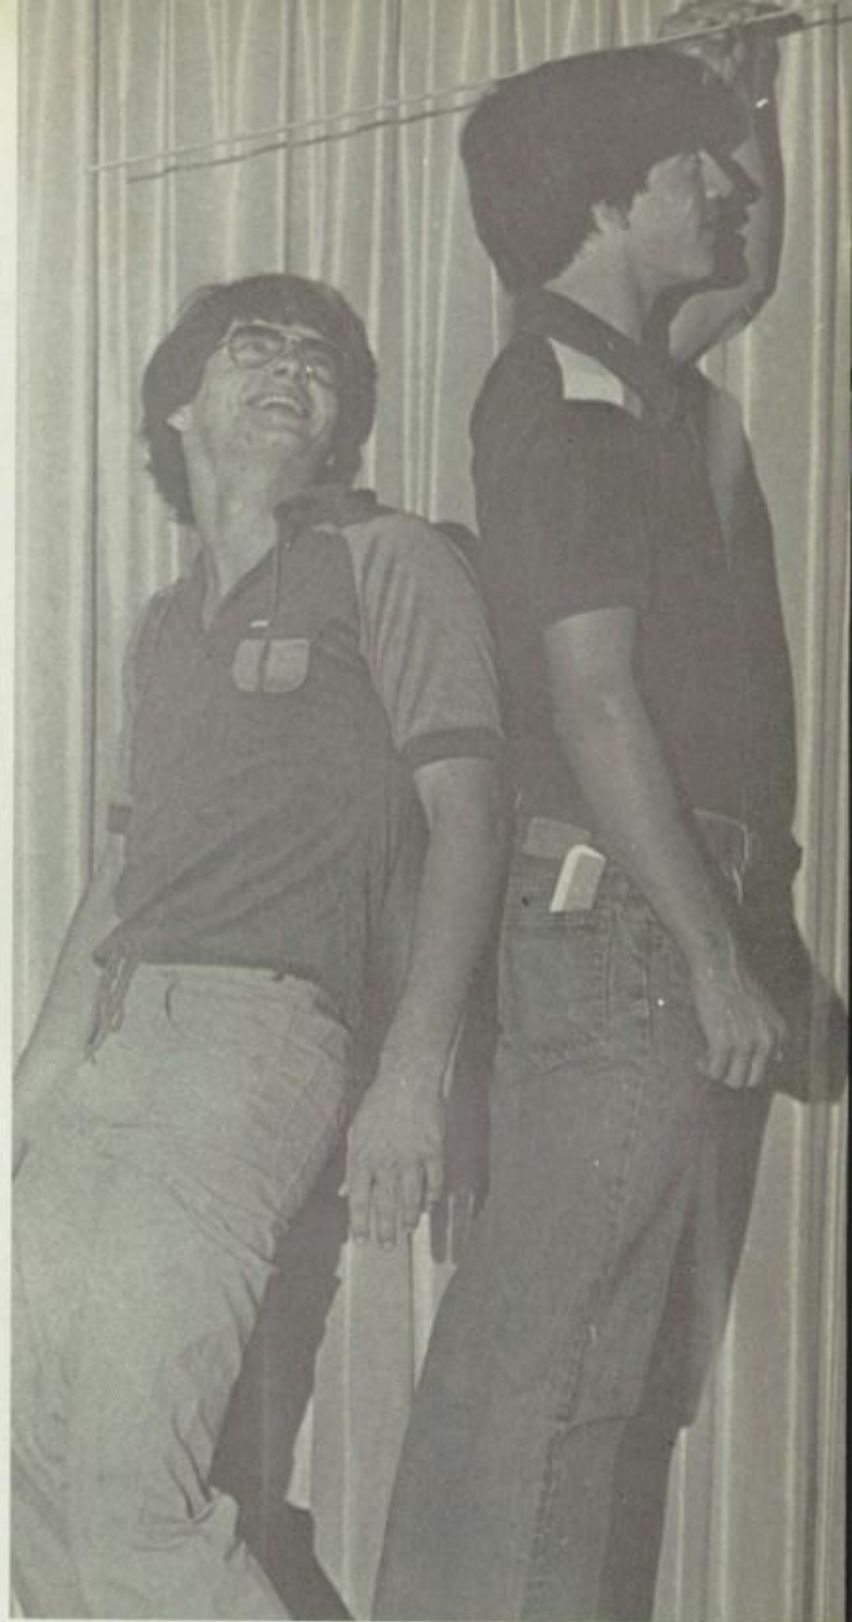

In this day and age, apathy runs rampant and real caring has drifted into near oblivion. Yet Trojans still express their love and concern for one another. A kind word of encouragement or a gift of appreciation proves that caring has not died, but only needs reviving.

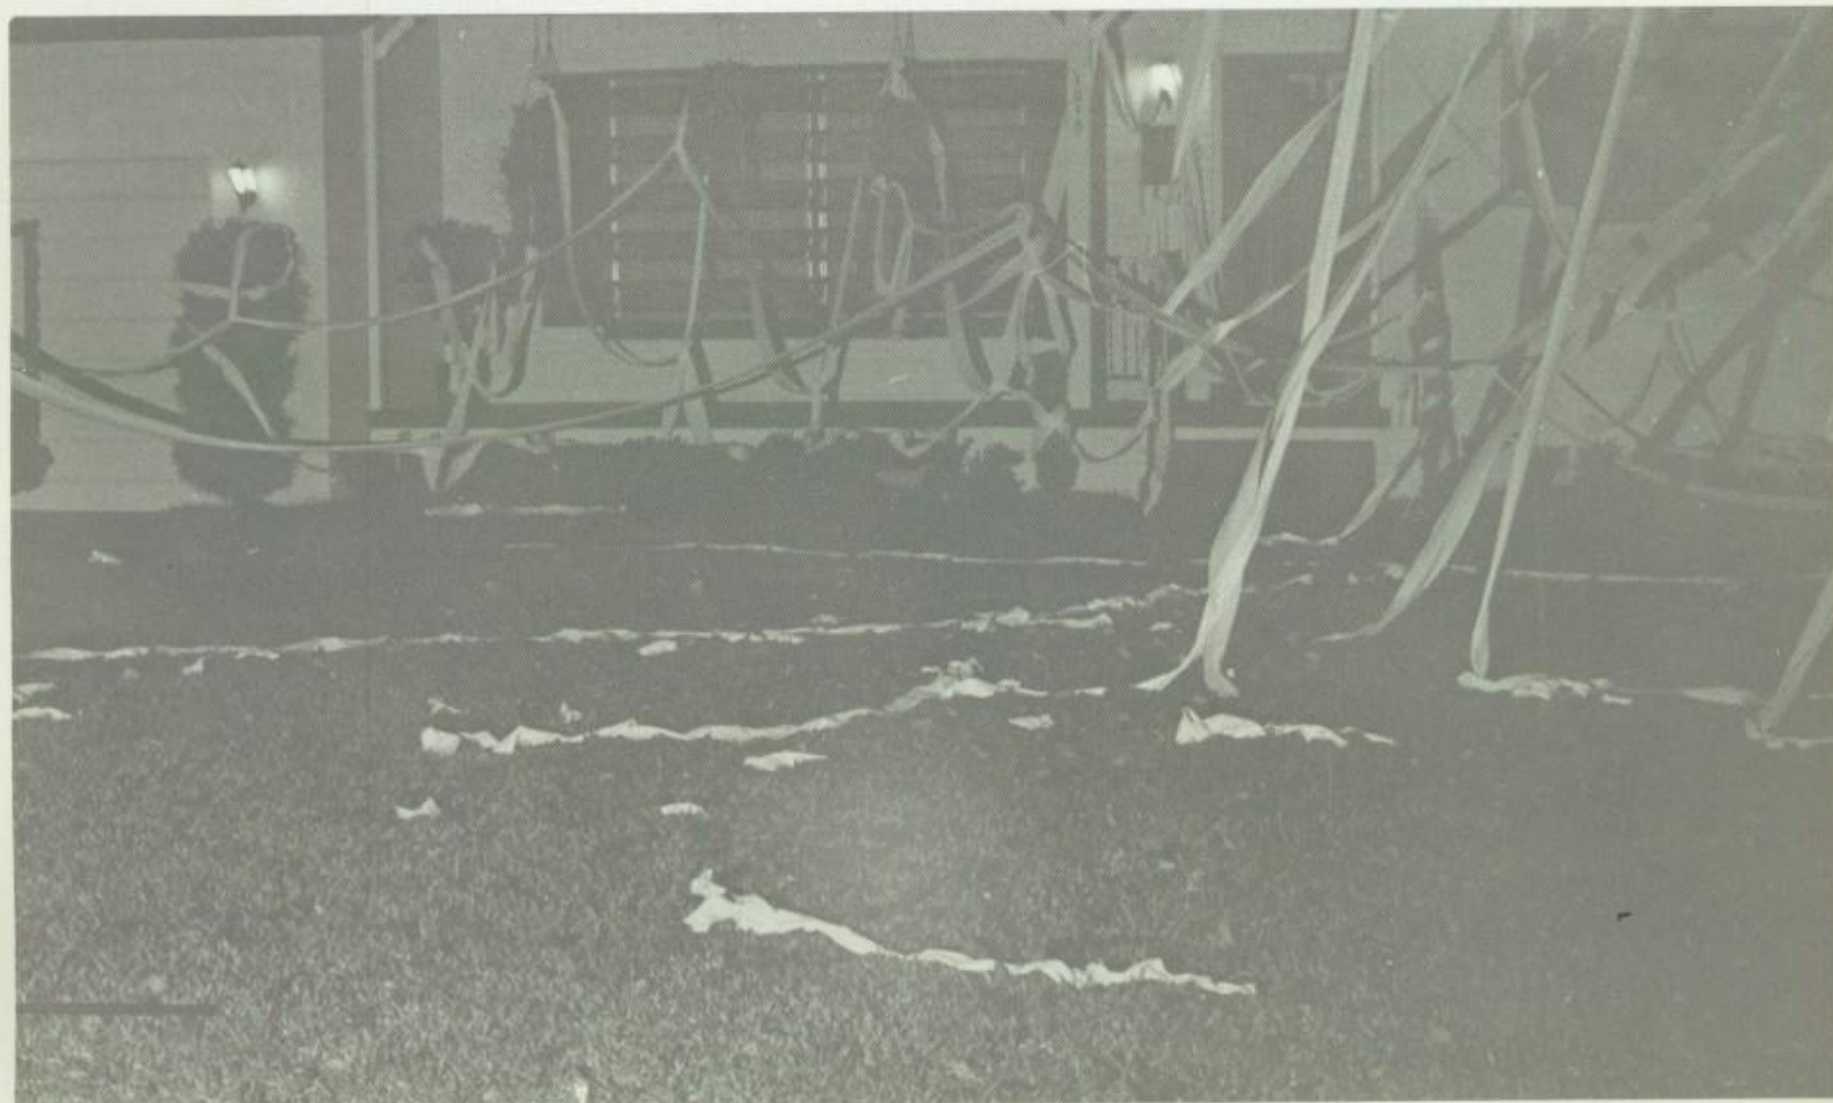

Our many expressions depict our feelings. Looks of excitement or boredom, happiness or sadness, surprise or anticipation, express emotion even better than words. A friendly, glowing smile can warm the heart of a stranger, while a look of sorrow evokes sympathy. Expressions, as personal as names, capture the individual personalities of all.

As darkness creeps across the sky, Trojan fever rises in anticipation of the coming events. Concealed by the shadow of darkness, pranksters steal through the night. Those more industrious Trojans spend long hours at work or study. The sun never sets on Trojan activity.

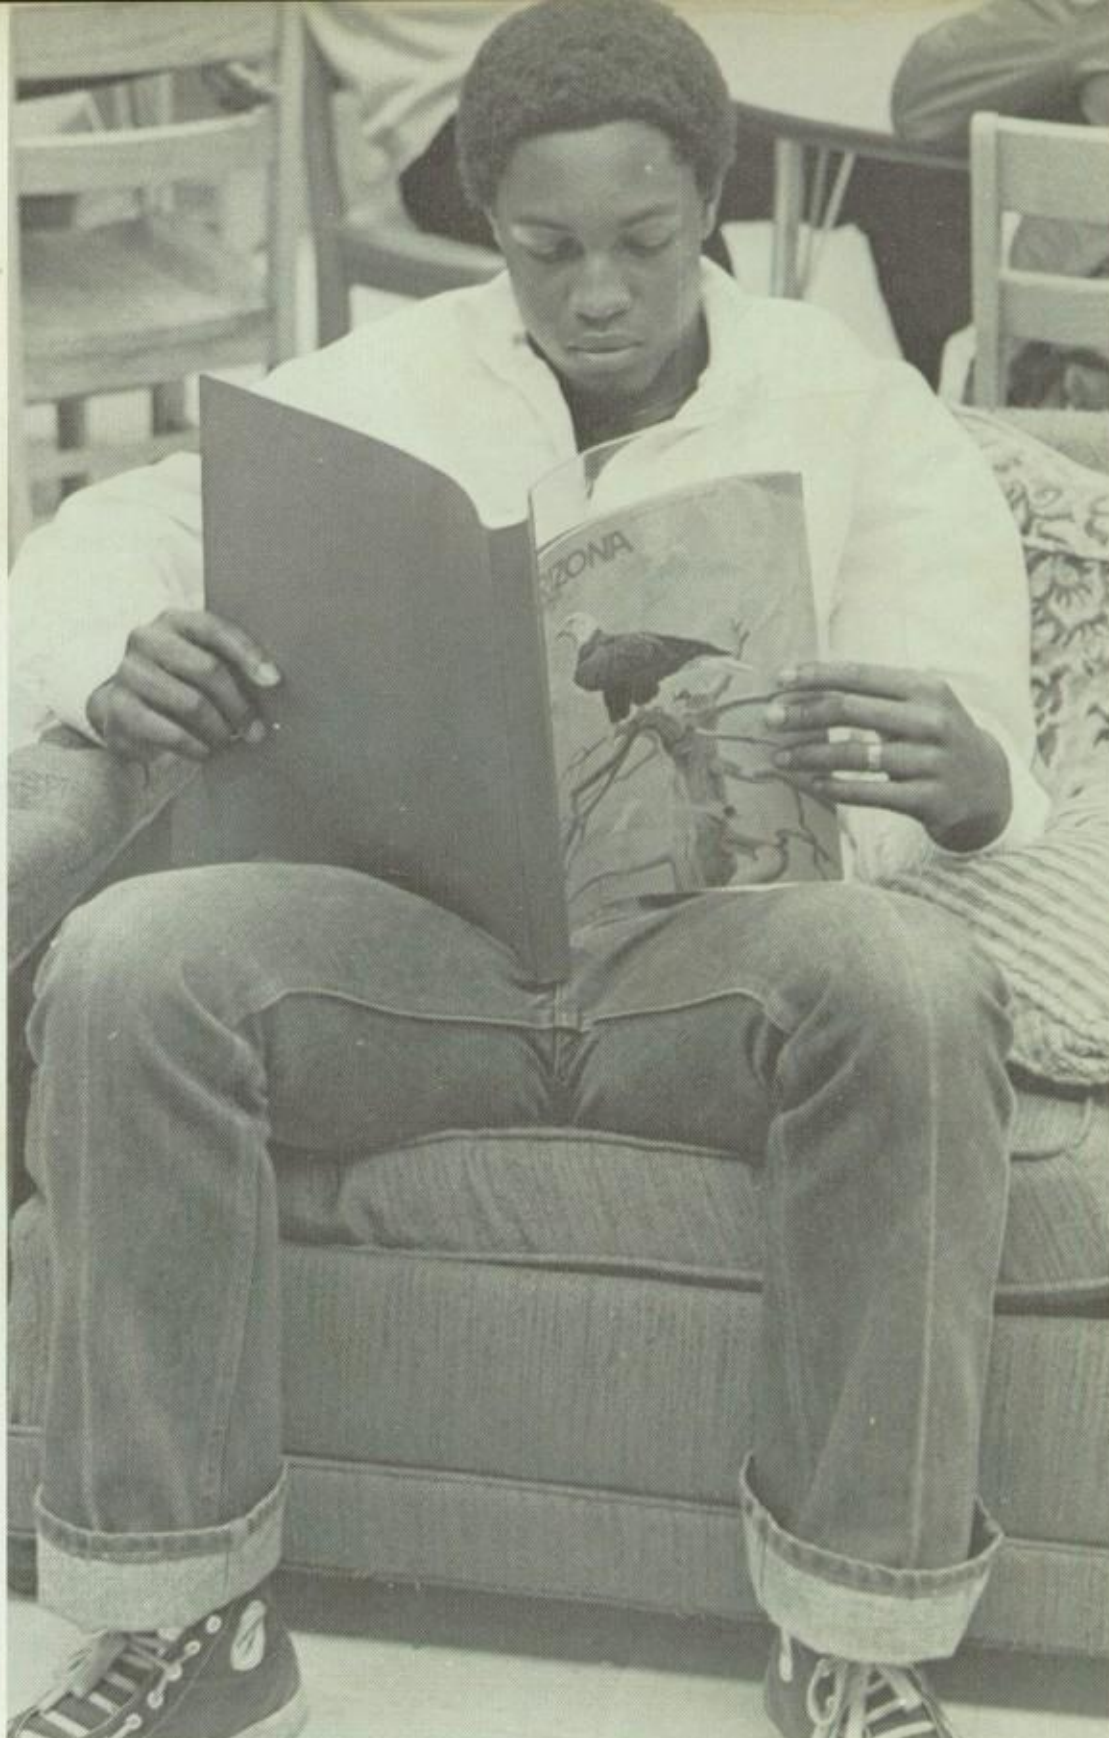

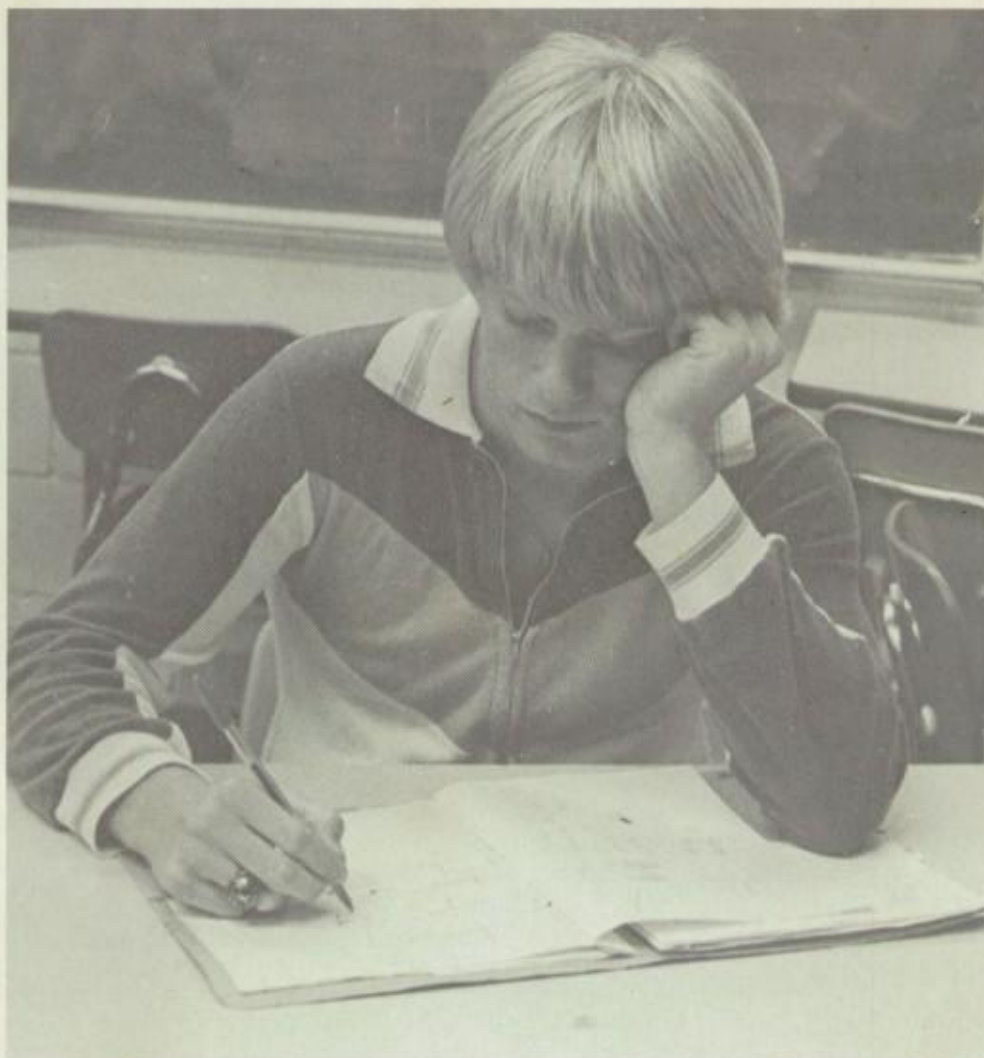

As reality gives way to memory and clarity clouds to vagueness, we have only illusions to recall times spent together. The past condenses to a few select flashbacks stored in the deep recesses of our minds.

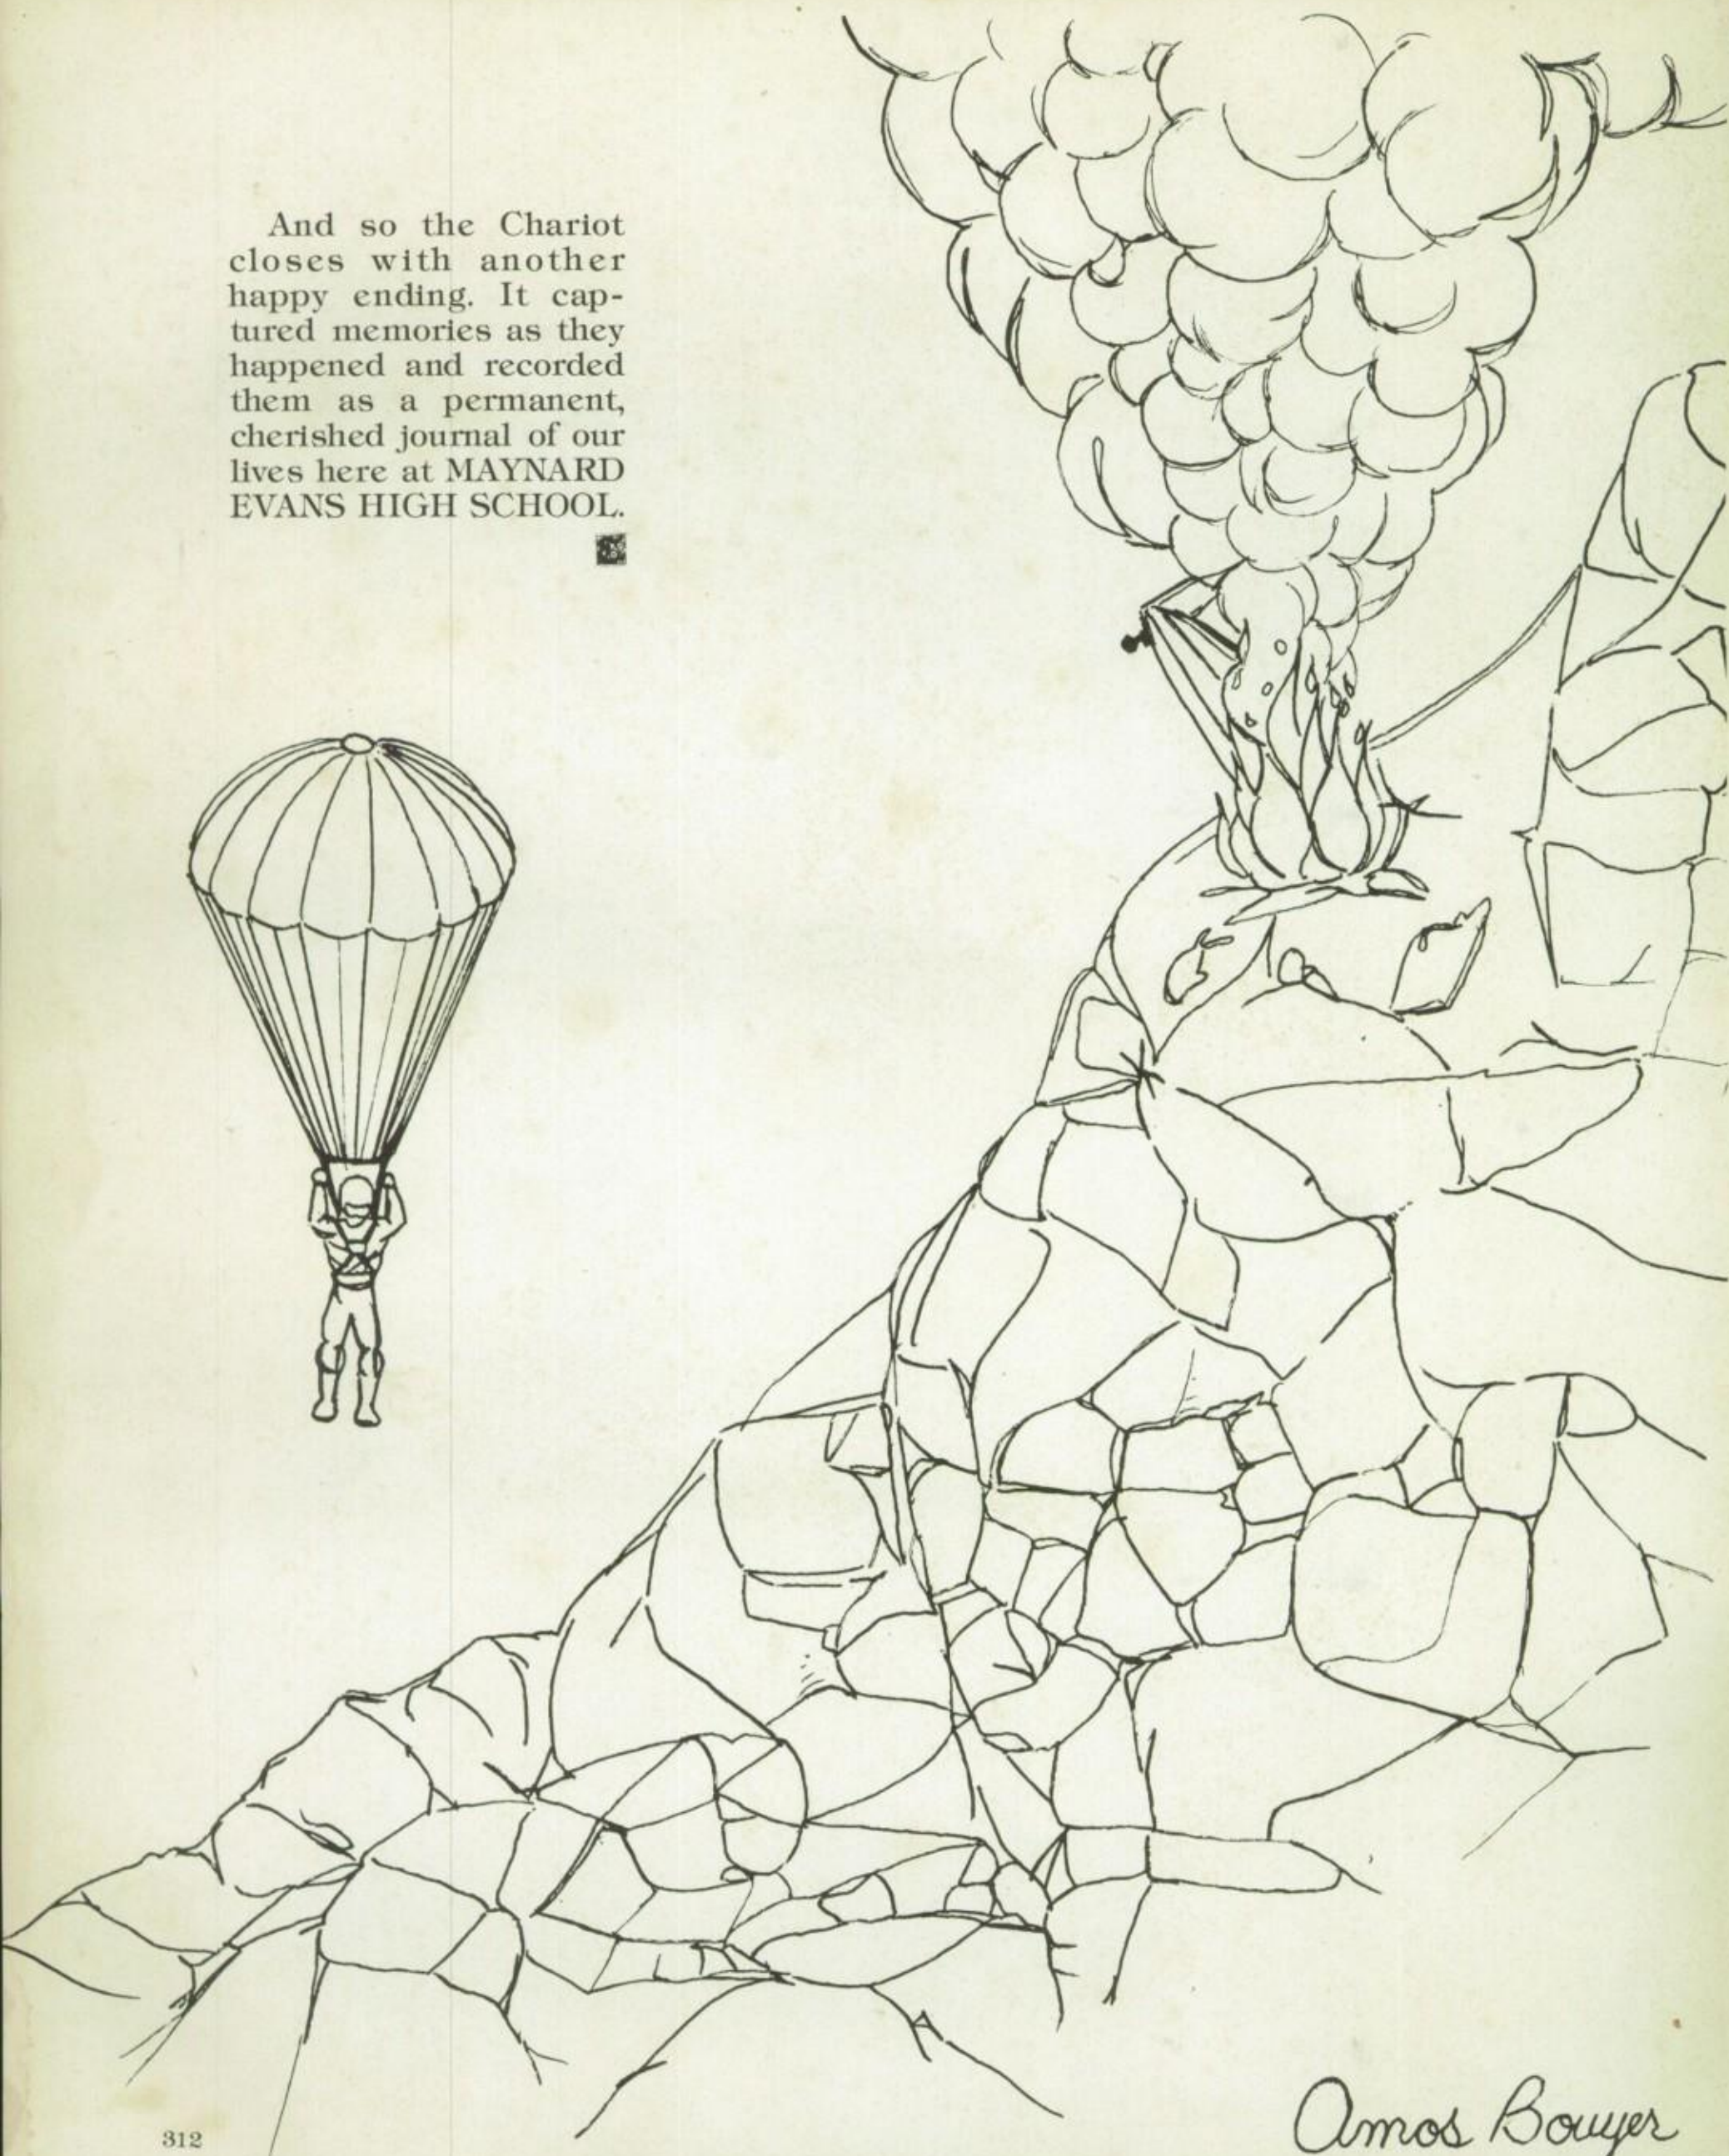

Into the hustle and bustle of the everyday world comes a time we must get away and relax. We spend our quiet times creating, dreaming, and taking long walks. These times allow us to better understand ourselves and the world in which we live.

And so the Chariot
closes with another happy ending. It captured memories as they happened and recorded
them as a permanent,
cherished journal of our lives here at MAYNARD
EVANS HIGH SCHOOL.

Amos Bouyer
